Anticipate Crowd at City Hall

Charter Meeting In Courtroom 7:30

Chairman Robert E. Davis of the City Charter Revision Commission, said a large attendance was expected for the first of two hearings on the proposed new charter tonight in City Hall.

He told the Freeman today that the commission wished to "Emphasize that these public hearings are for the purpose of discussing and gathering opinions, and to listen to the judgement of the public on questions involved in the Charter Revision. We hope that we will be able to hear from interested citizens."

Comments Welcome

Davis said the committee will welcome constructive comments and that the revisions "are still open to change." He said that if any changes are made, they will be incorporated on the revision to be submitted by August 1 to the city clerk in anticipation of being placed on the ballot for the November elections. He said that once the current proposed or revision is completed, includinng any possible changes subsequent to the current public hearings, there will be no more hearings before it is filed with the city clerk.

The hearings were called in order to give the public ample opportunity to study the proposed Charter and to ask questions of the Charter Revision Commission.

Rec Center Thursday

Tonight's hearing is scheduled for 7:30 in city court at City Hall. Thursday's hearing is scheduled for the some time at the City Recreation Center, 97 Broadway.

There are several major changes in the revised Charter which would have a marked effect on the present administrative and legislation structure. Under some of these changes:

Seven councilmen would be elected on a citywide ballot instead of the present 13, representing each of the 13 wards.

Aldermen would be elected to four-year terms instead of the present two-year terms. The Charter, however, preserves the right of the people to change the political makeup of the legislative body every two years.

Councilmen would serve without pay as a public service instead of receiving pay of $1,000

Police Seek Cause Of Woman's Death

Investigation continued yesterday in an effort to determine how Harriet Towers Straitt, 21, of 9 Carter Street, Newburgh, met her death. The investigation is being conducted by Captain George Infante, Lt. Supervisor Robert Sweeney and a detail of Orange County troopers. Cause of death has not been established.

The nude body of the 21-year-old girl was found Saturday about 6:50 p. m. in the woods adjacent to the West Shore Railroad tracks south of Marlboro near the Ulster-Orange County line by a girl who was picnicking with her parents.

Dental Charts Used

Local state police were notified and Investigator Edward Shannon was sent to the scene with other troopers. Later the investigation was transferred to the State Police in Newburgh.

Identification was made from dental charts.

Newburgh state police today said the investigation was being continued and friends and neighbors had been interviewed Monday in an effort to ascertain any information as to her activities just prior to June 19 when she disappeared.

Officers Suspicious

The death was reported by the investigating officers as "suspicious."

Coroner William S. Keyser of Kingston, who ordered an autopsy, is withholding a verdict pending the outcome of state laboratory reports which may take as much as a week to procure.

Leggs Mills Span Closed to Start Remodeling Work

The Leggs Mills Bridge over Esopus Creek at Lake Katrine has been closed to traffic during a reconstruction and strengthening program. How long the bridge will remain closed depends upon the speed with which the contractor carries on the work. It is estimated the bridge will be closed between one and two months.

Meanwhile detours have been posted by the County Highway Department. Available bridge crossings are over the "PVI bridge" between Glenerie and Saugerties on the north, or over the new Route 209 bridge north of Kingston to the Sawkill Road and north by way of the King's Highway.

Barricades were erected at the bridge Monday and work was commenced today by county

Democrats Say Study Is Fixed

Zaretzki, Travia Criticize Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two top state Democrats have accused Gov. Rockefeller of naming a "loaded partisan" committee to study the ticklish problem of legislative reapportionment.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's minority leaders, said Monday they were "sorely disappointed" in the appointments.

"We are skeptical of the results to flow from this committee," the legislators declared in a joint statement.

Partisan, They Say

Travia and Zarezki said they were especiallly concerned over the appointment to the committee of George M. Shapiro, who was counsel to former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. They described Shapiro as "ruthlessly partisan" and predicted "the product of the committee will bear his imprint most heavily."

Court to Rule

Rockefeller announced his appointments to the seven-man committee Sunday and directed them to proceed quickly to draw up proposals for redistributing seats in the Republican-controlled Legislature.

He named William H. Mulligan, dean of the Fordham University Law School, as chairman.

Rockefellller's request for swift action by the committee underscores last month's U.S. Supreme Court decision that New York's present apportionment formula was unconstitutional. A special federal court in New York City is to rule soon when the reapportionment must be carried out.

The governor is said to be confident that there will be no judicial demand for legislative action on reapportionment before the November elections.

Although Rockefeller described the committee as bipartisan, Zaretzki and Travia noted that there were four Republican members to three Democrats and asserted "there is nothing bi-partisan in that division."

3 U. S. Officers, 16 Vietnamese Killed in Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Three more U.S. Army officers—a major and two captains—and 16 Vietnamese Rangers were killed Monday in a Communist ambush on a highway notorious for such attacks.

A U.S. enlisted man and 21 government troops were wounded in the rain of heavy-weapons fire that the Viet Cong guerrillas poured into the 16-vehicle convoy 45 miles north of Saigon.

Valachi Still In D. C. Jail, Is Keeping Fit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever happened to Joseph Valachi?

The talkative mobster who detailed for the federal government the inner workings of "La Cosa Nostra"—the multimillion-dollar organized crime empire—sits today where he has languished since testifying before a Senate subcommittee last fall—in the District of Columbia jail.

The government has no plans to move him, although a Justice Department official acknowledged that Valachi's storehouse of crime information has been pretty well milked dry.

In Top Condition

At 61, Valachi was described by an official who knows him as "in top condition—down to his old fighting weight." In his secluded cell he continues daily calisthenics to keep in shape. He spends much time watching television.

Valachi does not mingle with other prisoners. During the weeks when his name was becoming a household word, the story got out that the underworld was offering $100,000 to anyone who would kill Valachi for breaking the secret oath of La Cosa Nostra.

No Serious Threats

He still gets some mail from strangers, a Justice Department official said. Occasionally there's a "crackpot letter" from someone who views him as a stoolpigeon—but never any serious threats.

An occasional agent wanders over to talk to him, and sometimes law enforcement officers from around the country drop in to see if he can shed new light on their local problems.

Say Mikoyan Will Be Soviet President

CAIRO (AP)—Leonid Brezhnev will be replaced as president of the Soviet Union in a few days by First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, an informant with excellent contacts in the Soviet Union reported today.

The source, who refused to be quoted by name, said Brezhnev would remain a member of the Soviet Communist party's 12-man ruling Presidium.

Will Signal Shakeup

The elevation of oldtime Communist Mikoyan will be announced at the current session of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet parliament—which began Monday, the source said.

He added that Brezhnev's replacement will begin a shakeup which will continue through the fall and which will include the promotion of Alexei Adzhubei, Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, to be foreign minister.

Adzhubei is editor of Izvestia, the government newspaper, but has conferred with leaders of many of the world's governments during travels abroad. Veteran diplomat Andrei Gromyko is foreign minister.

In Moscow, rumors of an impending government reshuffle circulated Monday night among resident Western diplomats and correspondents. Neither confirmation nor denial of the reports were forthcoming from Soviet sources.

Power Struggle Takes Shape

The source here said Mikoyan, a contemporary of Premier Khrushchev, 70, may owe his promotion to his age—68—and to his attitude toward the Chinese Communist party.

In a power struggle now beginning to shape up beneath the aging Khrushchev, the source said, Mikoyan arouses fewer jealousies because of his age and the consequent unlikely possibility he would take over the government on Khrushchev's departure.

Mikoyan has been reported wishing to avoid an open break with the Chinese party—which Khrushchev appears to have been heading for recently—and should any Soviet leader make a last-ditch attempt to smooth over the dispute with Peking,

To Air Landfill Proposal in 5th Ward on Thursday

The proposed establishment of a new city landfill area in the Fifth Ward will be the principal topic of discussion at a public meeting scheduled Thursday 7:30 p. m. at St. Mary's Hall, North Street.

The meeting is sponsored by the Fifth Ward Community Association.

Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, retired principal of School No. 4, who serves as association president said the public is invited and they will discuss "the proposed dumping of refuse by the city in the area near Kingston Point Park."

Fifth Ward Alderman Anthony J. Alecca, who voiced his objections to the location last Thursday, identified the site "as a swamp area between a Standard Oil tank and the railroad tracks of the old Kingston Point spur."

Mayor John J. Schwenk in a statement Friday confirmed that the city is considering a sanitary land-fill operation on land which will become part of the new John F. Kennedy Park. This would reclaim unsuitable land and turn it into a valuble facility for the people of the entire city," he said.

"This proposed site is not near any residences and the method of refuse disposal does not require any burning," the mayor said.

Surprise Move By Scranton

Maneuver Aimed At Nuclear Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's juggernaut rolled on in high gear today, fueled by an expanding lineup of first-ballot presidential nominating votes as it headed for a Republican convention platform test.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's forces give the withering stop-Goldwater movement a last college try today with presentation of three amendments to the program the Arizona senator has endorsed as satisfactory.

Having failed to shake the Goldwater control of the proceedings, Scranton backers came up with a surprise maneuver. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts revealed they had called on former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to offer their version of a nuclear arms control amendment.

Aimed at Statement

This proposal was aimed at Goldwater's statement that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander should have greater supervision over small tactical nuclear weapons.

It proposed to put the party on record as reaffirming "the historical constitutional precept of civilian control over the military." It went on to say that authority to use America's nuclear weapons belongs only to the President of the United States."

An agreement was reached by convention officials to spend an hour on this and a proposed change in the civil rights plank approved by the Goldwater-dominated platform committee.

Scott Not Impressed

But Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a Scranton backer, thought so little of the prospects of success that he asked for only 10 minutes to offer a proposal to denounce "extremists."

The expected platform battle seemed likely to provide about the last gasp of the Scranton effort to head off Goldwater. The Arizona senator claimed 800 votes for a first-balllot nomination Wednesday. He needs only 655.

The latest Associated Press compilation credits him with 781, if they stick with him, including 42 he gobbled up Monday when Ohio delegates were

Dem Senate Race Still Wide Open, Wagner's Belief

Wagner conferred here Monday night with Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon and 28 of the party's county chairmen. He flew here from New York without announcing his plans for the conference.

He told newsmen the meeting had focused on the state and national elections in November and his possible candidacy as a Democratic running mate for President Johnson.

He added quickly that he had not come here to seek backing for the vice presidential nomination. And he repeated that he was not interested in becoming a candidate for the nomination for the Senate to face incumbent Republican Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester.

The names of "various candidates, both declared and mentioned" for the Senate were discussed, Wagner said, and added:

"I'm for the best possible candidate."

Wagner said he had noted strong sentiment among the county chairmen for Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam, said by his backers to have the support of 31 counties. The counties claimed for Stratton will

$70 Million Is Seen as Cost of Jobless Tax Hike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A proposed increase in the tax base for New York State's unemployment insurance system would cost employers more than $70 million next year, a spokesman for business said today.

Paul P. Henkel of New York City, representing the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, vigorously opposed the idea in remarks prepared for a public hearing called by the Joint Legislative Committee on Unemployment Insurance.

Employers now pay a tax on the first $3,000 of each employe's annual earnings to support the present program, which pays up to $50 a week to a worker who loses his job through no fault of his own.

The committee is seeking opinion on whether the base should be broadened to $3,600.

Among those advocating a higher base is the State AFL-CIO, which contends that more money should be pumped into the Unemployment Insurance Fund. The labor group also wants a relaxation of qualifications for drawing benefits and an increase in the maximum benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks.

Henkel declared the chamber was "unalterably" opposed to increasing the tax base because, he said, the fund now has reserves of more than $1 billion and "is among the most solvent in the country."

Bombs, Torches Feed Race Discord Over Seven Years

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Bombs and torches have intermittently fed racial discord in the South during seven years of gradual and often grudging change in segregation patterns.

The targets have been houses of worship — churches, synagogues, temples—the homes of ministers, of integration leaders, and schools and businesses.

From early 1957 when blasts went off at four Negro churches and two ministers' homes in Montgomery, Ala., until September 1963, there were no bomb or fire fatalities.

The worst of the violence came last Sept. 15 in Birmingham, Ala. A stunning explosion blew a big hole in the 16th Street Baptist Church during Sunday school, killing four Negro girls and injuring a score of other persons.

Fires and bombings had dwindled again until the burning or attempted burning of eight Negro churches during the past month in rural areas of Mississippi.

Fires destroyed two rural churches near Kingston, Miss., only Monday. It was a church burning at Philadelphia, Miss., earlier that figured in the disappearance of three civil-rights workers on their way to visit the scene of the blaze.

The predawn bombings in Montgomery came after city buses had been desegregated under a court ruling and followed a year-long bus boycott by Negroes.

Georgia was shaken by more bombs in 1961, eight within the first six months.

Then, in 1962, south Georgia became the scene of violence. Within the next two weeks fire leveled four Negro churches in

Bombs, Torches Feed Race Discord Over Seven Years

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Bombs and torches have intermittently fed racial discord in the South during seven years of gradual and often grudging change in segregation patterns.

The targets have been houses of worship — churches, synagogues, temples—the homes of ministers, of integration leaders, and schools and businesses.

From early 1957 when blasts went off at four Negro churches and two ministers' homes in Montgomery, Ala., until September 1963, there were no bomb or fire fatalities.

The worst of the violence came last Sept. 15 in Birmingham, Ala. A stunning explosion blew a big hole in the 16th Street Baptist Church during Sunday school, killing four Negro girls and injuring a score of other persons.

Fires and bombings had dwindled again until the burning or attempted burning of eight Negro churches during the past month in rural areas of Mississippi.

Fires destroyed two rural churches near Kingston, Miss., only Monday. It was a church burning at Philadelphia, Miss., earlier that figured in the disappearance of three civil-rights workers on their way to visit the scene of the blaze.

The predawn bombings in Montgomery came after city buses had been desegregated under a court ruling and followed a year-long bus boycott by Negroes.

Georgia was shaken by more bombs in 1961, eight within the first six months.

Then, in 1962, south Georgia became the scene of violence. Within the next two weeks fire leveled four Negro churches in

Soviet Farmers Finally Get Old Age Pensions

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev today announced old age pensions for collective farmers and pay raises for doctors, teachers and employes in housing and service industries.

Khrushchev said the farmers pension measure, affecting about 6.5 million peasants, was of "'tremendous historical importance." Most of them have been outside the pension system.

In a speech at the opening of the summer session of the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, Khrushchev said the agricultural position had improved so that farmers can now be brought under the system.

The pension plan described by Khrushchev envisions minimum monthly payments of $13.20 and a maximum of $112.20 beginning next year.

Hitched to Wage Levels

The payments, however, were tightly hitched to wage levels reached before retirement age 65 for men and 60 for women.

"Let every person know that if he works well today, he will be better provided for in his old age," Khrushchev said.

"Such an approach is in the interests of the collective farmers and in the interests of the entire Soviet society."

Khrushchev announced average wage increases of 25 per cent for workers in education, 23 per cent in public health, 25 per cent in retail trade and 15 per cent in retailing and housing and municipal services.

The increases will begin with public service workers in October and all will be in effect in all categories by the end of 1965, said Tass, the Soviet news agency.

Cites Rising Incomes

Khrushchev declared real income of the Soviet people has risen 61 per cent in the past decade. But he said not enough is being done to satisfy public demand for consumer goods. He called for greater efforts to increase production of such goods.

Khrushchev said that improving the living standards of the people is the most important problem for the Soviet Union.

The premier reported that half of the Soviet working people have high school education or bettter. More than 30 per cent of the national income is spent on education, he said.

Although 12 million tons of grain were purchased abroad he said, this was only testimony to the strength of the economy. Measures are being taken to increase agricultural production, he said.

New Books Added To City Library

Recent acquisitions by the Kingston City Library include much new non-fiction.

But Will It Sell, by Marya Mannes, is an examination of commerce, art, communication and crime, always amusing, but often devastating.

Shakespeare in His Age, by F. E. Halliday, attempts to account for and describe the England into which Shakespeare was born, his political and cultural heritage.

The Seven Days; the Emergence of Lee, by Clifford Dowdey, describes the battle which ended McCellan's campaign and brought about the emergence of Robert E. Lee, Johnston, Longstreet, and Jackson.

Fitness for the Whole Family, by Paul Dudley White, is a book for young families and for families that want to stay young. It tells how to keep fit and enjoy doing it.

Life Without Father, by A. W. Herbst, is a guide for widows, but it is equally valuable for every woman and for widowers. It explains in simple language what to do if you inherit a business, insurance problems, how to avoid swindlers, etc.

A New Soviet Heartland?, by David Hooson, describes a zone stretching from the middle reaches of the Volga to Lake Baykal which appears to contain most of the accessible reserves of the energy and raw materials upon which the growth of the Soviets depends. This area abuts on China, and the author discusses the implications.

Fell's Official Guide to Prize Contests and How to Win Them, by Allen Glasser, is an aid to anyone who has ever tried to write a jingle or end a limerick.

Creating Fiction From Experience, by Peggy Curry, tries a new approach to writing fiction: finding something meaningful to say before turning to methods of expression.

Other new books include:

Mountain Doctor, by LeGette Blythe, which is a biography of Gaine Camson, M.D., who has put the philosphy of Albert Schweitzer to work in the remote regions of North Carolina.

Miss Leonora, When Last Seen, by Peter Taylor, is an anthology of short stories containing a mixture of humor, wonder and shudders.

These and many more are available now at the Kingston City Library. Hours are 10:30 to 8:30, Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5, Saturday.

'Clean Water Week'

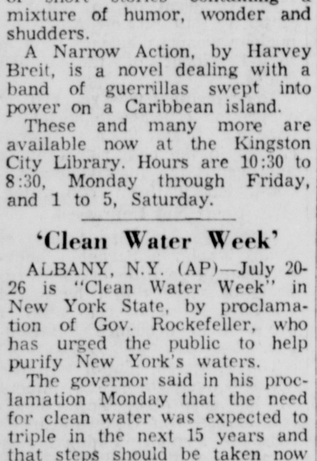

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—July 20-26 is "Clean Water Week" in New York State, by proclamation of Gov. Rockefeller, who has urged the public to help purify New York's waters.

The governor said in his proclamation Monday that the need for clean water was expected to triple in the next 15 years and that steps should be taken now to protect the supplies.

Meanwhile, the State Health Department announced that it has 30 stations testing water quality and expects to have 71 eventually.

Lake Powell, formed by the 710-foot-high Glen Canyon Dam across the Colorado River, will be the second largest artificial lake in the United States when it is filled. It will cover 254 square miles of Arizona desert. The largest is Lake Mead, downstream on the same river.

Lions Elect International President

Claude M. DeVorss of Wichita, Kansas, was elected President of Lions International at the Association's 47th annual convention in Toronto, Canada, July 8-11. Lions International, with 720,000 members in 124 countries, is the world's largest service club organization.

Lions International is best known for its many youth programs, community service projects, sight conservation activities and aid to the blind. Last year Lions Clubs around the globe completed more than 400,000 individual community projects.

Shokan

SHOKAN — Betty Elefant, former Ashokan girl who now resides in the San Francisco area, recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elefant, and brother, Louis, Ashokan. Also here for a few days were Dr. Jack Elefant, his wife and the couple's three children, Sherrol, Leah and Howard of San Francisco.

Callers at the local museum included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin hardt, Highland. The Eberhardts were well acquainted with Jay Ennist, native of Shokan who previous to his death conducted a hardware store in Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, Arkville, spent a weekend with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Armstrong who have moved from Kingston to a new home in Woodstock.

A surprise dinner party at the home of Edna Longyear was attended by the following friends and relatives of Miss Longyear, most of whom formerly resided in the Shokan area: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Longyear, of Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. Albert J. Didier, Flushing, L. I., the former Lillian Longyear of Shokan; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eckert, Scarsdale; Mr. and Mrs. Alton Eckert, New Fairfield, Conn.; Inez D. Corey, Philadelphia, and her daughter, Ann Corey, Spring Lake, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. George VonderOsten, Shokan.

James Hasenflue, Stone Ridge antiques collector, was in town recently. Also here was Michael Kricheff, Market Street, Poughkeepsie.

Birthdays July 12 include that of Peggy Stevens, younger daughter of William and Alice Greene Stevens.

The Ashokan Country in Days Gone By: June 1939,—Robert Brown and Dick Barrett spent a weekend with Robert's grandmother, Jane Stubley. The young men, students at the engineering school of Cooper Union, came up the Hudson in a canoe, camping out at night and taking four days for the trip to Kingston. Young Brown, a K.H.S. honor student, is supplementing his studies in chemical engineering by working in the paint laboratory of Standard Oil Company Callers in the village included Mrs. Will Longyear, a native of this section who has made her home in Kingston for many years. Her husband travels for L. S. Winne & Co., Wall Street. Mrs. Longyear recently returned from New Jersey where she visited her sister, Mrs. Don Everett, the former Ella Ennist of Shokan. She expects to leave Kingston soon on a trip to Michigan with her niece, Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, and the Rev. Mr. Oudemool.

Will Appeal Two Cases Concerning School Transfers

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has upheld the board of education's right to transfer 12 white children to a predominantly Negro school outside their neighborhood. Last week, another judge from the same court ruled the opposite in a case involving three white children.

The losers in both cases—the parents of 12 white children in Monday's action and the board in the earlier court hassle—have indicated they will appeal.

The cases were the first in which court decisions were made here involving the board's latest school pairing plan to further integration.

Different Schools

Different sets of schools are involved in the two suits. But while last week's decision did not deal with the principle of pairing, Monday's ruling stated specificallly it was not invalid.

The board plans five school pairings under its integration integration program.

The plaintiffs, parents of the 12 white children, told the court their children were being assigned to the predominently Negro school solely because of race. They said the same held true for the Negro pupils ordered transferred to the predominantly white schoool.

Point to Rights

Such transfers, they asserted, violated the children's constitutional and statutory rights.

State Supreme Court Justice Charles Margett ruled Monday that the proposed pairing this September "'is not rendered invalid because it also attempts to correct racial imbalance in the schools."

Five Goldwater Delegates in N. Y. Group Stay Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater comprise a tiny band in the New York State delegation to the Republican national convention, but they are outspoken, enthusiastic and firm.

The five New Yorkers pledged to the Arizona conservative have no sense of isolation as members of a 92-vote delegation in which most members are backing the anti-Goldwater activity of Gov. Rockefeller.

"We know we are in the majority in this convention," said Vincent Leibell of Queens County, New York, Downstate leader of the Goldwater-for-President movement.

The comment was seconded by Vincent Walsh of Nassau County, who said he would back Goldwater firmly regardless of what Rockefeller and the New York State delegation did.

Percy Trimmer of Erie County replied "not a chance" when asked if there were any possibility he would help Rockefeller's effort to keep down Goldwater's first-ballot total.

Walsh, a transportation consultant; Leibell, an attorney, and Trimmer, a bank executive, were elected in the July 2 primary as delegates pledged to Goldwater.

Since then, Reps. Frank Beeker and Steven B. Derounian have pledged their support to the Arizona senator.

Dear Abby . . .

Exceptional—Or Gullible?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know how you feel about women who fall in love with married men, but I am the exception. I have loved a professional man for six years. I work for him. He is married in name only, if you know what I mean. We have never been seen together in public as I wouldn't want to hurt his good name. He has children (three of them) and in nine years, his youngest will be 21. At that time he plans to divorce his wife, leave her comfortably provided for, and marry me. I am not a homewrecker, and have no desire to take a man away from his wife and family. He tells me every time we are together how much he loves and respects me for my patience and fairness. Perhaps this will give other women who share my situation an idea. Sign me—

PATIENT

DEAR PATIENT: Would you like a medal for "patiently" waiting until his children are grown, and his wife is entirely alone before taking him away? I am sure he's delighted with your "patience and fairness." It also means he won't have any static out of you for the next nine years. Get wise!

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When you write someone a letter, do you think that person has the right to send it to someone else? I have a mother-in-law who does this. She has sent ME letters she has received from others, and I know that she has sent MY letters to her friends and relatives. Not that I would ever write anything about anyone that might cause trouble, but it is difficult for me to write her a letter not knowing where it will end up. How can this be handled tactfully? Maybe if you print this, my problem will be solved. She reads your column.

"CHICKEN"

DEAR "CHICKEN:" "Chickens" who object to having their letters sent on to others should say so—or they'll be gone geese.

DEAR ABBY: My husband married a girl when he was very young. Without first getting a divorce he moved to another state and married again. Again without getting a divorce, he married me — telling me only that he had been "married and divorced." When our baby was two years old, he got a summons for non-support from his second wife. I learned then that there had been two marriages and no divorces. He obtained a legal divorce from his second wife (but not from his first). Am I living in sin because of this? I am pregnant again and if my husband doesn't get this thing cleared up, I am going to end up in the nut house. Can you help me?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You need a lawyer to advise you of your rights. If you can't find afford one, go to your LEGAL AID SOCIETY. Your husband is a bigamist and your lawyer had better see him before the DA does.

Four Americans Among 7 Killed In Ottawa Crash

MORRISBURG, Ont. (AP)—Four Americans and an Israeli woman were among seven persons killed Monday when two cars collided in a driving rainstorm on Trans-Ontario Highway 401, 50 miles southeast of Ottawa. Three other persons were injured.

Police tentatively identified the dead in the accident, which occurred on slippery pavement about three miles east of this St. Lawrence Valley community, as:

A Mr. and Mrs. Arnsel and their son Kenneth, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and a 59-year-old woman from Tel Aviv in their car.

Bryce Swerdfeger, 40-year-old gatekeeper at the St. Lawrence Seaway Iroquois lock; his 38-year-old wife, Zena, both of Ingleside, Ont., and a relative, Lulua Mable Burrell, 67, of Huevelton, N.Y. They were in the other car.

Second Victim Dies

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A second man has died as the result of the fiery collision of an automobile and a light truck.

Donald Neal Sr., 43, of Niagara Falls, died in DeGraff Memorial Hospital several hours after the crash Monday. He had suffered burns over 70 per cent of his body when the truck he was driving and the car erupted into flames.

Edward F. Mocny Jr., 32, of Buffalo, driver of the car, died in the crash, in the nearby Town of Wheatfield.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Only one spectator turned up Monday night at a rally by seven candidates for one seat on the City-Parish Council.

After waiting 30 minutes, the candidates called off the rally but none of them lost the support of the solitary spectator. He is ineligible to vote in the July 25 election.

Hand Sewed Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Kruger Daniel's left hand, cut off in a power saw accident, has been sewed back to his wrist. Doctors say it'll be at least a week until they can tell whether the graft will take.

Daniel, 29, was injured Monday at the garment shop where he works.

Performance rates are based on the average price of 15 cents per gallon for No. 2 fuel oil in this area over the past seven years, and at the winter-use low rates of 13.5c per 100 cu. feet of natural gas and 1.9c per KWH of electricity. Relative efficiency of oil and gas heating units is calculated as equal, as reported in Bulletin LR-11 issued in 1962 by the U.S. Public Housing Administration. An efficiency of 100% was used for electricity, since almost all of the electrical energy is converted to heat.

Assuming these factors to be equal — the average out-of-doors temperature, the type of insulation and building construction, the size and location of the home, the area to be heated, and the comfort demands of the occupants—OIL HEAT IS BEST AND COSTS MUCH LESS!

Will Appeal Two Cases Concerning School Transfers

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has upheld the board of education's right to transfer 12 white children to a predominantly Negro school outside their neighborhood. Last week, another judge from the same court ruled the opposite in a case involving three white children.

The losers in both cases—the parents of 12 white children in Monday's action and the board in the earlier court hassle—have indicated they will appeal.

The cases were the first in which court decisions were made here involving the board's latest school pairing plan to further integration.

Different Schools

Different sets of schools are involved in the two suits. But while last week's decision did not deal with the principle of pairing, Monday's ruling stated specificallly it was not invalid.

The board plans five school pairings under its integration integration program.

The plaintiffs, parents of the 12 white children, told the court their children were being assigned to the predominently Negro school solely because of race. They said the same held true for the Negro pupils ordered transferred to the predominantly white schoool.

Point to Rights

Such transfers, they asserted, violated the children's constitutional and statutory rights.

State Supreme Court Justice Charles Margett ruled Monday that the proposed pairing this September "'is not rendered invalid because it also attempts to correct racial imbalance in the schools."

Five Goldwater Delegates in N. Y. Group Stay Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater comprise a tiny band in the New York State delegation to the Republican national convention, but they are outspoken, enthusiastic and firm.

The five New Yorkers pledged to the Arizona conservative have no sense of isolation as members of a 92-vote delegation in which most members are backing the anti-Goldwater activity of Gov. Rockefeller.

"We know we are in the majority in this convention," said Vincent Leibell of Queens County, New York, Downstate leader of the Goldwater-for-President movement.

The comment was seconded by Vincent Walsh of Nassau County, who said he would back Goldwater firmly regardless of what Rockefeller and the New York State delegation did.

Percy Trimmer of Erie County replied "not a chance" when asked if there were any possibility he would help Rockefeller's effort to keep down Goldwater's first-ballot total.

Walsh, a transportation consultant; Leibell, an attorney, and Trimmer, a bank executive, were elected in the July 2 primary as delegates pledged to Goldwater.

Since then, Reps. Frank Beeker and Steven B. Derounian have pledged their support to the Arizona senator.

Dear Abby . . .

Exceptional—Or Gullible?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know how you feel about women who fall in love with married men, but I am the exception. I have loved a professional man for six years. I work for him. He is married in name only, if you know what I mean. We have never been seen together in public as I wouldn't want to hurt his good name. He has children (three of them) and in nine years, his youngest will be 21. At that time he plans to divorce his wife, leave her comfortably provided for, and marry me. I am not a homewrecker, and have no desire to take a man away from his wife and family. He tells me every time we are together how much he loves and respects me for my patience and fairness. Perhaps this will give other women who share my situation an idea. Sign me—

PATIENT

DEAR PATIENT: Would you like a medal for "patiently" waiting until his children are grown, and his wife is entirely alone before taking him away? I am sure he's delighted with your "patience and fairness." It also means he won't have any static out of you for the next nine years. Get wise!

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When you write someone a letter, do you think that person has the right to send it to someone else? I have a mother-in-law who does this. She has sent ME letters she has received from others, and I know that she has sent MY letters to her friends and relatives. Not that I would ever write anything about anyone that might cause trouble, but it is difficult for me to write her a letter not knowing where it will end up. How can this be handled tactfully? Maybe if you print this, my problem will be solved. She reads your column.

"CHICKEN"

DEAR "CHICKEN:" "Chickens" who object to having their letters sent on to others should say so—or they'll be gone geese.

DEAR ABBY: My husband married a girl when he was very young. Without first getting a divorce he moved to another state and married again. Again without getting a divorce, he married me — telling me only that he had been "married and divorced." When our baby was two years old, he got a summons for non-support from his second wife. I learned then that there had been two marriages and no divorces. He obtained a legal divorce from his second wife (but not from his first). Am I living in sin because of this? I am pregnant again and if my husband doesn't get this thing cleared up, I am going to end up in the nut house. Can you help me?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You need a lawyer to advise you of your rights. If you can't find afford one, go to your LEGAL AID SOCIETY. Your husband is a bigamist and your lawyer had better see him before the DA does.

AUTOS AND MORE LAND

Almost anywhere one travels in America today, whether in city or country, the marks of the bulldozer can be seen on the land as more and more stretches of the vast Interstate Highway network come into being, as more and more residential subdivisions spring up on what was yesterday a farm, as more and more decayed city cores are torn down and rebuilt.

To all of us this means progress. The highway system is an urgent necessity if the nation is not to be strangulated by the very motor vehicles that have given us a mobility never before known in history.

The need for new housing and urban redevelopment is equally obvious.

At the same time, there are many who lament the transformation of millions of acres of forest and field into great ribbons of concrete and asphalt.

To some, there seems an actual danger that the entire country will eventually be paved solid with superhighways and city streets.

Now comes a voice crying out of what little wilderness remains in the land to say that this isn't so at all.

According to a study published by the Tax Institute of America, urban areas take up only 1 per cent of our total land area. Even if cities continue to grow at their present rate—absorbing about 400,000 new acres a year—they will still only occupy less than 2 per cent of the land by the year 2010.

As for the automobile, says the study, it and its highways actually use far less space than the horse and mule once did.

Before 1920, for instance, nearly 5 per cent of the total land in the 48 continental states was used merely to produce the feed for this living form of transportation. This amounted to 27 per cent of the total harvested land.

The switch from animals to automobiles has meant an actual gain in land, for by 1957 only 2.4 per cent of harvested land was devoted to raising feed for horses and mules.

Even though some of this "released" land is being surfaced over, "the motor car is still utilizing far less acreage than was needed for its four-legged predecessor," says the report.

Moreover, the Tax Institute claims, there is a lot of vacant land in urban areas and it is not as high-priced as is generally believed. It ranges from 12 per cent in New York and Chicago to as much as 36 per cent in some smaller cities.

Also in the cities, the institute's analysis finds, the automobile is shrinking the space requirements of streets once trod by horses. Modern subdivisions and rebuilt areas, specifically designed for automobile travel, devote no more than 20 per cent of the total land to traffic needs, including both streets and arterial freeways.

It is the automobile that has made possible the fantastic spreading of our cities by providing both a great part of the economic basis for a large population and the means for it to get from place to place.

It is encouraging to be told that the automobile is also providing the means for the intelligent use and conservation of the land we hold in trust for future generations.

THE STEP-SAVERS

A friend of ours had occasion to be riding with a woman who wanted to stop and exchange an item of merchandise at a certain store. The problem was to find a parking spot. Apparently, it soon developed, the idea was to find one smack at the store's front entrance if possible.

The woman eyed a vacancy about half a block from the store, but passed it by. Three times she circled the block, each time passing the open spot. On the fourth round trip she uttered a cry of delighted triumph; a car was pulling out of a spot closer to the store's entrance.

While the woman was inside, our friend paced off the walking distance she had saved by her waiting game: about 40 steps. All of which illustrates the point that most drivers seem ready to go to almost any trouble—while at the wheel—to avoid walking a few steps.

We are not going to issue a broad editorial denunciation of this lazy practice. That would seem a bit silly. But then, driving around the block three times to save 40 steps seems a bit silly, too.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WHEN THE CONVENTIONS ARE OVER

SAN FRANCISCO—The people at this convention who think they know how the balloting will go are already looking beyond the balloting.

What they see is a tremendous series of question marks that could, if the breaks come, be turned into a Republican victory in November.

A California pro who is candid enough about discussing the possible white "backlash" vote, providing his name be withheld, is quite certain that Lyndon Johnson, though his popularity in the polls is fantastically high, could have the fight of his life on the Pacific Coast.

"In the southern California counties," he says, "there's a lot of re-registering going on. These are Democrats who are crossing over into the Republican Party. What is significant about this is that you don't have to re-register to vote in November. It's just an act of conscious affirmation of purpose.

"And why? It could be the referendum vote on the Rumford Fair Housing Act. This act has made it illegal to refuse selling or renting anybody on grounds of race. A lot of people who are anti-discrimination in most things think a man ought to be able to sell or rent his house any way he pleases. Now, I can't see any Democrat who would go to the polls to protest the housing legislation putting his vote on the line for Lyndon Johnson. It just wouldn't be consistent. And you must remember that a million signatures, Democratic as well as Republican, got the proposition to conduct a referendum on the act accepted."

The chances for a surprise in California are no more tantalizing than the chances for big switches in the eleven states of the South. In some of these states Republicanism has come to stay no matter who the Republican candidate for President may be. In other parts of Dixie the party is a Goldwater party, pure and simple. Everything in lower Dixie could be confused, of course, if Governor Wallace of Alabama insists on going through with his 1964 version of the old Dixiecrat third party strategy. But newly minted Republicans like Charlton Lyon of Shreveport, La., who quit the Democrats back in 1960 and went on to get forty per cent of the state vote for the office of governor on a Republican ticket, is certain that his part of the South will be two-party country no matter what happens in San Francisco. Des Barry of Houston, Texas, another man who got "sick and tired" of being a Democrat in Texas, is equally emphatic. Moreover, he sees redistricting as helping the Republicans in certain crucial areas of Texas.

This matter of redistricting is, of course, two-edged. But the uncertainty that it has caused is taken here as a good Republican harbinger. Mr. Barry may be right about the lift redistricting could give to his chances in Texas' Harris County. However, in other parts of the country, where the effect of redistricting presents an enigmatic face, the Republicans are counting on gaining presidential votes merely because of a general sense of uneasiness created by the probability of future gerrymandering of voting districts under Democratic auspices. After all, the order to redistrict is blamed on an ultra-liberal Supreme Court. It is perfectly true that Chief Justice Earl Warren was an Eisenhower appointee. But the Democratic Party gets the onus for Supreme Court action nonetheless. The reasoning here is that the chief business of the court in recent years has been the validating of New Deal, Fair Deal and generally ultra-liberal legislation.

With redistricting causing psychologial upsets and with housing propositions causing a white backlash even among those who think the Negro should be fully protected in the right to vote and the right to use any public facilities that taxpayers support or have a clear right to regulate, Republicans have caught a promising whiff in the breeze. It may be a delusion fostered by the invigorating ocean winds that drift over this peninsula city from the Pacific. But when the question marks are stacked up they may mean something that the popularity polls don't catch. The question, "Do you prefer Johnson to Goldwater—or to Scranton—or to any other Republican?" gets one answer. But if the questioning were to be reformulated to read, "Do you prefer Johnson's attitude on a fair housing act to you-know-who's?" it might provoke an entirely different response. In the voting booths next fall people will not only be at war over presidential personalities. They will be fighting over ideas and attitudes—and who knows where the pendulum will come to rest?

RNA Lack Plays Important Part in Ability to Recall

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Why is it that I can read an article or listen to a speech and understand it perfectly at the time but later can't remember any of it? Is it lack of attention or do I need some kind of vitamin or mineral?

A—Lack of total concentration and fatigue undoubtedly play a part in some examples of poor recall. It is now believed that ribonuleic acid (RNA) also plays an important part in our memory. This chemical is manufactured by the body, but in elderly persons a deficiency may develop. This, coupled with hardening of the cerebral arteries, would account for the increased trouble older persons have in this respect.

Dr. D. E. Cameron in Montreal has tried giving injections of RNA in the veins of aged patients over a period of two weeks. He found a definite improvement in memory as a result. Giving RNA by mouth also caused some improvement but not as much as when the chemical was injected. This treatment is still considered experimental.

Q—Is trichomoniasis a venereal disease? What can be done for it?

A—Since trichomoniasis is commonly transmitted by sexual contact it is technically a veneral disease, but many persons harbor the germ without showing any symptoms. Furthermore it is not a serious health problem and does not endanger the offspring as in the case with other sexually transmitted infections.

Trichomoniasis is the cause of the white vaginal discharge known as leukorrhea.

This was extremely hard to get rid of until the advent of metronidazole (Flagyl). It is important for both husband and wife to take the drug at the same time if reinfection is to be prevented.

Q—My brother died of a melanoma following removal of a large brown mole from his shoulder. Now his 9-year-old daughter has a similar mole on her shoulder. I have heard that if the mole is removed before she reaches puberty there is no danger. Is this true?

A—It is impossible to predict from the appearance of a brown mole on a child whether it will ever become malignant. Since most of them will not if they are let alone, it is better not to remove them at any age unless there is evidence that they are malignant or they are in a location that is subject to constant irritaion as from a shoulder strap, collar or belt. In any case it is usually better to delay the decision about removing a mole until after puberty.

In an adult a brown mole should be carefully examined by the family doctor at regular intervals of about 12 months.

The News Isn't All Bad

Washington News

By WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In a Washington hotel dining room, waiter Jose Rodriguez asked a little girl what is the largest country in the world. She knitted her prows in puzzelment.

He told her:

"It's Cuba, where I come from. Its capital is in Havana, its government is in Moscow, and its people are in the United States."

THE SITUATION in South Viet Nam is getting more and more confusing to Pentagon officials. Comments one puzzled officer:

"You can get almost any sort of story you want out of South Viet Nam—optimistic or pessimistic—and each one will be true."

JOHN BAILEY, Democratic National Committee chairman, says he wasn't too surprised over the proposal by Sen. Barry Goldwater to defoliate the jungles of Viet Nam with atomic weapons. Notes Bailey:

"Barry loves the desert of his native Arizona. All he wants to do is bring its scenic glories to other parts of the globe."

JUST BEFORE LEAVING for Saigon recently, a State Department diplomat expressed his weariness with overseas inspection trips by Washington brass. Promising to return to Washington every three months to report on the Viet Nam action, he explained.

"I'd rather bring the war to Washington than take Washington out to the war."

A STRAPPING young lifeguard at a Washington area swimming pool reports that a young lad approached him the other day and asked:

"Do you get a commission for every life you save?"

IN THE OFFICE of John Hurley, Washington manager for Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, is a sign designed to bolster the perhaps lagging spirits of the governor's campaign workers:

"Success Comes Only to Those Who Refuse to Admit Defeat."

HENRY CABOT LODGE addressed the National Press Club on his return from Saigon. He denied good-humoredly that he had a habit of taking mid-afternoon siestas during the 1960 campaign, when he ran as Richard Nixon's running mate.

Paul Grindle, one of the prime movers in this year's effort to draft Lodge for the presidential nomination, thinks his man ought to go a bit farther in ridiculing the well-circulated story.

"What we ought to do is bring him out for a speech before a big audience, dressed in a fairly long coat, with a dazzling pair of striped pajamas showing plainly beneath the coat."

The Mature Parent

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

During her vacation, Muriel Lawrence is turning her column over to excerpts from "Neurosis and Human Growth," by Karen Horney, M.D. Copyright, 1950, by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York. Reprinted by permission.)

Summarized, they all boil down to the fact that the people in the environment are too wrapped up in their own neuroses to be able to love the child or even to see him as the particular individual he is. They may be dominating, overprotective, intimidating, hypocritical, overexacting, overindulgent, partial to brothers or sisters, etc.

Whatever their neurosis may be, they render it difficult for the child to arrive at a proper self-evaluation. A blind adoration may inflate his feeling of significance. He may feel wanted, liked, appreciated not for what he is but for satisfying his parents' needs for adoration, prestige or power.

A rigid regime of perfectionist standards may evoke a feeling of inferiority for not measuring up to such demands. Misdemeanors or bad marks at school may be severely reprimanded while good behavior and good marks are taken for granted. Moves toward independence may be ridiculed. All these factors give him a feeling of unworthiness—of being worth nothing unless he is something he is not.

Briefly, he may try to cling to the most powerful person around him: he may try to rebel and fight; he may try to shut others out of his inner life and withdraw emotionally from them.

In a healthy human relationship the moves toward, against or away from others are not mutually exclusive. The ability to want and give affection or to give in; the ability to fight and the ability to keep to oneself—these are complementary capacities necessary for good human relations. But in the child who feels himself isolated and helpless in a world conceived as potentially hostile, these moves become extreme and rigid.

Affection, for instance, becomes clinging; compliance becomes appeasement. Similarly he is driven to rebel or to keep aloof without reference to his real feelings and regardless of the inappropriateness of his attitude in a particular situation.

The three moves toward, against and away from others therefore constitute a conflict—his basic conflict with others. In time he tries to solve it by making one of these moves consistently predominant—by making his prevailing attitude one of compliance or aggressiveness or aloofness.

His inner strength is sapped by his having to be on the defensive, by his inner division, by the way his early "solution" initiated a one-sided development, thereby making large areas of his personality unavailable to him.

Scranton's Bitter Letter Doesn't Bode Well for Party

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

SAN FRANCISCO—This is the convention in which the pot calls the kettle black. Originally the spokesmen of Gov. Scranton accused Sen. Goldwater of accepting the support of "extremist." But now it's the other way around.

For Gov. Scranton has just furnished an example of "extremism" almost unprecedented in the history of party conventions. He wrote a letter that was so bitter and so full of innuendoes that Sen. Goldwater decided not to answer it and actually returned it. But the letter produced a bitterness and resentment in the atmosphere of the convention which doesn't bode well for the party.

Such attacks might have been understandable, politically speaking, if Gov. Scranton were aiming at Democrats, but to distort and misrepresent the other fellow's position in one's own party just isn't political cricket. If anything were calculated to impair Gov. Scranton's future at this or any other convention, it is his mistake in the letter he made public late Sunday night. In some quarters it is believed that the Pennsylvania Governor himself couldn't have written such an intemperate attack on a personal friend and that, in his emotional excitement over events here, he signed something prepared for him by ill-advised advisers.

One by one Gov. Scranton's pieces of strategy are falling down. His demand for certain platform planks has failed. In fact, the Republican platform is far more dynamic and contains a better balanced set of planks than was thought possible a month ago. The platform, which is supported strongly by the Goldwater people, removes many misunderstandings and disposes of mis-representations about the Arizona Senator's real beliefs. Indeed, many Democrats could say the principles are logical and well balanced, but they would differ, as to just how such principles would be implemented and as to the man best qualified to carry them out. Here, for example, are some of the Republican planks on foreign policy:

"A dynamic strategy aimed at victory—pressing always for initiatives for freedom, rejecting always appeasement and withdrawal—reduces the risk of nuclear war. It is a nation's vacillation, not firmness, that tempts an aggressor into war. It is accommodation, not opposition, that encourages a hostile nation to remain hostile and remain aggressive.

"The road to peace is a road not of fawning amiability but of strength and respect. Republicans judge foreign policy by its success in advancing freedom and justice, not by its effect on international prestige polls.

"We are opposed to recognition of Red China. We oppose its admission into the United Nations. We steadfastly support Free China.

"In negotiations with Communists, Republicans will probe tirelessly for reasonable, practicable and trustworthy agreements. However, we will never abandon insistence on advantages for the free world. . . .

"Republicans support the United Nations. However, we will never rest in our efforts to revitalize its original purpose. We will press for a change in the method of voting in the General Assembly and in the specialized agencies that will reflect population disparities aamong the member states, and recognize differing abilities and willingness to meet the obligations of the charter."

There isn't anything in the platform to bear out the "extremist" charges that recently have alleged that Sen. Goldwater is anxious to break up the United Nations or that he wants to start a nuclear war. Small wonder that European papers whose editors have been reading such distortions have been so critical in the pre-convention weeks. But there isn't a single piece of evidence in any of the various platform planks now adopted or rejected which has borne out such "extremist" concepts.

Sen. Goldwater is making substantial progress toward winning the nomination because he is acting in a dignified way and like a political veteran. In desperation, spokesmen for the opposition are behaving impulsively, like juveniles, and are losing ground. It looks now as if the Goldwater nomination will come on the first ballot and that even some of the dissenting delegations will move to make it unanimous.

But, when all is said and done, the Republicans will find that some of the misrepresentations made in their own party fight will have been given credence by many voters and that the task of setting them right will be correspondingly more difficult. It hasn't been a happy convention for the Republican party.

AUTOS AND MORE LAND

Almost anywhere one travels in America today, whether in city or country, the marks of the bulldozer can be seen on the land as more and more stretches of the vast Interstate Highway network come into being, as more and more residential subdivisions spring up on what was yesterday a farm, as more and more decayed city cores are torn down and rebuilt.

To all of us this means progress. The highway system is an urgent necessity if the nation is not to be strangulated by the very motor vehicles that have given us a mobility never before known in history.

The need for new housing and urban redevelopment is equally obvious.

At the same time, there are many who lament the transformation of millions of acres of forest and field into great ribbons of concrete and asphalt.

To some, there seems an actual danger that the entire country will eventually be paved solid with superhighways and city streets.

Now comes a voice crying out of what little wilderness remains in the land to say that this isn't so at all.

According to a study published by the Tax Institute of America, urban areas take up only 1 per cent of our total land area. Even if cities continue to grow at their present rate—absorbing about 400,000 new acres a year—they will still only occupy less than 2 per cent of the land by the year 2010.

As for the automobile, says the study, it and its highways actually use far less space than the horse and mule once did.

Before 1920, for instance, nearly 5 per cent of the total land in the 48 continental states was used merely to produce the feed for this living form of transportation. This amounted to 27 per cent of the total harvested land.

The switch from animals to automobiles has meant an actual gain in land, for by 1957 only 2.4 per cent of harvested land was devoted to raising feed for horses and mules.

Even though some of this "released" land is being surfaced over, "the motor car is still utilizing far less acreage than was needed for its four-legged predecessor," says the report.

Moreover, the Tax Institute claims, there is a lot of vacant land in urban areas and it is not as high-priced as is generally believed. It ranges from 12 per cent in New York and Chicago to as much as 36 per cent in some smaller cities.

Also in the cities, the institute's analysis finds, the automobile is shrinking the space requirements of streets once trod by horses. Modern subdivisions and rebuilt areas, specifically designed for automobile travel, devote no more than 20 per cent of the total land to traffic needs, including both streets and arterial freeways.

It is the automobile that has made possible the fantastic spreading of our cities by providing both a great part of the economic basis for a large population and the means for it to get from place to place.

It is encouraging to be told that the automobile is also providing the means for the intelligent use and conservation of the land we hold in trust for future generations.

THE STEP-SAVERS

A friend of ours had occasion to be riding with a woman who wanted to stop and exchange an item of merchandise at a certain store. The problem was to find a parking spot. Apparently, it soon developed, the idea was to find one smack at the store's front entrance if possible.

The woman eyed a vacancy about half a block from the store, but passed it by. Three times she circled the block, each time passing the open spot. On the fourth round trip she uttered a cry of delighted triumph; a car was pulling out of a spot closer to the store's entrance.

While the woman was inside, our friend paced off the walking distance she had saved by her waiting game: about 40 steps. All of which illustrates the point that most drivers seem ready to go to almost any trouble—while at the wheel—to avoid walking a few steps.

We are not going to issue a broad editorial denunciation of this lazy practice. That would seem a bit silly. But then, driving around the block three times to save 40 steps seems a bit silly, too.

WHEN THE CONVENTIONS ARE OVER

SAN FRANCISCO—The people at this convention who think they know how the balloting will go are already looking beyond the balloting.

What they see is a tremendous series of question marks that could, if the breaks come, be turned into a Republican victory in November.

A California pro who is candid enough about discussing the possible white "backlash" vote, providing his name be withheld, is quite certain that Lyndon Johnson, though his popularity in the polls is fantastically high, could have the fight of his life on the Pacific Coast.

"In the southern California counties," he says, "there's a lot of re-registering going on. These are Democrats who are crossing over into the Republican Party. What is significant about this is that you don't have to re-register to vote in November. It's just an act of conscious affirmation of purpose.

"And why? It could be the referendum vote on the Rumford Fair Housing Act. This act has made it illegal to refuse selling or renting anybody on grounds of race. A lot of people who are anti-discrimination in most things think a man ought to be able to sell or rent his house any way he pleases. Now, I can't see any Democrat who would go to the polls to protest the housing legislation putting his vote on the line for Lyndon Johnson. It just wouldn't be consistent. And you must remember that a million signatures, Democratic as well as Republican, got the proposition to conduct a referendum on the act accepted."

The chances for a surprise in California are no more tantalizing than the chances for big switches in the eleven states of the South. In some of these states Republicanism has come to stay no matter who the Republican candidate for President may be. In other parts of Dixie the party is a Goldwater party, pure and simple. Everything in lower Dixie could be confused, of course, if Governor Wallace of Alabama insists on going through with his 1964 version of the old Dixiecrat third party strategy. But newly minted Republicans like Charlton Lyon of Shreveport, La., who quit the Democrats back in 1960 and went on to get forty per cent of the state vote for the office of governor on a Republican ticket, is certain that his part of the South will be two-party country no matter what happens in San Francisco. Des Barry of Houston, Texas, another man who got "sick and tired" of being a Democrat in Texas, is equally emphatic. Moreover, he sees redistricting as helping the Republicans in certain crucial areas of Texas.

This matter of redistricting is, of course, two-edged. But the uncertainty that it has caused is taken here as a good Republican harbinger. Mr. Barry may be right about the lift redistricting could give to his chances in Texas' Harris County. However, in other parts of the country, where the effect of redistricting presents an enigmatic face, the Republicans are counting on gaining presidential votes merely because of a general sense of uneasiness created by the probability of future gerrymandering of voting districts under Democratic auspices. After all, the order to redistrict is blamed on an ultra-liberal Supreme Court. It is perfectly true that Chief Justice Earl Warren was an Eisenhower appointee. But the Democratic Party gets the onus for Supreme Court action nonetheless. The reasoning here is that the chief business of the court in recent years has been the validating of New Deal, Fair Deal and generally ultra-liberal legislation.

With redistricting causing psychological upsets and with housing propositions causing a white backlash even among those who think the Negro should be fully protected in the right to vote and the right to use any public facilities that taxpayers support or have a clear right to regulate, Republicans have caught a promising whiff in the breeze. It may be a delusion fostered by the invigorating ocean winds that drift over this peninsula city from the Pacific. But when the question marks are stacked up they may mean something that the popularity polls don't catch. The question, "Do you prefer Johnson to Goldwater—or to Scranton—or to any other Republican?" gets one answer. But if the questioning were to be reformulated to read, "Do you prefer Johnson's attitude on a fair housing act to you-know-who's?" it might provoke an entirely different response. In the voting booths next fall people will not only be at war over presidential personalities. They will be fighting over ideas and attitudes—and who knows where the pendulum will come to rest?

RNA Lack Plays Important Part in Ability to Recall

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Why is it that I can read an article or listen to a speech and understand it perfectly at the time but later can't remember any of it? Is it lack of attention or do I need some kind of vitamin or mineral?

A—Lack of total concentration and fatigue undoubtedly play a part in some examples of poor recall. It is now believed that ribonuleic acid (RNA) also plays an important part in our memory. This chemical is manufactured by the body, but in elderly persons a deficiency may develop. This, coupled with hardening of the cerebral arteries, would account for the increased trouble older persons have in this respect.

Dr. D. E. Cameron in Montreal has tried giving injections of RNA in the veins of aged patients over a period of two weeks. He found a definite improvement in memory as a result. Giving RNA by mouth also caused some improvement but not as much as when the chemical was injected. This treatment is still considered experimental.

Q—Is trichomoniasis a venereal disease? What can be done for it?

A—Since trichomoniasis is commonly transmitted by sexual contact it is technically a veneral disease, but many persons harbor the germ without showing any symptoms. Furthermore it is not a serious health problem and does not endanger the offspring as in the case with other sexually transmitted infections.

Trichomoniasis is the cause of the white vaginal discharge known as leukorrhea.

This was extremely hard to get rid of until the advent of metronidazole (Flagyl). It is important for both husband and wife to take the drug at the same time if reinfection is to be prevented.

Q—My brother died of a melanoma following removal of a large brown mole from his shoulder. Now his 9-year-old daughter has a similar mole on her shoulder. I have heard that if the mole is removed before she reaches puberty there is no danger. Is this true?

A—It is impossible to predict from the appearance of a brown mole on a child whether it will ever become malignant. Since most of them will not if they are let alone, it is better not to remove them at any age unless there is evidence that they are malignant or they are in a location that is subject to constant irritaion as from a shoulder strap, collar or belt. In any case it is usually better to delay the decision about removing a mole until after puberty.

In an adult a brown mole should be carefully examined by the family doctor at regular intervals of about 12 months.

The News Isn't All Bad

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In a Washington hotel dining room, waiter Jose Rodriguez asked a little girl what is the largest country in the world. She knitted her prows in puzzelment.

He told her:

"It's Cuba, where I come from. Its capital is in Havana, its government is in Moscow, and its people are in the United States."

THE SITUATION in South Viet Nam is getting more and more confusing to Pentagon officials. Comments one puzzled officer:

"You can get almost any sort of story you want out of South Viet Nam—optimistic or pessimistic—and each one will be true."

JOHN BAILEY, Democratic National Committee chairman, says he wasn't too surprised over the proposal by Sen. Barry Goldwater to defoliate the jungles of Viet Nam with atomic weapons. Notes Bailey:

"Barry loves the desert of his native Arizona. All he wants to do is bring its scenic glories to other parts of the globe."

JUST BEFORE LEAVING for Saigon recently, a State Department diplomat expressed his weariness with overseas inspection trips by Washington brass. Promising to return to Washington every three months to report on the Viet Nam action, he explained.

"I'd rather bring the war to Washington than take Washington out to the war."

A STRAPPING young lifeguard at a Washington area swimming pool reports that a young lad approached him the other day and asked:

"Do you get a commission for every life you save?"

IN THE OFFICE of John Hurley, Washington manager for Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, is a sign designed to bolster the perhaps lagging spirits of the governor's campaign workers:

"Success Comes Only to Those Who Refuse to Admit Defeat."

HENRY CABOT LODGE addressed the National Press Club on his return from Saigon. He denied good-humoredly that he had a habit of taking mid-afternoon siestas during the 1960 campaign, when he ran as Richard Nixon's running mate.

Paul Grindle, one of the prime movers in this year's effort to draft Lodge for the presidential nomination, thinks his man ought to go a bit farther in ridiculing the well-circulated story.

"What we ought to do is bring him out for a speech before a big audience, dressed in a fairly long coat, with a dazzling pair of striped pajamas showing plainly beneath the coat."

The Mature Parent

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

During her vacation, Muriel Lawrence is turning her column over to excerpts from "Neurosis and Human Growth," by Karen Horney, M.D. Copyright, 1950, by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York. Reprinted by permission.)

Summarized, they all boil down to the fact that the people in the environment are too wrapped up in their own neuroses to be able to love the child or even to see him as the particular individual he is. They may be dominating, overprotective, intimidating, hypocritical, overexacting, overindulgent, partial to brothers or sisters, etc.

Whatever their neurosis may be, they render it difficult for the child to arrive at a proper self-evaluation. A blind adoration may inflate his feeling of significance. He may feel wanted, liked, appreciated not for what he is but for satisfying his parents' needs for adoration, prestige or power.

A rigid regime of perfectionist standards may evoke a feeling of inferiority for not measuring up to such demands. Misdemeanors or bad marks at school may be severely reprimanded while good behavior and good marks are taken for granted. Moves toward independence may be ridiculed. All these factors give him a feeling of unworthiness—of being worth nothing unless he is something he is not.

Briefly, he may try to cling to the most powerful person around him: he may try to rebel and fight; he may try to shut others out of his inner life and withdraw emotionally from them.

In a healthy human relationship the moves toward, against or away from others are not mutually exclusive. The ability to want and give affection or to give in; the ability to fight and the ability to keep to oneself—these are complementary capacities necessary for good human relations. But in the child who feels himself isolated and helpless in a world conceived as potentially hostile, these moves become extreme and rigid.

Affection, for instance, becomes clinging; compliance becomes appeasement. Similarly he is driven to rebel or to keep aloof without reference to his real feelings and regardless of the inappropriateness of his attitude in a particular situation.

The three moves toward, against and away from others therefore constitute a conflict—his basic conflict with others. In time he tries to solve it by making one of these moves consistently predominant—by making his prevailing attitude one of compliance or aggressiveness or aloofness.

His inner strength is sapped by his having to be on the defensive, by his inner division, by the way his early "solution" initiated a one-sided development, thereby making large areas of his personality unavailable to him.

First for our American flag continues as in 1871 it was carried into the interior of Africa by the Henry M. Stanley expedition. In 1873, it was first raised on the summit of the Andes by a party of American engineers engaged in railway surveying. In 1877, it was unfurled for the first time in the far interior of China. In 1898 it was raised at Philippine Island. In 1909, Peary unfurled it at the North Pole. In 1917 it was displayed on a European battlefield for the first time by the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

An item in the May 20, 1919 Freeman reads, that Miss Marietta Riseley, who was the successful playground instructor at Forsyth Park the past two seasons has been re-engaged at the increase of $150 for physical instruction at Endicott, N. Y. where she has been employed during that year. Miss Riseley was a graduate of the Savage School for Physical Education of New York City.

Rocky Is Facing Convention Snub On Plank Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller will throw himself under the Barry Goldwater jugernaut at the Republican convention tonight in a futile effort to hit at the Arizona senator through the party platform.

Rockefeller will go before the convention, which is on the verge of nominating Goldwater, with a plea that it adopt a platform plank condemning extremism.

Other Liberal Appeals

Rockefeller has contended for a long time that Goldwater holds extremist and irresponsible views on a wide range of domestic and national issues.

The convention is expected to refuse the Rockefeller proposal overwhelmingly, giving him a serious political defeat before a national television audience.

Other Republican liberals, including Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino of New York, will appeal for passage of other platform planks that the Goldwater forces have already rejected as unacceptable.

It is considered virtually certain that the convention will reject all the proposed changes and adopt the committee's draft without change.

The Goldwater forces have proved to be in firm control of the convention machinery and have turned back all efforts designed to slow the senator's march to the nomination.

Passes Up Session

Rockefeller threw the full resources of his large staff at the convention into the preparation of his speech on the subject of extremism.

He passed up the regular convention session Monday night at the Cow Palace and remained in his hotel suite in downtown San Francisco to work on his presentation.

Both Rockefeller and Carlino will address the convention from the main rostrum.

Nearly all members of the New York delegation, biggest at the convention, is expected to support the proposed amendments. New York has 92 votes.

While 87 delegates technically are committed to Rockefeller, the majority willl support Scranton.

Alessandroni, 50, is a former United States Attorney and Murphy, 35, has been a congressional aide. They are, along with Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Malcolm Moos, President Eisenhower's former speechwriter, Scranton chief advisers and confidants.

Nixon to Appeal For Unity During Address Thudsday

Nixon, the party's presidential nominee four years ago, is expected to appeal for unity when he addresses the convention Thursday night after the standard bearer is selected.

Plans Round of Talks

The former vice president has been practicing law in New York City since Californians rejected his bid for governor in 1962.

Accompanied by his wife, Pat, he lands at San Francisco International Airport and then quickly begins a round of political talks.

First, there is a luncheon given by an old friend, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the permanent convention chairman, for George Murphy, the former actor who is running for the U.S. Senate in California.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated he will be at the luncheon "if possible," Morton's office said. Morton's aides said Sen. Barry Goldwater had accepted for sure.

After lunch, Nixon's staff said he'd be talking politics— but it wasn't certain with whom he would be conferring.

His Big Night

Wednesday, Nixon and his wife will hold a reception at a downtown hotel—to get together, an aide said, "with the people with whom he has worked in the party for the past 20 years."

Thursday will be Nixon's big night—a speech to the convention after it has picked its presidential nominee. He is expected to urge the feuding factions to pull together.

Hopes Floor Fight Will Melt Barry's Strength

Scranton Camp Ties Broader Platform to Keep Bid Alive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Backers of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton reach today for broader party support on three platform issues in a struggle to keep alive his bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

They were trying to start a convention floor fight on the party platform in hopes it would melt away some of the massive strength that has accumulated behind Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Three Major Amendments

The Scranton forces filed three major amendments to the platform, which was written by a committee under firm control of Goldwater sympathizers. They will try to force votes on these late today when the statement of party positions comes before the rank and file delegates. The subjects are civil rights, control of nuclear weapons and political extremism.

The language proposed showed a willingness to give some ground on the chance of winning over Republicans not unalterably committed to either of the major contenders.

For example, the proposed civil rights amendment does not contain the flat declaration that the civil rights law is constitutional, a statement for which Scranton long contended. It does speak of constitutional rights and calls for a number of measures, such as strengthening the Justice Department's civil rights branch, cutting the congressional representation of states that deny citizens the vote and pressing for state legislation in behalf of civil rights.

Promised Enforcement

Goldwater, who voted against the act, questioned constitutionality of two of its key provisions, but he promised to enforce the law as president.

The committee voted a plank, condemned by Scranton and others as inadequate, promising implementation and execution of the law. Scranton said execution might mean no more than signing it.

Another amendment would put the party on record as repudiating "the efforts of irresponsible, extremist groups, such as the John Birch Society and others" to try to infiltrate responsible party positions or attach themselves to GOP candidates. Goldwater has declined to disavow the support of Birch members, and the platform committee rejected any plank on extremism.

Might Drop Birch Reference

There were reports the Scranton strategists might delete the specific reference to the John Birch Socity.

The Scranton amendment on nuclear weapons is aimed at Goldwater's statements that it might be desirable to give some leeway to the supreme military commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in the use of relatively small, tactical atomic weapons. Under present law and policy, no atomic weapon of any sort may be employed without specific authorization of the president.

The amendment would reaffirm "the historic constitutional precept of civilian control over the military" and declare that "the authority to use America's nuclear weapons belongs only to the president of the United States."

Opposition Comes From Forest Glen To Access Road

A proposal by the developers of Sunset Gardens complex on the former Ashton premises in Town of Ulster, to give a second access to the project by means of an entrance through Forest Glen Park, met with opposition by the residents of Forest Glen Park when the matter came up before the Town of Ulster Planning Board Monday night.

Residents of Sunset Park had entered objection to the plan to have a single access through the Sunset Park area.

When the matter came up before the Planning Board Monday night residents of Forest Glen Park, which lies to the north of Sunset Park and separated by a brook and gully, filed a petition of objection to an access through Forest Glen Park. The petition contained 87 names of residents who objected to the additional traffic through their area if the second access route was from Forest Glen Park.

At the conclusion of the meeting the matter was adjourned to Aug. 10 at 8 p. m. when the Planning Board will again meet in session and hold a public hearing on the matter.

A suggestion was made that the second access to the Sunset Gardens complex be over Van Keuren Highway which would be widened and extended to join with the Sunset Gardens property. This would entail taking of additional property.

Following the public hearing on August 10, the Planning Board will take the proposals under advisement and make a decision.

When plans for the Sunset Gardens complex were proposed, residents of Sunset Park sent a petition of objection to the Planning Board based on their objection to the increased traffic which would have to pass through Sunset Park which gave the only access to the project.

The proposal made Monday night was to continue Dellwood Street in Forest Glen Park through to join streets in Sunset Park.

Louis Di Donna appeared at the meeting of the Planning Board and voiced the objection of the residents of Forest Glen Park to the proposal and presented the petition containing the names of 87 residents of Forest Glen Park who voiced their objection to connecting up the two areas and thereby increasing traffic through their area.

Shaw Ends Long Service With IBM

Lewis B. Shaw of 149 Elmendorf Street, recently retired from IBM after 22 years' service. Shaw was employed in the production control records department at the Data Systems Division's manufacturing plant at Kingston at the time of his retirement.

Shaw joined IBM at Poughkeepsie on April 7, 1942, as a milling machine operator's helper. While working at Poughkeepsie, he was a member of the original group which coordinated the transfer of the electric typewriter from Rochester, to Poughkeepsie in 1944. While in the Electric Typewriter Division, he held several positions including type aligner, control clerk and production control analyzer. He transferred to the Kingston plant in February, 1955.

Canadian Craft Finally Makes it To Gotham Port

The brigantine St. Lawrence II, the Canadian craft which brought a plaque from the mayor of Kingston, Canada to Mayor John J. Schwenk, has finally made New York City after numerous difficulties.

When the craft ran aground on a mud flat above Hudson, Mayor Schwenk and other local people traveled to the site of the disabled craft and there accepted the plaque in order not to delay the ship on its run to the World's Fair because of an additional stop in Kingston.

The St. Lawrence with its 27 Canadian Sea Cadets left Kingston, Ontario, on July 1 enroute to a rendezvous with other sailing ships in New York. The ship was plagued with difficulty. First engine trouble, then a grounding in the Hudson, later a broken shaft and finally around midnight Friday the lights went out as the craft neared Peekskill. She docked at Peekskill overnight for repairs and finally arrived in New York at 2 p. m. Saturday. Monday she with other ships from all over the world met at Staten Island and began Operation Sails cruise along the coast toward Rhode Island. Wednesday the ships will rendezvous at the Skuline Marina, Edgewater, N. J., and set sail for the World's Fair where they will remain for several days. The St. Lawrence is the smallest ship in the fleet, only 60 feet long.

Mid-Hudson Area Museum Trustees List Committees

The appointment of a planning committee and another to handle publicity were named this week by the trustees of the proposed Mid-Hudson Catskills Museum.

A planning committee to study the long and short range plans of the association was named including Dr. Robert Pyle, naturalist and dean of State University College, New Paltz; Daniel Smiley, naturalist and co-owner of Lake Mohonk; William Phillips, professor of physical science at Dutchess Community College; Henry Dunbar, Kingston botanist, association chairman, and Craig Smith, museum instructor at the State Museum, Albany.

The publicity committee includes Arthur Withall, association treasurer, as chairman; Phillips, Dale Swartzmiller, regional director of the State Commerce Department, Kingston; Smith and Thomas Mannix, past president of Kingston Teachers Association.

An executive committee composed of pro-tem officers, Smiley and Norman Kellar, naturalist and Kingston attorney, are preparing an application for a charter from the State Board of Regents. John W. Buck Jr., curator-director of the Library of Automobilia is association secretary.

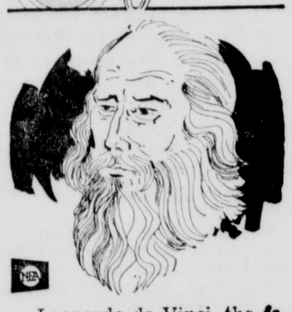

Car, Gas Pump Mishap

A car left a ramp at Temple's Texaco Servicecenter, Broadway and Van Deusen Street, about 6:40 a. m. today, and knocked over a gasoline pump. Fire fighters responded but Ronald Temple had used a dry chemical extinguisher at the scene. The power was shut off and gasoline was flushed from the station area. Owner of the car was identified as Richard Fortescu of 3730 Ledgewick, the Bronx.

Member Drive Is Underway for Mental Health

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health is conducting its annual membership campaign during July. Letters are being mailed to county and city residents inviting them to join the organization, or to renew their subscription.

Relies on Donations

The Association relies increasingly on memberships, as well as other contributions, to help support the program to fight and prevent mental illness. The Association's program is entirely financed by voluntary donations. The work is educational and promotional, while part of the money also goes toward research.

During the year, several successful projects were carried on. A clergymen's seminar with follow-up program was given. A pastoral counseling panel will continue with the clergy of all faiths participating. Recently, nearly 200 persons attended a session sponsored by the Association for Mental Health on the "Skills of Interviewing," relating in part to disturbed patients.

Mental health films are provided for organizations and schools requesting them, and printed material is available and distributed throughout the county.

An executive secretary is at the Association office at 27 East O'Reilly Street, part-time, and is called on continuously for reference service for mentally and emotional disturbed patients, their families, and others. This is a valuable service, especially to those needing information in the Middletown State Hospital follow-up program.

Day-Care Plan Eyed

The Association is now working toward the promotion for the establishment of a psychiatric day-care center in Ulster County for patients who need this type of intensive treatment but who do not require round-the-clock hospitalization; it is also working for the establishment of in-patient psychiatric facilities at a local general hospital, and for an alcoholism clinic.

The work of the Association is mainly that of public education. Eventually this type of promotion shows the results of many conferences held with various groups. One of the projects of which Ulster County Association for Mental Health is proud is that notable steps have already been taken for the establishment of a "Half-Way House" in Kingston, by Middletown State Hospital. There will be about 20 people in residence, who will be given the advantage of a rehabilitation program often advocated by the local Association. Rehabilitation is an important part of the process of returning to normal life in the community and to a place in society.

Leaders in the various townships of Ulster County have been invited to assist in the membership drive. They will work with Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., chairman of the membership committee. Other members of this committee are Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., Mrs. Henry Millonig, C. Kenneth Taber, Mrs. William Krum, Mrs. Kirtland Snyder, William H. Van Benschoten and Mrs. Paul Perlman.

Civil Service Exam

A new examination for Food and Drug Officer has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions paying from $7,030 to $15,665 a year in the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D. C. metropolitan area. Persons appointed to these positions will perform professional work requiring scientific knowledge in connection with the overall enforcement of food, drug and related laws, orders, and regulations. Announcements and appropriate application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner in charge, Central Post Office.

Presidential Shine

NEW YORK (AP)—In many firms when an employe gets a call to come into the president's office something big is brewing.

When president Irving J. Bottner of Esquire Polish calls employes no matter what he wants, he always ends up shining the shoes of the person.

"I once called a man in to fire him for doing something drastically wrong but I still shined his shoes," Bottner said.

WILLIAM J. BROWN

The promotion of William J. Brown of Kingston to senior engineer in IBM 7040/7044 engineering at Kingston has been announced by IBM's Data Systems Division.

Brown is manager of engineering for the IBM 7040/7044 system. In addition, his group is responsible for product engineering at Kingston for System/360, Models 60 and 62; and for the design of special features on these systems.

Brown joined IBM in November, 1955, as a technical engineer in the circuits laboratory at Kingston and was named an associate engineer one year later. He was promoted to project engineer in 1957 and to product engineer in late 1958, also in the circuits laboratory. Since December, 1960, he has served as engineering manager for several programs, including a digital computer for bombing, navigation and missile guidance; and the IBM 7030 (STRETCH) data processing system. He assumed engineering responsibility for the IBM 7040/7044 in January, 1963.

Brown is vice-chairman of the Mid-Hudson Sector of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and chairman of the Catskill Sub-Sector of that organization. He received a bachelor of arts degree in physics and mathematics from Columbia College.

Scouts Spotlight Heritage in July

Final preparation for American Heritage Day activities July 18 are keeping Scout units busy in the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Boy Scout troops are planning their American Heritage campfires. Twelve hundred troops at the Sixth National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., are setting the pattern for the thousands of campfires that will be held across the country.

Cut Scout packs are also following the American Heritage theme and will feature historic or patriotic stunts, historical scrapbooks and the singing of patriotic songs at American Heritage Day pack and den functions.

A number of packs or dens also will be visiting historic sites during July and taking part in special heritage citizenship projects.

High-school age Explorers will select from a varied list of suggested Explorer Post heritage activities including visits to historic sites, providing American Heritage ceremonies for community organizations and carrying out special neighborhood or community American Heritage Day programs.

How to win at shadow tag

As a youngster, perhaps you too enjoyed the game of shadow tag. What fun it was in the late afternoon, when shadows were long and easy to catch. As we recall, there was a way of winning at shadow tag. As long as the one who was "it" was kept between you and the sun, he never got close enough to your shadow for a tag. If the real you got caught, so did your shadow.

We got to thinking about this game the other day, during a discussion of circulation and how many different ways there are to "determine" the size of a circulation audience for advertising. You can multiply units of circulation by units of people and maybe you will get reader audience. Studies and surveys can produce age, sex, income, and all sorts of other factors which, when multiplied by units of circulation, might give you other kinds of audience figures.

No matter how it is figured, a circulation audience can never be more reliable than the circulation figures from which the shadow is projected. While the size and shape of the shadow changes in the light of varying points of interest, the child at tag and the circulation under study remains the same.

We believe it is our obligation, as a seller of the commodity of advertising space, to provide you with complete and accurate circulation figures. We believe in full disclosure of circulation facts, based on uniform standards, permitting close examination from any point of interest. We believe, further, that such facts and figures should come not from us or our agents, but from an independent, objective circulation measuring and reporting service.

That's why the Audit Bureau of Circulations was organized 50 years ago, and why more than 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers support this voluntary, self-regulatory effort today. That's why we are ABC members.

Come to think of it, we never were much good at shadow tag. Just ask to see a copy of our latest ABC report — it will let you tag the real us.

Opposition Comes From Forest Glen To Access Road

A proposal by the developers of Sunset Gardens complex on the former Ashton premises in Town of Ulster, to give a second access to the project by means of an entrance through Forest Glen Park, met with opposition by the residents of Forest Glen Park when the matter came up before the Town of Ulster Planning Board Monday night.

Residents of Sunset Park had entered objection to the plan to have a single access through the Sunset Park area.

When the matter came up before the Planning Board Monday night residents of Forest Glen Park, which lies to the north of Sunset Park and separated by a brook and gully, filed a petition of objection to an access through Forest Glen Park. The petition contained 87 names of residents who objected to the additional traffic through their area if the second access route was from Forest Glen Park.

At the conclusion of the meeting the matter was adjourned to Aug. 10 at 8 p. m. when the Planning Board will again meet in session and hold a public hearing on the matter.

A suggestion was made that the second access to the Sunset Gardens complex be over Van Keuren Highway which would be widened and extended to join with the Sunset Gardens property. This would entail taking of additional property.

Following the public hearing on August 10, the Planning Board will take the proposals under advisement and make a decision.

When plans for the Sunset Gardens complex were proposed, residents of Sunset Park sent a petition of objection to the Planning Board based on their objection to the increased traffic which would have to pass through Sunset Park which gave the only access to the project.

The proposal made Monday night was to continue Dellwood Street in Forest Glen Park through to join streets in Sunset Park.

Louis Di Donna appeared at the meeting of the Planning Board and voiced the objection of the residents of Forest Glen Park to the proposal and presented the petition containing the names of 87 residents of Forest Glen Park who voiced their objection to connecting up the two areas and thereby increasing traffic through their area.

Shaw Ends Long Service With IBM

Lewis B. Shaw of 149 Elmendorf Street, recently retired from IBM after 22 years' service. Shaw was employed in the production control records department at the Data Systems Division's manufacturing plant at Kingston at the time of his retirement.

Shaw joined IBM at Poughkeepsie on April 7, 1942, as a milling machine operator's helper. While working at Poughkeepsie, he was a member of the original group which coordinated the transfer of the electric typewriter from Rochester, to Poughkeepsie in 1944. While in the Electric Typewriter Division, he held several positions including type aligner, control clerk and production control analyzer. He transferred to the Kingston plant in February, 1955.

Canadian Craft Finally Makes it To Gotham Port

The brigantine St. Lawrence II, the Canadian craft which brought a plaque from the mayor of Kingston, Canada to Mayor John J. Schwenk, has finally made New York City after numerous difficulties.

When the craft ran aground on a mud flat above Hudson, Mayor Schwenk and other local people traveled to the site of the disabled craft and there accepted the plaque in order not to delay the ship on its run to the World's Fair because of an additional stop in Kingston.

The St. Lawrence with its 27 Canadian Sea Cadets left Kingston, Ontario, on July 1 enroute to a rendezvous with other sailing ships in New York. The ship was plagued with difficulty. First engine trouble, then a grounding in the Hudson, later a broken shaft and finally around midnight Friday the lights went out as the craft neared Peekskill. She docked at Peekskill overnight for repairs and finally arrived in New York at 2 p. m. Saturday. Monday she with other ships from all over the world met at Staten Island and began Operation Sails cruise along the coast toward Rhode Island. Wednesday the ships will rendezvous at the Skuline Marina, Edgewater, N. J., and set sail for the World's Fair where they will remain for several days. The St. Lawrence is the smallest ship in the fleet, only 60 feet long.

Thomas R. Gasperini, 56, of Route 23, Cairo pled guilty on a charge of operating as an unlicensed plumber and paid a fine of $25 before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman in city court. Complaint was lodged by Charles Kelly, plumbing inspector for the City of Kingston.

Mid-Hudson Area Museum Trustees List Committees

The appointment of a planning committee and another to handle publicity were named this week by the trustees of the proposed Mid-Hudson Catskills Museum.

A planning committee to study the long and short range plans of the association was named including Dr. Robert Pyle, naturalist and dean of State University College, New Paltz; Daniel Smiley, naturalist and co-owner of Lake Mohonk; William Phillips, professor of physical science at Dutchess Community College; Henry Dunbar, Kingston botanist, association chairman, and Craig Smith, museum instructor at the State Museum, Albany.

The publicity committee includes Arthur Withall, association treasurer, as chairman; Phillips, Dale Swartzmiller, regional director of the State Commerce Department, Kingston; Smith and Thomas Mannix, past president of Kingston Teachers Association.

An executive committee composed of pro-tem officers, Smiley and Norman Kellar, naturalist and Kingston attorney, are preparing an application for a charter from the State Board of Regents. John W. Buck Jr., curator-director of the Library of Automobilia is association secretary.

Car, Gas Pump Mishap

A car left a ramp at Temple's Texaco Servicecenter, Broadway and Van Deusen Street, about 6:40 a. m. today, and knocked over a gasoline pump. Fire fighters responded but Ronald Temple had used a dry chemical extinguisher at the scene. The power was shut off and gasoline was flushed from the station area. Owner of the car was identified as Richard Fortescu of 3730 Ledgewick, the Bronx.

Member Drive Is Underway for Mental Health

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health is conducting its annual membership campaign during July. Letters are being mailed to county and city residents inviting them to join the organization, or to renew their subscription.

Relies on Donations

The Association relies increasingly on memberships, as well as other contributions, to help support the program to fight and prevent mental illness. The Association's program is entirely financed by voluntary donations. The work is educational and promotional, while part of the money also goes toward research.

During the year, several successful projects were carried on. A clergymen's seminar with follow-up program was given. A pastoral counseling panel will continue with the clergy of all faiths participating. Recently, nearly 200 persons attended a session sponsored by the Association for Mental Health on the "Skills of Interviewing," relating in part to disturbed patients.

Mental health films are provided for organizations and schools requesting them, and printed material is available and distributed throughout the county.

An executive secretary is at the Association office at 27 East O'Reilly Street, part-time, and is called on continuously for reference service for mentally and emotional disturbed patients, their families, and others. This is a valuable service, especially to those needing information in the Middletown State Hospital follow-up program.

Day-Care Plan Eyed

The Association is now working toward the promotion for the establishment of a psychiatric day-care center in Ulster County for patients who need this type of intensive treatment but who do not require round-the-clock hospitalization; it is also working for the establishment of in-patient psychiatric facilities at a local general hospital, and for an alcoholism clinic.

The work of the Association is mainly that of public education. Eventually this type of promotion shows the results of many conferences held with various groups. One of the projects of which Ulster County Association for Mental Health is proud is that notable steps have already been taken for the establishment of a "Half-Way House" in Kingston, by Middletown State Hospital. There will be about 20 people in residence, who will be given the advantage of a rehabilitation program often advocated by the local Association. Rehabilitation is an important part of the process of returning to normal life in the community and to a place in society.

Leaders in the various townships of Ulster County have been invited to assist in the membership drive. They will work with Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., chairman of the membership committee. Other members of this committee are Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., Mrs. Henry Millonig, C. Kenneth Taber, Mrs. William Krum, Mrs. Kirtland Snyder, William H. Van Benschoten and Mrs. Paul Perlman.

Civil Service Exam

A new examination for Food and Drug Officer has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions paying from $7,030 to $15,665 a year in the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D. C. metropolitan area. Persons appointed to these positions will perform professional work requiring scientific knowledge in connection with the overall enforcement of food, drug and related laws, orders, and regulations. Announcements and appropriate application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner in charge, Central Post Office.

"I once called a man in to fire him for doing something drastically wrong but I still shined his shoes," Bottner said.

WILLIAM J. BROWN

The promotion of William J. Brown of Kingston to senior engineer in IBM 7040/7044 engineering at Kingston has been announced by IBM's Data Systems Division.

Brown is manager of engineering for the IBM 7040/7044 system. In addition, his group is responsible for product engineering at Kingston for System/360, Models 60 and 62; and for the design of special features on these systems.

Brown joined IBM in November, 1955, as a technical engineer in the circuits laboratory at Kingston and was named an associate engineer one year later. He was promoted to project engineer in 1957 and to product engineer in late 1958, also in the circuits laboratory. Since December, 1960, he has served as engineering manager for several programs, including a digital computer for bombing, navigation and missile guidance; and the IBM 7030 (STRETCH) data processing system. He assumed engineering responsibility for the IBM 7040/7044 in January, 1963.

Brown is vice-chairman of the Mid-Hudson Sector of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and chairman of the Catskill Sub-Sector of that organization. He received a bachelor of arts degree in physics and mathematics from Columbia College.

He, his wife Kathryn, and children Lynn, 7; Robert, 5; Virginia, 4; and Kenneth, 2; reside on Kukuk Lane.

While the size and shape of the shadow changes in the light of varying points of interest, the child at tag and the circulation under study remains the same.

We believe it is our obligation, as a seller of the commodity of advertising space, to provide you with complete and accurate circulation figures. We believe in full disclosure of circulation facts, based on uniform standards, permitting close examination from any point of interest. We believe, further, that such facts and figures should come not from us or our agents, but from an independent, objective circulation measuring and reporting service.

That's why the Audit Bureau of Circulations was organized 50 years ago, and why more than 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers support this voluntary, self-regulatory effort today. That's why we are ABC members.

Come to think of it, we never were much good at shadow tag. Just ask to see a copy of our latest ABC report — it will let you tag the real us.

Drug Firm Hits 3 Others With $30 Million Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — A drug company has filed a $30 million civil suit accusing three other firms of conspiracy to rig prices and sales of some widely used antibiotics.

The suit, filed Monday in federal court by Premo Pharmaceutical Laboratories Inc., of Hackensack, N.J., was the third growing out of New York City's purchase of an Italian - made antibiotic at a price lower than that of the U.S.-made drug.

Premo sought triple damages from the defendants—American Cyanamid Co., Bristol-Meyers Co., Chas. Pfizer and Co., Inc., and their top officers.

Named co-conspirators, but not defendants, were Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and the Upjohn Co.

Premo claimed in its suit Monday that as part of the alleged 11-year conspiracy the defendants and co-conspirators allocated the manufacture, distribution and sale of four broad-spectrum antibiotics among themselves to eliminate competition and maintain prices at noncompetitive levels.

Tug Crewman Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A tugboat crewman was drowned Monday night when he slipped and fell into the Buffalo River while trying to step from a tug at a pier.

Murray Gunnlaugsson, 32, of Washington Island, Wis., was a wheelsman aboard the tug John Roen IV, which arrived here yesterday hauling barges loaded with stone for the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant in nearby Lackawanna.

Peekskill Names Ousted Trooper As Head of CD

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP) — Former Trooper John H. Donohue, dismissed from the State Police after accusing his superiors of harassment, was named Peekskill civil defense director Monday night.

Donohue was appointed by Mayor Salvatore Gambino. The post pays an annual salary of $6,250.

Donohue, of Peekskill, was dismissed from the State Police last May 28 after a four-day departmental hearing in Albany. Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. announced after the hearing that Donohue's charges were "completely unfounded."

The hearing also concerned a charge by the commander of Troop K. Hawthorne, that Donohue had failed to obey an order to furnish specific information regarding the alleged harassment.

Donohue has filed a $1.5 million suit against the state. He contends he was deprived of his civil rights and suffered mental anguish during a 17-hour questioning session at the Troop K. barracks in connection with remarks he was reported to have made at a meeting of the Civil Service Employes' Association.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized labor is mapping a campaign of "massive compliance" with the new civil rights act that may even include strikes against employers who discriminate.

AFL-CIO President George Meany expects the campaign to throw the full weight of the labor federation's 13.5 million members into virtually every city and hamlet in the nation.

One aim will be prompt voluntary compliance with the new law's equal employment opportunity provisions, which do not go into effect for one year.

While he declined to specify the type of pressure he has in mind, an AFL-CIO spokesman pointed out that the strike has long been one of labor's chief economic weapons. The spokesman also cited boycotts and listings of "unfair" employers as possible labor weapons against discrimination.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has signed a bill authorizing the space agency to spend up to $5,227,506,000 in the year that started July 1. Actual spending will be fixed later by an appropriations bill.

Largest chunk of the measure —$2,677,500,000—is for the Apollo program to place an American on the moon by 1970.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has thrown the spotlight on the Pentagon's economy drive by designating next week as "Defense Cost Reduction Week."

The defense secretary said Monday that major aims were to reward those who helped the department save $2.5 billion in the fiscal year that ended June 30 and to focus attention on the goal of saving $4.6 billion.

Bank Offers Bargain

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —The coin shortage is so severe in Albuquerque that one bank is advertising a bargain on the new Kennedy half dollar in an effort to beef up the supply.

The First National Bank of Albuquerque said it was selling the new 50 cent pieces for 49 cents each with a limit of six per customer.

Ulster College Student Leader Of CORE Here

Miss Jennifer Miller, 18, of 17 Jansen Avenue, a graduate of Kingston High School, has been elected chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) it was announced today.

She succeeds Daniel Fitzgerald, who resigned last week as acting chairman.

Miss Miller, who was a varsity cheerleader in high school, is in her second year at Ulster County Community College, where she is majoring in languages. She is also active in the Drama and the Ski Club.

Ralph Kricker, Woodstock businesman, whose daughter Candy has been involved in numerous Civil Rights actions in the South, nominated Miss Miller at the chapter meeting over the weekend.

He said, "The Congress of Racial Equality has proved to be essentially a young people's organization, and it is these young people who have taught us a good deal about what we didn't know before. It is no longer possible to think of social action in terms of the 1930s. And I for one will gladly follow where these young people lead us and will back them to the hilt."

In assuming her new duties, Miss Miller said, "It is my belief that what this chapter needs is organization. CORE was founded as a non-violent action organization, unlike the NAACP, which is a legalistic group and works through the courts. The question we have to ask ourselves is what actions are we taking now? What programs are we working on? Under my leadership, we will begin by formulating a specific plan of action and we will see to it that that plan is carried through, according to the rules and philosophy of CORE."

Miss Miller said that the chapter plans to conduct a house-to-house canvass to acquaint the community with the Civil Rights issues relative to this area and CORE's proposals for dealing with them now.

Gamblers Warned Of Longer Terms

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge has told four gamblers that their 30-day jail terms could be imposed indefinitely if they continue in their refusal to testify before a grand jury.

State Supreme Court Justice John E. Cone sentenced the four Monday to serve the jail terms and pay $250 fines for contempt of court.

The four are Joseph Flori, 55, of Westbury, Frank (Happy) Russo, 52, of Woodhaven, Alphonse Giugliano, 51, of Ozone Park, and Joseph Ushkowitz, 50, of Jamaica.

Police said they all had long records, mostly for gambling.

In Manhattan, another policeman was fired after he refused to sign a waiver of immunity from prosecution and testify in a parallel grand jury investigation into gambling.

The policeman, Sgt. George J. Watson, 41, of Flushing, was the 12th policeman to be dismissed for refusing to waive immunity.

GOP Convention Color

Things Clearing Up In Foggy Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Things are clearing up in foggy San Francisco.

The Republican National Convention, which apparently is for Barry Goldwater of Arizona, has now been keynoted by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, whose state delegate is still committed to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who is now for Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who wants to debate Goldwater, who wants to debate Lyndon B. Johnson, who wants to debate the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which is politically neutral at a time when pulbisher Henry Luce, they say, is for Scranton while Clare Boothe Luce, his wife, is clearly for Goldwater.

Ike Can't Remember When

Alf Landon hasn't been heard from, and Tom Dewey is too busy with his law practice in New York to make the San Francisco convention, which is really in Daly City, Calif., but Dwight D. Eisenhower, the neutral television commentator, did, and he says he can't remember whether it was in public or private that he called Goldwater impulsive.

Hatfield, a lean, clean-cut young man, wore the television make-up which couldn't hide his Ivy League look from this Far West convention, but they applauded him, anyway. Especially when he jumped on the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society and the Communist party. A delegate who might have wanted to applaud one attack and not the others found himself helpless because all three targets were bracketed in one sentence.

They all applauded Hatfield when he cast suspicion on the musical tastes of an unnamed family from Texas.

"You cannot," he said, "sweep a hi-fi set under the rug and expect the bulge not to show."

Actors Take Over

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, clearly the most dramatic mailman in the country, delivered a letter from Herbert Hoover in New York. The former president asked the delegates to adopt a short platform. They're not likely to. Asking politicians to keep anything short, except their memory, is like asking Jayne Mansfield to give up decolletage.

Dirksen turned the proceedings over to two actors named Lloyd Nolan and Victor Jory. Alternating at the microphone, they gave a dramatic reading in which they quoted American patriots all the way from Ben Franklin to Teddy Roosevelt to Dwight Eisenhower, ending in a thumping crescendo—"and that is our call to greatness!" As a dramatic vehicle, the critic from Variety thought it needed more work out of town.

Will Ask Court To Force Replay Of GOP Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—A Negro attorney said today he plans to ask a federal court in San Francisco to declare the Republican National Convention unconstitutional and require a replay of the whole affair.

Paul Zuber of New York, who was a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in the New Hampshire primary, said he would file his request for a restraining order Thursday.

He can't do it sooner, he said, because he must be in court in New York.

Zuber charged that Negroes were systematically excluded from delegations from Southern states, and that in some Northern states both whites and Negroes were excluded unless they pledged to support Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidential nomination.

If their actions go unchallenged, he said, "the entire Republican party will be indicted."

Zuber said he would ask the court to review the convention's procedures under federal laws which require governmental bodies to extend citizens equal protection of the laws, guaranteed by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The convention, he said, is a quasi-governmental agency.

Zuber, who has been active in school desegregation suits in Englewood, N.J., and New Rochelle, N.Y., said he is not an officer of any civil rights group.

Taylor Presents Credentials to South Viet Chief

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who arrived one week ago, presented his credentials today to Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, South Vietnamese chief of state.

Taylor, dressed in white sharkskin suit, was accompanied by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of U.S. forces here, and deputy ambassador U. Alexis Johnson in the brief ceremony.

Taylor thus formally replaced Henry Cabot Lodge, who returned to Washington last month to campaign for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, struggling to resume the climb of recent weeks, milled inconclusively early this afternoon.

Strength in the auto stocks and a few other groups pretty well braked a slide that began late Monday and continued briefly in early going today.

At noon, The Associated Press 60-stock average was higher by .1 at 318.8, with industrials off .1, rails ahead by .5 and utilities unchanged.

General Motors and Chrysler sparked the motors group, marching once more to all-time highs. GM at one point reached 93½, up 1, and Chrysler hit an early peak of 53, up ⅜. American Motors was up fractionally and Ford unchanged.

Strength also showed in the rails with the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Santa Fe higher.

Steels were mostly lower, as were airlines. Tobaccos, drugs, building materials, metals, oils, aircrafts, mail orders, rubbers and farm implements were mixed.

Trans World Airlines recovered slightly from Monday's thumping when the issue sank over 4 points. TWA picked up ¼ to 43⅞.

AT&T was off ¼ at 72½ on profit-taking after last week's good rise.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were irregularly higher. Trading was moderate.

Bond prices were mostly mixed.

highway crews on removing the decking from the bridge in preparation for the steel contractors to begin the strengthening of the strutcure and the erection of new guard railing. The bridge will be strengthened to carry loads of some six to seven tons, which will be ample to permit school buses and other small trucks to cross.

Plans for a new, wider bridge were prepared several years ago but were abandoned because of the cost. At that time it was estimated the cost would be close to $1 million.

Under a contract recently awarded to the Costanzi Construction Company, the present one-way bridge will be strengthened to accommodate heavier loads and new guard railings will be erected. A system of one-way traffic lights will be installed. The contract price was $64,461.

Serves School Buses

In 1963 an appropriation of $20,000 was made for repairs to the bridge which carried a considerable amount of traffic, including many school buses. At one time there was considerable controversy over the danger of school buses carrying children over the bridge and the children were discharged at the bridge and to walk over the bridge.

It is expected the work will be completed during the summer school recess and the bridge opened to traffic by the reopening of school in the fall or shortly thereafter.

3 U. S. Officers,

Five other Americans have been killed in ambushes on the road in the past two years.

The deaths Monday brought the total of U.S. military men killed in action in South Viet Nam since December 1961 to 157. Another 983 Americans have been wounded in action.

The names of the latest American dead were withheld in Saigon, but in Washington the Army announced the deaths in Viet Nam of Maj. Joseph W. Burkett, Stephenville, Tex.; Capt. Billy T. Hatfield, Fayetteville, N. C., and Capt. Richard M. Sroka, Pueblo, Colo.

A U.S. spokesman said the convoy was passing through rolling, lightly jungled terrain on a routine mission when it was stopped by road mines.

Volleys of fire poured into the seven trucks, four armored cars, and five jeeps. Most of the casualties occurred in the first few minutes of the ambush, U.S. sources said.

The firefight lasted about an hour, the American spokesman said. Then the Communists slipped back into the jungle.

Ranger troops and fighter-bombers were sent to the area but made no contact with the attackers.

American sources said the major who was killed was the senior military adviser in Binh Long Province and the two captains were the intelligence officer for the province and a Ranger adviser to the Vietnamese army's 34th Battalion.

R. I. Incident

Negro Girl, 10, Almost Victim Of Shotgun Blast

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP)—A shotgun blast was fired into the home of a Negro family Monday night, narrowly misssing a 10-year-old girl who was making a sandwich in the kitchen.

Police posted a guard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Potter and called on state authorities and the University of Rhode Island criminology laboratory for help in the investigation.

Lugene Potter said she was making a sandwich shortly before midnight when the blast, apparently fired from a nearby road, shattered the window next to her. She was not injured.

Three other children were in the house at the time. Potter, a mill worker in nearby Wakefield, and his wife were both out.

Mrs. Potter said the family has been the target of shouted abuse for more than 1½ years. On several recent nights, she said, a car has driven past several times, its occupants shouting racial taunts.

The Potters are one of several Negro families which have lived in the Allentown section of North Kingstown for more than two generations.

Police said reports of racial incidents in the area have been rare.

Bloody Break-in

A burglar who entered the De-Witt Lake beach store some time after closing Monday night, left behind a bloody trail. Entrance to the building was gained by breaking a large window and in so doing the person apparently suffered injury. Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone, who investigated the break today, reported the place was splashed with blood. About $12 in cash was missing from the regieter. The place is operated by Ludmila Garkusha.

Natural Death Ruled

Ellenville state police reported the death of Max Hannacker of New York City, who was found dead in a summer cabin near Sam's Point, Town of Wawarsing, Saturday morning, was due to natural causes. Coroner William S. Keyser of Kingston conducted an investigation along with state police and issued a verdict of death from natural causes. The body of Hannacker was found by a friend. Two cousins in New York survive. Graveside services were held at 11 a. m. today in St. Mary's Cemetery.

To Modernize Furnaces

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Koppers Co. announced today it has been awarded a contract for engineering services to modernize gas cleaning equipment and four blast furnaces at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Lackawanna, N.Y., plant.

The work will be done by the Freyn specialty department of Koppers engineering and construction division. No cost was given.

Report Mikoyan

the source said, Mikoyan is evidently the man.

Brezhnev, at one time, was considered a likely heir-apparent to Khrushchev, but he appears lately to have lost ground, partly because of illness.

He was elected chairman of the Presidium of the supreme Soviet, which in effect is president of the Soviet Union, in 1960 and was re-elected in 1962.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Sassy Steaks for Quick Barbecues

SASSY STEAK sandwiches are quick and delicious.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprises Assn.

Sassy steak sandwiches are tailored for quick and easy outdoor cooking. The cubed steaks are marinated in a simple sauce. Then, when ready to be cooked, brush them with bottled brown bouquet sauce to give a rich brown look despite quick grilling. Grill onion slices at the same time.

Macaroni salad, whole tomatoes, frozen lemonade and watermelon round out the barbecue menu. To keep clean-up work to a minimum, use paper plates and cups.

SASSY STEAK SANDWICHES

(6 sandwiches)

¼ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 cubed steaks (4 to 6 ounces each)
Bottled brown bouquet sauce
6 large hamburger buns

Mix oil with salt, seasoned salt, and pepper. Marinate steaks in oil mixture in refrigerator for several hours.

When ready to cook over charcoal, brush marinated steaks with bottle brown bouquet sauce. Cook quickly over hot coals, turning to brown both sides. While steaks are cooking, toast buns. Serve steaks in buns with grilled onion slices.

Goldwater Still

Letter Does It

If there was any chance that Goldwater might ask Scranton to share the ticket with him, it apparently disappeared finally when the Pennsylvania governor said Monday night that he did not write a bitterly critical letter forwarded under his signature to Goldwater Sunday night. But Scranton assumed the responsibility for it.

John Conmy, a Scranton press aide, said the governor had not seen the letter before it went to Goldwater and had not ordered it sent to the senator. He did not volunteer the names of those who were responsible.

Says Issues Important

Scranton said that some of the letter's acrid language attacking "Goldwaterism" was "too strong." But he said he still thinks the issues with which it dealt are important.

It was generally understood in the Goldwater camp that his choice for his vice presidential running mate was Rep. William E. Miller, New York Roman Catholic, who heads the Republican National Committee. But there was a reservation that if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower should request it, some approach to Scranton might be made.

Goldwater said, after hearing Scranton's explanation on the letter that "I feel more charitable about it now."

If the presidential and vice presidential nominations thus seemed to be more or less resolved, there remained the choice of a new national chairman to succeed Miller. Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, emerged as the top choice for this job.

Monday night, in the convention's keynote speech, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said that in opposing the Democrats the Republicans should offer the nation "a choice between fear and faith."

Hatfield characterized the Johnson administration as fear-breeding and reactionary, accused President Johnson of doubletalk and needled him about the Bobby Baker case.

Republicans have said they intend to make a campaign issue out of the private financial operations of Bobby Baker, secretary to the Senate Democrats when Johnson was their leader. Johnson accepted a hi-fi set a Washington insurance man said he sent Johnson at Baker's suggestion.

Urges Faith

Hatfield got resounding applause when he criticized the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Communist party. He urged Republicans, Democrats and independents to "set out again on the pilgrimage of faith—as opposed to fear and hatred."

For the first time in 36 years former President Herbert Hoover, now 89 and ailing, is not at the Republican convention. He sent a message which was read for him by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Hoover proposed a brief, eight-point declaration of principles in place of the long platform the convention will adopt today and said the Republican party offers the "best assurance that these principles will prevail in the United States."

An emotional peak was reached when Dirksen called for "an ovation to lengthen his span of years." The Cow Palace rocked with cheers.

Both Goldwater and Scranton paid calls on Eisenhower at his hotel Monday. Neither came away with any tangible evidence that the former president is doing anything but remaining neutral in the presidential contest.

Pond Water Saves House

A irrigation pond on the Charles Close farm in Red Hook, town of Canaan, Columbia County, provided water to save the farm house early Monday when fire destroyed a huge dairy barn with an estimated loss of $30,000. Seven calves, a bull, dairy equipment, several tons of feed and 3,700 bales of hay were destroyed. The fire was discovered at 5 a. m. when flames were seen shooting from the two-story structure. Cause is undetermined.

To Open Warehouse Bids

Bids were scheduled to be opened at 2 p. m. today for construction of a 100,000 square foot warehouse at the Kingston IBM plant. The bidding calls for a "design and bid" project, under which the bidders submit bids on a structure of their own design as outlined by the requirements of the company. Several bids were being submitted, among them those of two local contractors.

Postal Savings Yields Less Than U. S. H, E Bonds

Q) "I have $2,500 in Postal Savings. I have discovered that my interest over a period of nine years and 8 months amounted to only $458.31. This seems small. Should I withdraw my Postal Savings account and buy U. S. savings bonds?"

—S. N.

A You are right in your statement that interest on Postal Savings accounts is small—amounting, I am told, to slightly less than 2 per cent.

I believe that you would be justified in withdrawing your money and putting it into either series E or H which yield 3¾ per cent to maturity. Which issue you purchase depends on your need for current income.

Series E is bought at a discount and accrues income until maturity at par. Series H pays interest by check from the government semi-annually.

I should point out to you that Federal income tax on Series E can be deferred until maturity whereas Series H interest is subject to this tax for the year in which interest is paid.

Q) "My experience is limited to several ventures in highly speculative issues that have proven to be very expensive. I am 30 years old, married with two children. I have a $16,000 a year income, $4,500 in a savings bank, $1,200 in a credit union, $20,000 life insurance, and I buy a $100 E bond every month. Your advice regarding changes in my situation would be greatly appreciated."—A. J.

A) I am glad that you have discovered so early in life that highly speculative stocks can be expensive.

Your present financial position is very sound, indeed. I would, however, sincerely consider upgrading your insurance position since the return on your policy's face value would not exceed $1,000 annually, if anything happened to you.

I would not disturb your present savings position but I would start a Monthly Investment Plan with one of the many Big Board firms that offer them. My initial purchase would be a strong growth stock—Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Soviet Rejects Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union again rejected today the U.S. proposal for gradual nuclear disarmament.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament talks the American concept is unacceptable to Russia and could not serve as a negotiating basis.

Tsarapkin insisted that planned talks by experts on how to reduce nuclear weapons carriers during disarmament must be based solely on the two-year-old proposal by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Hudson Boy Rescued

LEGAL NOTICE

LOCAL LAW No. 1 of 1964 (Known as Local Law No. 89 of the City of Kingston)

A LOCAL LAW TO AMEND THE LOCAL LAW ADOPTED BY THE CITY OF KINGSTON, AUTHORIZING THE CONDUCT OF BINGO BY CERTAIN ORGANIZATIONS FOR CERTAIN PURPOSES IN SUCH CITY.

BE IT ENACTED by the Common Council of the City of Kingston as follows:

LOCAL LAW No. 1 OF THE YEAR 1958 ENTITLED "A LOCAL LAW PERMITTING AND REGULATING THE CONDUCT OF BINGO GAMES WITHIN THE TERRITORIAL LIMITS OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, PURSUANT TO ARTICLE ONE, SECTION NINE OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AS AMENDED, ARTICLE 14 G OF THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AS AMENDED, AND ARTICLE 19B OF THE EXECUTIVE LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AS AMENDED," IS HEREBY AMENDED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this Local Law is to amend a local law adopted by the City of Kingston, dated August 5, 1958, authorizing the conduct of bingo in such city to change the reference in such local law from Article 14-G of the General Municipal Law to Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law, as so renumbered by Chapter 438 of the Laws of 1962, and to set forth therein the following additional amended and renumbered restrictions concerning the conduct of the game of bingo by an authorized organization in such City as required by Section 479 of the General Municipal Law of the State of New York as amended by Chapter 438 of the Laws of 1962:

1. No person, form, association, corporation or organization other than a licensee under the provisions of Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law, shall conduct such game or shall lease or otherwise make available for conducting bingo a hall or other premises for any consideration whatsoever, direct or indirect.

2. No bingo games shall be held, operated or conducted on or within any leased premises if rental under such lease is to be paid, wholly or partly, on the basis of a percentage of the receipts or net profits derived from the operation of such game.

3. No authorized organization licensed under the provisions of Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law shall purchase or receive any supplies or equipment specifically designed or adapted for use in the conduct of bingo games from other than a supplier licensed under the Bingo Control Law or from another authorized organization.

4. The entire net proceeds of any game of bingo and of any rental shall be exclusively devoted to the lawful purposes of the organization permitted to conduct the same.

5. No prize shall exceed the sum or value of two hundred fifty dollars in any single game of bingo.

6. No series of prizes on any one bingo occasion shall aggregate more than one thousand dollars.

7. No person except a bona fide member of any such organization shall participate in the management or operation of such game.

8. No person shall receive any remuneration for participating in the management or operation of any game of bingo.

9. The unauthorized conduct of a bingo game and any willful violation of any provision of this local law shall constitute and be punishable as a misdemeanor.

Section 2. This local law shall take effect thirty days after enactment hereof as provided by Section 497 of the General Municipal Law.

Text Published

Ward boundaries would be restricted by January 1, 1966 for the purpose of electing county supervisors so that the ward having the greatest population will not exceed the ward having the smallest population by more than 10 per cent.

The Charter also calls for changes in the function of the mayor in both the Fire and Water boards, and that of board commissioners.

The complete text of the proposed Charter was published in The Freeman last Friday, July 10. Funds for publishing the text were provided to the Charter Revision Commission through a bequest from the estate of Cornelia H. Staples.

GOP Convention Color

Things Clearing Up In Foggy Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Things are clearing up in foggy San Francisco.

The Republican National Convention, which apparently is for Barry Goldwater of Arizona, has now been keynoted by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, whose state delegate is still committed to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who is now for Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who wants to debate Goldwater, who wants to debate Lyndon B. Johnson, who wants to debate the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which is politically neutral at a time when pulbisher Henry Luce, they say, is for Scranton while Clare Boothe Luce, his wife, is clearly for Goldwater.

Ike Can't Remember When

Alf Landon hasn't been heard from, and Tom Dewey is too busy with his law practice in New York to make the San Francisco convention, which is really in Daly City, Calif., but Dwight D. Eisenhower, the neutral television commentator, did, and he says he can't remember whether it was in public or private that he called Goldwater impulsive.

Hatfield, a lean, clean-cut young man, wore the television make-up which couldn't hide his Ivy League look from this Far West convention, but they applauded him, anyway. Especially when he jumped on the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society and the Communist party. A delegate who might have wanted to applaud one attack and not the others found himself helpless because all three targets were bracketed in one sentence.

They all applauded Hatfield when he cast suspicion on the musical tastes of an unnamed family from Texas.

"You cannot," he said, "sweep a hi-fi set under the rug and expect the bulge not to show."

Actors Take Over

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, clearly the most dramatic mailman in the country, delivered a letter from Herbert Hoover in New York. The former president asked the delegates to adopt a short platform. They're not likely to. Asking politicians to keep anything short, except their memory, is like asking Jayne Mansfield to give up decolletage.

Dirksen turned the proceedings over to two actors named Lloyd Nolan and Victor Jory. Alternating at the microphone, they gave a dramatic reading in which they quoted American patriots all the way from Ben Franklin to Teddy Roosevelt to Dwight Eisenhower, ending in a thumping crescendo—"and that is our call to greatness!" As a dramatic vehicle, the critic from Variety thought it needed more work out of town.

Will Ask Court To Force Replay Of GOP Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—A Negro attorney said today he plans to ask a federal court in San Francisco to declare the Republican National Convention unconstitutional and require a replay of the whole affair.

Paul Zuber of New York, who was a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in the New Hampshire primary, said he would file his request for a restraining order Thursday.

He can't do it sooner, he said, because he must be in court in New York.

Zuber charged that Negroes were systematically excluded from delegations from Southern states, and that in some Northern states both whites and Negroes were excluded unless they pledged to support Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidential nomination.

If their actions go unchallenged, he said, "the entire Republican party will be indicted."

Zuber said he would ask the court to review the convention's procedures under federal laws which require governmental bodies to extend citizens equal protection of the laws, guaranteed by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The convention, he said, is a quasi-governmental agency.

Zuber, who has been active in school desegregation suits in Englewood, N.J., and New Rochelle, N.Y., said he is not an officer of any civil rights group.

Taylor Presents Credentials to South Viet Chief

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who arrived one week ago, presented his credentials today to Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, South Vietnamese chief of state.

Taylor, dressed in white sharkskin suit, was accompanied by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of U.S. forces here, and deputy ambassador U. Alexis Johnson in the brief ceremony.

Taylor thus formally replaced Henry Cabot Lodge, who returned to Washington last month to campaign for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, struggling to resume the climb of recent weeks, milled inconclusively early this afternoon.

Strength in the auto stocks and a few other groups pretty well braked a slide that began late Monday and continued briefly in early going today.

At noon, The Associated Press 60-stock average was higher by .1 at 318.8, with industrials off .1, rails ahead by .5 and utilities unchanged.

General Motors and Chrysler sparked the motors group, marching once more to all-time highs. GM at one point reached 93½, up 1, and Chrysler hit an early peak of 53, up ⅜. American Motors was up fractionally and Ford unchanged.

Strength also showed in the rails with the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Santa Fe higher.

Steels were mostly lower, as were airlines. Tobaccos, drugs, building materials, metals, oils, aircrafts, mail orders, rubbers and farm implements were mixed.

Trans World Airlines recovered slightly from Monday's thumping when the issue sank over 4 points. TWA picked up ¼ to 43⅞.

AT&T was off ¼ at 72½ on profit-taking after last week's good rise.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were irregularly higher. Trading was moderate.

Bond prices were mostly mixed.

highway crews on removing the decking from the bridge in preparation for the steel contractors to begin the strengthening of the strutcure and the erection of new guard railing. The bridge will be strengthened to carry loads of some six to seven tons, which will be ample to permit school buses and other small trucks to cross.

Plans for a new, wider bridge were prepared several years ago but were abandoned because of the cost. At that time it was estimated the cost would be close to $1 million.

Under a contract recently awarded to the Costanzi Construction Company, the present one-way bridge will be strengthened to accommodate heavier loads and new guard railings will be erected. A system of one-way traffic lights will be installed. The contract price was $64,461.

Serves School Buses

In 1963 an appropriation of $20,000 was made for repairs to the bridge which carried a considerable amount of traffic, including many school buses. At one time there was considerable controversy over the danger of school buses carrying children over the bridge and the children were discharged at the bridge and to walk over the bridge.

It is expected the work will be completed during the summer school recess and the bridge opened to traffic by the reopening of school in the fall or shortly thereafter.

3 U. S. Officers,

Five other Americans have been killed in ambushes on the road in the past two years.

The deaths Monday brought the total of U.S. military men killed in action in South Viet Nam since December 1961 to 157. Another 983 Americans have been wounded in action.

The names of the latest American dead were withheld in Saigon, but in Washington the Army announced the deaths in Viet Nam of Maj. Joseph W. Burkett, Stephenville, Tex.; Capt. Billy T. Hatfield, Fayetteville, N. C., and Capt. Richard M. Sroka, Pueblo, Colo.

A U.S. spokesman said the convoy was passing through rolling, lightly jungled terrain on a routine mission when it was stopped by road mines.

Volleys of fire poured into the seven trucks, four armored cars, and five jeeps. Most of the casualties occurred in the first few minutes of the ambush, U.S. sources said.

The firefight lasted about an hour, the American spokesman said. Then the Communists slipped back into the jungle.

Ranger troops and fighter-bombers were sent to the area but made no contact with the attackers.

American sources said the major who was killed was the senior military adviser in Binh Long Province and the two captains were the intelligence officer for the province and a Ranger adviser to the Vietnamese army's 34th Battalion.

R. I. Incident

Negro Girl, 10, Almost Victim Of Shotgun Blast

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP)—A shotgun blast was fired into the home of a Negro family Monday night, narrowly misssing a 10-year-old girl who was making a sandwich in the kitchen.

Police posted a guard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Potter and called on state authorities and the University of Rhode Island criminology laboratory for help in the investigation.

Lugene Potter said she was making a sandwich shortly before midnight when the blast, apparently fired from a nearby road, shattered the window next to her. She was not injured.

Three other children were in the house at the time. Potter, a mill worker in nearby Wakefield, and his wife were both out.

Mrs. Potter said the family has been the target of shouted abuse for more than 1½ years. On several recent nights, she said, a car has driven past several times, its occupants shouting racial taunts.

The Potters are one of several Negro families which have lived in the Allentown section of North Kingstown for more than two generations.

Police said reports of racial incidents in the area have been rare.

Bloody Break-in

A burglar who entered the DeWitt Lake beach store some time after closing Monday night, left behind a bloody trail. Entrance to the building was gained by breaking a large window and in so doing the person apparently suffered injury. Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone, who investigated the break today, reported the place was splashed with blood. About $12 in cash was missing from the regieter. The place is operated by Ludmila Garkusha.

Natural Death Ruled

Ellenville state police reported the death of Max Hannacker of New York City, who was found dead in a summer cabin near Sam's Point, Town of Wawarsing, Saturday morning, was due to natural causes. Coroner William S. Keyser of Kingston conducted an investigation along with state police and issued a verdict of death from natural causes. The body of Hannacker was found by a friend. Two cousins in New York survive. Graveside services were held at 11 a. m. today in St. Mary's Cemetery.

To Modernize Furnaces

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Koppers Co. announced today it has been awarded a contract for engineering services to modernize gas cleaning equipment and four blast furnaces at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Lackawanna, N.Y., plant.

The work will be done by the Freyn specialty department of Koppers engineering and construction division. No cost was given.

Report Mikoyan

the source said, Mikoyan is evidently the man.

Brezhnev, at one time, was considered a likely heir-apparent to Khrushchev, but he appears lately to have lost ground, partly because of illness.

He was elected chairman of the Presidium of the supreme Soviet, which in effect is president of the Soviet Union, in 1960 and was re-elected in 1962.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Sassy Steaks for Quick Barbecues

SASSY STEAK sandwiches are quick and delicious.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprises Assn.

Sassy steak sandwiches are tailored for quick and easy outdoor cooking. The cubed steaks are marinated in a simple sauce. Then, when ready to be cooked, brush them with bottled brown bouquet sauce to give a rich brown look despite quick grilling. Grill onion slices at the same time.

Macaroni salad, whole tomatoes, frozen lemonade and watermelon round out the barbecue menu. To keep clean-up work to a minimum, use paper plates and cups.

SASSY STEAK SANDWICHES
(6 sandwiches)

¼ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 cubed steaks (4 to 6 ounces each)
Bottled brown bouquet sauce
6 large hamburger buns

Mix oil with salt, seasoned salt, and pepper. Marinate steaks in oil mixture in refrigerator for several hours.

When ready to cook over charcoal, brush marinated steaks with bottle brown bouquet sauce. Cook quickly over hot coals, turning to brown both sides. While steaks are cooking, toast buns. Serve steaks in buns with grilled onion slices.

Goldwater Still

Letter Does It

If there was any chance that Goldwater might ask Scranton to share the ticket with him, it apparently disappeared finally when the Pennsylvania governor said Monday night that he did not write a bitterly critical letter forwarded under his signature to Goldwater Sunday night. But Scranton assumed the responsibility for it.

John Conmy, a Scranton press aide, said the governor had not seen the letter before it went to Goldwater and had not ordered it sent to the senator. He did not volunteer the names of those who were responsible.

Says Issues Important

Scranton said that some of the letter's acrid language attacking "Goldwaterism" was "too strong." But he said he still thinks the issues with which it dealt are important.

It was generally understood in the Goldwater camp that his choice for his vice presidential running mate was Rep. William E. Miller, New York Roman Catholic, who heads the Republican National Committee. But there was a reservation that if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower should request it, some approach to Scranton might be made.

Goldwater said, after hearing Scranton's explanation on the letter that "I feel more charitable about it now."

If the presidential and vice presidential nominations thus seemed to be more or less resolved, there remained the choice of a new national chairman to succeed Miller. Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, emerged as the top choice for this job.

Monday night, in the convention's keynote speech, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said that in opposing the Democrats the Republicans should offer the nation "a choice between fear and faith."

Hatfield characterized the Johnson administration as fear-breeding and reactionary, accused President Johnson of doubletalk and needled him about the Bobby Baker case.

Republicans have said they intend to make a campaign issue out of the private financial operations of Bobby Baker, secretary to the Senate Democrats when Johnson was their leader. Johnson accepted a hi-fi set a Washington insurance man said he sent Johnson at Baker's suggestion.

Urges Faith

Hatfield got resounding applause when he criticized the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Communist party. He urged Republicans, Democrats and independents to "set out again on the pilgrimage of faith—as opposed to fear and hatred."

For the first time in 36 years former President Herbert Hoover, now 89 and ailing, is not at the Republican convention. He sent a message which was read for him by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Hoover proposed a brief, eight-point declaration of principles in place of the long platform the convention will adopt today and said the Republican party offers the "best assurance that these principles will prevail in the United States."

An emotional peak was reached when Dirksen called for "an ovation to lengthen his span of years." The Cow Palace rocked with cheers.

Both Goldwater and Scranton paid calls on Eisenhower at his hotel Monday. Neither came away with any tangible evidence that the former president is doing anything but remaining neutral in the presidential contest.

Pond Water Saves House

A irrigation pond on the Charles Close farm in Red Hook, town of Canaan, Columbia County, provided water to save the farm house early Monday when fire destroyed a huge dairy barn with an estimated loss of $30,000. Seven calves, a bull, dairy equipment, several tons of feed and 3,700 bales of hay were destroyed. The fire was discovered at 5 a. m. when flames were seen shooting from the two-story structure. Cause is undetermined.

To Open Warehouse Bids

Bids were scheduled to be opened at 2 p. m. today for construction of a 100,000 square foot warehouse at the Kingston IBM plant. The bidding calls for a "design and bid" project, under which the bidders submit bids on a structure of their own design as outlined by the requirements of the company. Several bids were being submitted, among them those of two local contractors.

Postal Savings Yields Less Than U. S. H, E Bonds

Q) "I have $2,500 in Postal Savings. I have discovered that my interest over a period of nine years and 8 months amounted to only $458.31. This seems small. Should I withdraw my Postal Savings account and buy U. S. savings bonds?"

—S. N.

A You are right in your statement that interest on Postal Savings accounts is small—amounting, I am told, to slightly less than 2 per cent.

I believe that you would be justified in withdrawing your money and putting it into either series E or H which yield 3¾ per cent to maturity. Which issue you purchase depends on your need for current income.

Series E is bought at a discount and accrues income until maturity at par. Series H pays interest by check from the government semi-annually.

I should point out to you that Federal income tax on Series E can be deferred until maturity whereas Series H interest is subject to this tax for the year in which interest is paid.

Q) "My experience is limited to several ventures in highly speculative issues that have proven to be very expensive. I am 30 years old, married with two children. I have a $16,000 a year income, $4,500 in a savings bank, $1,200 in a credit union, $20,000 life insurance, and I buy a $100 E bond every month. Your advice regarding changes in my situation would be greatly appreciated."—A. J.

A) I am glad that you have discovered so early in life that highly speculative stocks can be expensive.

Your present financial position is very sound, indeed. I would, however, sincerely consider upgrading your insurance position since the return on your policy's face value would not exceed $1,000 annually, if anything happened to you.

I would not disturb your present savings position but I would start a Monthly Investment Plan with one of the many Big Board firms that offer them. My initial purchase would be a strong growth stock—Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Soviet Rejects Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union again rejected today the U.S. proposal for gradual nuclear disarmament.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament talks the American concept is unacceptable to Russia and could not serve as a negotiating basis.

Tsarapkin insisted that planned talks by experts on how to reduce nuclear weapons carriers during disarmament must be based solely on the two-year-old proposal by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Hudson Boy Rescued

LEGAL NOTICE

LOCAL LAW No. 1 of 1964
(Known as Local Law No. 89 of the City of Kingston)

A LOCAL LAW TO AMEND THE LOCAL LAW ADOPTED BY THE CITY OF KINGSTON, AUTHORIZING THE CONDUCT OF BINGO BY CERTAIN ORGANIZATIONS FOR CERTAIN PURPOSES IN SUCH CITY.

BE IT ENACTED by the Common Council of the City of Kingston as follows:

LOCAL LAW No. 1 OF THE YEAR 1958 ENTITLED "A LOCAL LAW PERMITTING AND REGULATING THE CONDUCT OF BINGO GAMES WITHIN THE TERRITORIAL LIMITS OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, PURSUANT TO ARTICLE ONE-SECTION NINE OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AS AMENDED, ARTICLE 14 G OF THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AS AMENDED, AND ARTICLE 19B OF THE EXECUTIVE LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK AS AMENDED," IS HEREBY AMENDED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this Local Law is to amend a local law adopted by the City of Kingston, dated August 5, 1958, authorizing the conduct of bingo in such city to change the reference in such local law from Article 14-G of the General Municipal Law to Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law, as so renumbered by Chapter 438 of the Laws of 1962, and to set forth therein the following additional amended and renumbered restrictions concerning the conduct of the game of bingo by an authorized organization in such City as required by Section 479 of the General Municipal Law of the State of New York as amended by Chapter 438 of the Laws of 1962:

1. No person, form, association, corporation or organization other than a licensee under the provisions of Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law, shall conduct such game or shall lease or otherwise make available for conducting bingo a hall or other premises for any consideration whatsoever, direct or indirect.

2. No bingo games shall be held, operated or conducted on or within any leased premises if rental under such lease is to be paid, wholly or partly, on the basis of a percentage of the receipts or net profits derived from the operation of such game.

3. No authorized organization licensed under the provisions of Article 14-H of the General Municipal Law shall purchase or receive any supplies or equipment specifically designed or adapted for use in the conduct of bingo games from other than a supplier licensed under the Bingo Control Law or from another authorized organization.

4. The entire net proceeds of any game of bingo and of any rental shall be exclusively devoted to the lawful purposes of the organization permitted to conduct the same.

5. No prize shall exceed the sum or value of two hundred fifty dollars in any single game of bingo.

6. No series of prizes on any one bingo occasion shall aggregate more than one thousand dollars.

7. No person except a bona fide member of any such organization shall participate in the management or operation of such game.

8. No person shall receive any remuneration for participating in the management or operation of any game of bingo.

9. The unauthorized conduct of a bingo game and any willful violation of any provision of this local law shall constitute and be punishable as a misdemeanor.

Section 2. This local law shall take effect thirty days after enactment hereof as provided by Section 497 of the General Municipal Law.

Text Published

Ward boundaries would be restricted by January 1, 1966 for the purpose of electing county supervisors so that the ward having the greatest population will not exceed the ward having the smallest population by more than 10 per cent.

The Charter also calls for changes in the function of the mayor in both the Fire and Water boards, and that of board commissioners.

The complete text of the proposed Charter was published in The Freeman last Friday, July 10. Funds for publishing the text were provided to the Charter Revision Commission through a bequest from the estate of Cornelia H. Staples.

Cliches Make Early Debut at GOP Meet

"Will the sergeant - at - arms please clear the aisles so we may commence our business?"

And so the political pageant began at the Cow Palace in San Francisco. Television viewers started to savor the time-worn phrases that are hauled out every four years.

Roving Cameras Help

Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska was the first to offer the surefire chestnut: "We are here to nominate the next president of the United States."

Cliche piled on cliche as the Republican National Convention went about the business of getting organized. Fortunately for the television viewers, though not for the speakers, the three networks roved their cameras about the Cow Palace and the beehive hotels of San Francisco in search of more vital copy.

The pickings were lean. There was much ado about the letter which Gov. William W. Scranton sent to Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scranton appeared on all three networks to deny he wrote it but accepted responsibility for it. There were recurring shots of CORE pickets outside the arena. Brief, abortive fights over convention rules and credentials failed to generate much drama.

The afternoon coverage featured a press conference by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. On one question he drew laughter by replying with a convention device: "Pennsylvania passes."

Dirksen, Hatfield Excel

The evening oratory offered two splendid examples of political style. First came Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who offered a tribute to Herbert Hoover and then read a message from the former president.

No man to attempt spellbinding an inattentive crowd, Dirksen waited for the maximum of silence he could expect in the cavernous pavilion. Then, his hair elegantly askew, he began intoning his speech in his familiar bass-viol voice.

The keynoter, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, used more modern techniques, if not phraseology. His opener: "We meet here to nominate the next president of the United States."

Youth Canteen in Kingston

I feel compelled to speak out on something that has been troubling me for a long time. I have decided not to wait until my children are teenagers because, then, I do not intend to speak about it, I intend to do something about it. I shall leave no avenue untraveled or no stone unturned until there is a wonderful, well-chaperoned canteen for teenagers in the City of Kingston.

I read a letter in your column a few months ago written by a mother who was concerned about this same problem—her teenagers wanted someplace to go on Friday and Saturday nights. Well, her children weren't the only ones. I have talked and made it a point to do this, to many teenagers and they all told me they have no place to go and nothing to do so they make their own entertainment such as it is—and these are good children. They go out to a night-club to meet for some "togetherness" with boys and girls their own age, a place where drinks are served which could end up in some trouble. Or, they hang around on street corners—such as the post office—just to talk and get a chance to be with each other.

Now, I know there are many parents who have nice homes with plenty of room to have friends in for their children, but there are just as many who do not. There isn't much room for dancing when teenagers get together.

Don't we care anymore or is it we don't care enough—enough to put forth some effort and go see our alderman, meet with board councils and representatives and get a teenage canteen? Are the majority of parents too busy with bowling, card parties, lodges etc. to have time to be concerned with giving our children something worthwhile?

Two years ago I made a personal telephone call to then Mayor Radel and asked him about a teenage canteen. I told him of a wonderful canteen in Geneva, N. Y. When I was a teenager I lived there for two years and lived at this canteen. There was always something to do. I just want to tell you about it so you can see the possibilities.

On the bottom floor, a basement, was a juke box free of charge. You just selected a record and needed no money to play it. A large dance area was fenced in to look like a corral. There were always chaperones so if there was any cutting up you were told to leave and that was it. On the next floor or first floor was a soda fountain where ice cream, cookies and cold drinks were served at a minimum charge. Also there were a number of ping pong tables, shuffel boards and tables for games—checkers, dominoes etc. This canteen was open everyday from 3 to 6 and Friday night until 10 and Saturday until 12. Every Saturday night a dance band was brought in and admission was 50 cents to pay for it. It was closed on Sundays.

This canteen was so successful it must still be in operation, but it became so well known that even teenagers from neighboring towns came in for special Saturday night dances. There was never any trouble or disturbances. There were parents who cared enough to take turns chaperoning.

It was shortly thereafter the former building of the New York Telephone Company was turned into a canteen. What happened—I understand that it is closed now.

Well is there anyone who cares enough to do something. We spend money on so many things not as worthwhile as a teenage canteen. Teenagers are begging for a decent place to go —Will you give it to them?

Need for Solitude

Great Refreshmen Is Being Alone in Midst of Nature

By E. G. MARSHALL
(For Cynthia Lowry)

NEW YORK (AP) — Among the basic needs of civilized man are companionship of one's fellows and the stimulation of contrasting temperaments, interests and tastes. And solitude!

The opportunity for solitude is everywhere around us, but most of us are not receptive to it. Rather a boring companion than loneliness.

We have the radio playing while we eat or even while we bathe. People clutch transistor radios as they ride the bus. In stores there is music, in elevators, and from every corner of every street.

People seeem afraid of silence and their thoughts. The needed for solitude, like many instinctual things, is not recognizable for what it is until it is experienced.

Hard on Nerves, Spirit

One can be alone in a crowded city, certainly, but "cities give not the human senses room enough." The constant hammering of city life erodes one's nerves and spirit.

To be absolutely alone in the midst of nature, with only the sounds of nature, is perhaps the greatest refreshment one can know.

Henry David Thoreau said, "We neeed to witness our own limits transgressed."

These remain fine - sounding words and sentiments until the day when in the raw middle of winter, you are pulling a toboggan acrosss a meadow with thigh-deep snow, a 25-mile wind blowing and a temperature of 12 degrees below zero biting into your marrow. On the toboggan there is a five-gallon can of kerosene, a 100-pound sack of coal and provisions enough to last three or four days.

Feel New Health, Solace

You climb a steep logging road to a sugar house in the woods, pulling the toboggan behind you step by painful step. Feet must be pushed down through the snow to well above the knee. Halfway up you stop and look back and see your tracks being covered by wind-blown snow.

Then you see, at long last, the roof peak of your place in the wild. If you had the breath to sing you would.

Sitting before the hearth, the first flames licking the frozen logs into warm life, a cup of hot tea doing the same for you —a sudden joy lifts your spirits, you feel a new health and solace.

After a day or two of solitude one begins to yearn for companionship, but in a new way. Not for diversion or escape from ennui, or from emptiness, but from fullness; the desire to communicate, to sing the songs one has recalled, to relate an anecdote long forgotten, to talk about the weather.

The enrichment of one's soul does not need discussion for affirmation.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen making their own evaluation of the state of business are noting today three trends:

—The supply of money is expanding faster again after a slowdown earlier in the year.

—Inventories that had been rising fast have taken a tumble.

—Retail sales have eked out only a slim increase but still enough to set a high.

The larger money supply is expected to act as a spur to the economy. The inventory cut is considered as removing, at least for a time, a potential danger watched in any prolonged business upswing. And the retail sales advance, slim as it was in June, is dubbed a show of continuing confidence by the consuming public which can bolster the life expectancy of the business expansion.

Government officials and corporate executives have stressed other phases of the economy: record industrial production, employment and personal incomes; bullish sentiment in the stock market; and record earnings.

But the dollars-and-cents nature of inventories, sales and money supply affects the daily health of business and gives a glimpse of the future.

The Federal Reserve Board puts the money supply at $155.9 billion at the end of June, compared with $153.2 billion in December. The supply is arrived at by adding demand deposits and currency outside banks.

Under the board's fairly easy money policy for the last three years, the money supply had been going up steadily by 3.7 per cent last year. The rate slowed this year, with May standing at $154.5 billion. The sizable increase in June brings the growth rate this year to around 3 per cent.

Some businessmen feel the June gain is due to an easier money policy of late, after a slight lessening of the ease a few months back.

The money supply greases the ways for consumer purchases, business spending, and gives the banks the lendable funds for expansion plans.

Good Reason to Hold Up King

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Fred Karpin points out in his book on play that South is never going to get any trick-taking value out of the heart suit, but that there is a mighty good reason for him not to play dummy's king on West's queen.

East will win the trick with the ace and there is a good chance he will look around for new worlds to conquer and shift to a club. If he does, the defense will pick up three quick club tricks because that suit is situated just right for East and West.

If South plays low from dummy, a really brilliant East might win the trick with the ace and shift to that club, but such brilliancies are not commonplace and the chances are that East will let his partner's queen hold the trick.

A second heart will be led, and South will be able to make the hand. He will ruff, draw trumps, ruff out dummy's last heart and go after diamonds.

Diamonds won't break, but this won't hurt South. He will lead out dummy's last diamond and discard the deuce of clubs from his own hand.

West will be back in the lead and forced to give South a trick.

A club lead will let South make his king, a heart will allaw South to ruff in one hand and discard from the other. Of course, West will be out of trumps and diamonds.

Cliches Make Early Debut at GOP Meet

"Will the sergeant - at - arms please clear the aisles so we may commence our business?"

And so the political pageant began at the Cow Palace in San Francisco. Television viewers started to savor the time-worn phrases that are hauled out every four years.

Roving Cameras Help

Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska was the first to offer the surefire chestnut: "We are here to nominate the next president of the United States."

Cliche piled on cliche as the Republican National Convention went about the business of getting organized. Fortunately for the television viewers, though not for the speakers, the three networks roved their cameras about the Cow Palace and the beehive hotels of San Francisco in search of more vital copy.

The pickings were lean. There was much ado about the letter which Gov. William W. Scranton sent to Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scranton appeared on all three networks to deny he wrote it but accepted responsibility for it. There were recurring shots of CORE pickets outside the arena. Brief, abortive fights over convention rules and credentials failed to generate much drama.

The afternoon coverage featured a press conference by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. On one question he drew laughter by replying with a convention device: "Pennsylvania passes."

Dirksen, Hatfield Excel

The evening oratory offered two splendid examples of political style. First came Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who offered a tribute to Herbert Hoover and then read a message from the former president.

No man to attempt spellbinding an inattentive crowd, Dirksen waited for the maximum of silence he could expect in the cavernous pavilion. Then, his hair elegantly askew, he began intoning his speech in his familiar bass-viol voice.

The keynoter, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, used more modern techniques, if not phraseology. His opener: "We meet here to nominate the next president of the United States."

Youth Canteen in Kingston

I feel compelled to speak out on something that has been troubling me for a long time. I have decided not to wait until my children are teenagers because, then, I do not intend to speak about it, I intend to do something about it. I shall leave no avenue untraveled or no stone unturned until there is a wonderful, well-chaperoned canteen for teenagers in the City of Kingston.

I read a letter in your column a few months ago written by a mother who was concerned about this same problem—her teenagers wanted someplace to go on Friday and Saturday nights. Well, her children weren't the only ones. I have talked and made it a point to do this, to many teenagers and they all told me they have no place to go and nothing to do so they make their own entertainment such as it is—and these are good children. They go out to a night-club to meet for some "togetherness" with boys and girls their own age, a place where drinks are served which could end up in some trouble. Or, they hang around on street corners—such as the post office—just to talk and get a chance to be with each other.

Now, I know there are many parents who have nice homes with plenty of room to have friends in for their children, but there are just as many who do not. There isn't much room for dancing when teenagers get together.

Don't we care anymore or is it we don't care enough—enough to put forth some effort and go see our alderman, meet with board councils and representatives and get a teenage canteen? Are the majority of parents too busy with bowling, card parties, lodges etc. to have time to be concerned with giving our children something worthwhile?

Two years ago I made a personal telephone call to then Mayor Radel and asked him about a teenage canteen. I told him of a wonderful canteen in Geneva, N. Y. When I was a teenager I lived there for two years and lived at this canteen. There was always something to do. I just want to tell you about it so you can see the possibilities.

On the bottom floor, a basement, was a juke box free of charge. You just selected a record and needed no money to play it. A large dance area was fenced in to look like a corral. There were always chaperones so if there was any cutting up you were told to leave and that was it. On the next floor or first floor was a soda fountain where ice cream, cookies and cold drinks were served at a minimum charge. Also there were a number of ping pong tables, shuffel boards and tables for games—checkers, dominoes etc. This canteen was open everyday from 3 to 6 and Friday night until 10 and Saturday until 12. Every Saturday night a dance band was brought in and admission was 50 cents to pay for it. It was closed on Sundays.

This canteen was so successful it must still be in operation, but it became so well known that even teenagers from neighboring towns came in for special Saturday night dances. There was never any trouble or disturbances. There were parents who cared enough to take turns chaperoning.

It was shortly thereafter the former building of the New York Telephone Company was turned into a canteen. What happened—I understand that it is closed now.

Well is there anyone who cares enough to do something. We spend money on so many things not as worthwhile as a teenage canteen. Teenagers are begging for a decent place to go —Will you give it to them?

Mount Cathalia Offering 'Tender Trap' As Third Comedy of Season, Ellenville

The Mount Cathalia Playhouse, Ellenville, New York, is offering its third comedy presentation of the season with The Tender Trap, July 14 through 19.

The Tender Trap, written by Max Schulman and Robert Paul Smith, deals with the plight of confirmed bachelor, Charlie Reader, whose life is drastically changed with the appearance of his long-married friend, Joe McCall.

Joe McCall's get-rich-quick scheme causes many complicated and humorous situations to arise in their lives, and in the lives of their many female friends.

The role of Charlie Reader is played by Joe A. Dorsey. Mr. Dorsey has appeared in such stage productions as West Side Story, Dark at the Top of the Stairs, Separate Tables, and he has toured England in A Sleep of Prisoners.

Joseph Hamer, as Joe McCall, has appeared in two previous Mount Cathalia Playhouse productions A Thousand Clowns and The Seven Year Itch. Mr. Hamer was recently seen in a featured role in the off-Broadway production, The White Rose and the Red. He has toured with the Helen Hayes Repertory Company and with the ANTA Theatre in Education, Inc.

Gwen Van Dam, appearing in the role of Sylvia Crewes, is making her second appearance at the Mount Cathalia Play house, having been seen in The Seven Year Itch. Miss Van Dam was most recently featured as Edie Erskine in the television series, From These Roots, and has also been seen in the East Side, West Side and Patty Duke television shows. She is currently appearing on the motion picture screen in Lilith and Butterfield 8.

The role of Julie Gillis marks the second appearance of Constance Booth at the Mount Cathalia Playhouse, having also been seen in The Seven Year Itch. Miss Booth has appeared with the American Shakespeare Festival, the Old Globe Shakespeare Festival, the Equity Library Theatre, and has recently appeared in Sweet Bird of Youth with Edie Adams.

The Tender Trap is directed by Jim Mendenhall and designed by Richard Jackson. Robert T. Sidney is general manager of the Mount Cathalia Playhouse.

Area residents may reserve tickets by calling the Mount Cathalia Playhouse.

The next presentation of the Mount Cathalia Playhouse will be The Tunnel of Love playing July 21 through July 26.

INVITATIONS SHOULD BE DEFINITE

Q: Is it proper for a person to accept two invitations for the same day? To explain: I invited a friend and her husband to dinner last Sunday. I took it for granted that they would spend the entire day with us and I planned a picnic supper for the evening. About an hour or so after dinner, they said they had to leave to drive back to the city as they promised to play bridge with friends that evening. I thought they were very rude to accept this second invitation. I would like your opinion on this.

A: There was no reason why they should have thought your invitation to midday dinner meant you expected them for the whole day and supper as well. If you had made this clear when you invited them, that would have been quite another matter, but as you didn't, they were certainly not rude in accepting a second invitation for that evening.

A Gift for One's Hostess

Q: There seems to be a difference of opinion on the necessity for taking a present to one's hostess when going to spend a weekend at her house. Some say a present is necessary; others say no. Will you please set us straight on this?

A: Taking a present to one's weekend hostess is not an obligation but it is courteous and done more often that not.

Rising for President of Company

Q: I work in a branch office of a large company. Once a month the president comes in to see how things are going. Very often he will stop at my desk to speak to me. I never know whether I should rise or remain seated. Will you please tell me the correct thing to do in this situation?

A: You should rise for the president of the company unless he tells you to remain seated.

THE GORDON FARM will be one of the homes to be visited during the Dutch Day Fair conducted by the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge Saturday, Aug. 8. This house is believed to have been built about 1775. It came down through the Gordon, Chambers and Roosa families to the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davenport. A generation ago nearly all stone houses received an annual coat of whitewash. This is one of the few remaining houses kept in this state. Tours of this and other historic houses will leave the church from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mrs. Robert Kelder will be in charge of the tours. Luncheon and supper will be served at the church.

Anne Seigal Is Wed To Dr. Ivan Herzog In Garden Ceremony

Miss Anne Seigal of New York City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Seigal of 66 Clinton Avenue, Kingston exchanged marriage vows with Dr. Ivan Herzog, son of Mrs. Lili Herzog, Bronx, N. Y. in a double ring ceremony officiated by Dr. Herbert I. Bloom, rabbi of Temple Emanuel.

The ceremony took place in the garden of the bride's parents 11 a. m. July 5.

Given in marriage by Mr. and Mrs. Seigal, Mrs. Lili Herzog and Dr. Leslie Edinger, the bride wore a self-designed gown of Alencon lace appliqued on silk organza with short sleeves. Her veil was of bridal illusion with bow and she carried roses, daisies and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Myron Seigal of Cleveland, Ohio. She wore a royal blue chiffon dress. Flower girls included Miss Carol Seigal of Cleveland and Miss Judy Marlene Richman of Detroit, Mich., nieces of the bride.

Best man was Myron Seigal of Cleveland, the bridegroom's brother. A reception for 140 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The bride attended American University, Washington, D. C. and Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City. She is a free lance fashion designer.

The bridegroom is associated with Bronx Municipal Hospital, Bronx, N. Y. The couple plans to reside at 1020 Grand Concourse, New York City.

Lynda Noble to Wed Terrence Corkery; September Ceremony

Mrs. Mildred Parslow of 542 Albany Avenue and John J. Noble of Shady, N. Y. announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynda J. Noble to Terrence M. Corkery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corkery of 134 Hunter Street.

Miss Noble is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1963. She is employed by Ferroxcube Corporation.

Mr. Corkery is a 1960 KHS alumnus and has served in the U. S. Army. He is employed by Brinnier and Larios.

Ruth Rubin Offering HebrewFolkProgram At Ohayo Mt. Hall

WILLIAM C. HOYT son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul C. Hoyt of Shokan is among 98 students at the State University of Iowa who have been accepted into the Advanced Course of the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC). To qualify for the program, students must have completed two years of military science courses and regular University work. Selections are based upon academic standing, leadership potential and the student's performance on physical and mental examinations.

We the Women

BY RUTH MILLET

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a woman makes a complimentary statement about another woman and then adds ,"but," what follows is what she really means.

She has a marvelous sense of humor—but it can be a bit sharp and cutting at times.

She's as cute as can be—but awfully scatter-brained.

She's charming to meet—but somehow she strikes me as being just a little too sweet.

She's always been so young-looking—but she's beginning to show her age.

She used to be a good-looking woman—but she has certainly let herself go.

She has beautiful clothes—but she always looks a bit overdressed for the occasion.

She means well—but she just doesn't have any tact.

She has a lot of ideas—but most of them aren't very practical.

She looks so much younger than her husband—but then, of course, she's his third wife.

When one woman is describing another—it's what comes after the "but . . ." that counts.

Mrs. Burnett Hosts Junior Marrieds at Planning Conference

Officers and executive committee members of the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA for 1964-65 met recently at the home of the president, Mrs. Frederick F. Burnett in Sunset Park. Each member present discussed her plans for the coming year in relation to Junior Marrieds and the YWCA in general.

The club will continue to participate in various civic projects as well as presenting an interesting program at each regular meeting. Social activities planned include several that are open to the public. Junior Marrieds will sponsor a fashion show in October and the first meeting of the committee in charge was held at the home of Mrs. Warren J. Schoonmaker, chairman. Mrs. Robert C. Tremper is co-chairman.

The program committee also met at the home of Mrs. William B. Merrill, chairman. As is the custom of the club all programs are arranged during the summer months and are announced at the first meeting in September.

At the annual dinner in June, which was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Anthony A. Cecelia, a gift was presented by Junior Marrieds to be used for the benefit of all groups at the YWCA. It was accepted by Miss Frances Maxwell, executive director who was a guest at the dinner.

Members attending the recent committee meetings and not previously mentioned were Mmes. William E. Barnes, Donald E. Boyce, Milton E. Boyd Jr., Hessel L. Davison, Frank F. Di Pietro, Ronald F. O'Neil, Herbert H. Reuner, Terry T. Read, Robert Lee Smith, Bernard V. Trowbridge and David A. Van Etten.

2500 Students Are Expected to Enroll In New Paltz College Summer Sessions

A total enrollment of nearly 2,500 is expected at the State University College, New Paltz, during the 1964 summer sessions, it has been estimated by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college.

Full time enrollment for the summer, President Haggerty explained, is 1,942 which compares favorably with the 1,873 enrolled last summer. This includes attendance in the following programs: 1,011 students attending the 10-week summer session for undergraduates which began last week and will continue until Septemper 4; 702 in the two 5-week sessions for graduates and advanced undergraduates scheduled from June 29 to July 31 and Aug. 3 to Sept. 4; an additional 204 students enrolled in the Intensive Teacher Training Programs, which are being conducted on the New Paltz campus and also at the State University Agricultural and Technical Institute at Farmingdale, from June 29 to Aug. 8; and 25 students who will attend the Driver Education Workshop from Aug. 24 to Sept. 4.

Those enrolled in the regular undergraduate summer qquarter, totaling 1,011 students, include 201 freshmen, many of whom are entering college for the first time, 111 sophomores, 222 juniors, 238 seniors, 136 graduating seniors, 46 unclassified students, 51 transfer students from other colleges; and 6 unclassified new entrants.

Other specialized programs scheduled throughout the summer which will bring the total enrollment to nearly 2,500 includes an Avocational Fortnight for retired teachers and other senior citizens in the area, from July 13 to July 24; a seminar for teachers and students from Iran under the Experiment in International Living Program, from July 14 to July 24; a workshop for visiting Irish teachers from July 17 to Aug. 8; and a conference on school law which will be held Aug. 6.

President Haggerty expiained that last summer New Paltz began operating on a year-round quarter system in which new students are permitted to enroll at the beginning of each of the four quarters, thus enabling the College to accomodate more students during any 12-month period by utilizing the facilities more fully. Registration for the 1964 summer quarter last week began the second year under this program, but President Haggerty said it was too early to draw any conclusions concerning the increased enrollments under this system.

He did point out, however, that this summer's figures indicate the year-round operaion is attracting an increasing number of freshmen during the summer and that a large number of upperclassmen are returning during the summer quarter to complete their degree requirements in less than four years. He also commented that there has been a definite increase in the number of men attending New Paltz, and he attributed this increase mainly to advances in the liberal arts program and the additional areas in the curriculum for the preparation of high school teachers.

In addition to the formal courses for the summer, the College has arranged for a variety of recreational and cultural activities to round out the extensive summer programs.

Mount Cathalia Offering 'Tender Trap' As Third Comedy of Season, Ellenville

The Mount Cathalia Playhouse, Ellenville, New York, is offering its third comedy presentation of the season with The Tender Trap, July 14 through 19.

The Tender Trap, written by Max Schulman and Robert Paul Smith, deals with the plight of confirmed bachelor, Charlie Reader, whose life is drastically changed with the appearance of his long-married friend, Joe McCall.

Joe McCall's get - rich - quick scheme causes many complicated and humorous situations to arise in their lives, and in the lives of their many female friends.

The role of Charlie Reader is played by Joe A. Dorsey. Mr. Dorsey has appeared in such stage productions as West Side Story, Dark at the Top of the Stairs, Separate Tables, and he has toured England in A Sleep of Prisoners.

Joseph Hamer, as Joe McCall, has appeared in two previous Mount Cathalia Playhouse productions A Thousand Clowns and The Seven Year Itch. Mr. Hamer was recently seen in a featured role in the off-Broadway production, The White Rose and the Red. He has toured with the Helen Hayes Repertory Company and with the ANTA Theatre in Education, Inc.

Gwen Van Dam, appearing in the role of Sylvia Crewes, is making her second appearance at the Mount Cathalia Play house, having been seen in The Seven Year Itch. Miss Van Dam was most recently featured as Edie Erskine in the television series, From These Roots, and has also been seen in the East Side, West Side and Patty Duke television shows. She is currently appearing on the motion picture screen in Lilith and Butterfield 8.

The role of Julie Gillis marks the second appearance of Constance Booth at the Mount Cathalia Playhouse, having also been seen in The Seven Year Itch. Miss Booth has appeared with the American Shakespeare Festival, the Old Globe Shakespeare Festival, the Equity Library Theatre, and has recently appeared in Sweet Bird of Youth with Edie Adams.

The Tender Trap is directed by Jim Mendenhall and designed by Richard Jackson. Robert T. Sidney is general manager of the Mount Cathalia Playhouse.

Area residents may reserve tickets by calling the Mount Cathalia Playhouse.

The next presentation of the Mount Cathalia Playhouse will be The Tunnel of Love playing July 21 through July 26.

A total enrollment of nearly 2,500 is expected at the State University College, New Paltz, during the 1964 summer sessions, it has been estimated by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college.

Full time enrollment for the summer, President Haggerty explained, is 1,942 which compares favorably with the 1,873 enrolled last summer. This includes attendance in the following programs: 1,011 students attending the 10-week summer session for undergraduates which began last week and will continue until Septemper 4; 702 in the two 5-week sessions for graduates and advanced undergraduates scheduled from June 29 to July 31 and Aug. 3 to Sept. 4; an additional 204 students enrolled in the Intensive Teacher Training Programs, which are being conducted on the New Paltz campus and also at the State University Agricultural and Technical Institute at Farmingdale, from June 29 to Aug. 8; and 25 students who will attend the Driver Education Workshop from Aug. 24 to Sept. 4.

Those enrolled in the regular undergraduate summer qquarter, totaling 1,011 students, include 201 freshmen, many of whom are entering college for the first time, 111 sophomores, 222 juniors, 238 seniors, 136 graduating seniors, 46 unclassified students, 51 transfer students from other colleges; and 6 unclassified new entrants.

Other specialized programs scheduled throughout the summer which will bring the total enrollment to nearly 2,500 includes an Avocational Fortnight for retired teachers and other senior citizens in the area, from July 13 to July 24; a seminar for teachers and students from Iran under the Experiment in International Living Program, from July 14 to July 24; a workshop for visiting Irish teachers from July 17 to Aug. 8; and a conference on school law which will be held Aug. 6.

President Haggerty explained that last summer New Paltz began operating on a year-round quarter system in which new students are permitted to enroll at the beginning of each of the four quarters, thus enabling the College to accomodate more students during any 12-month period by utilizing the facilities more fully. Registration for the 1964 summer quarter last week began the second year under this program, but President Haggerty said it was too early to draw any conclusions concerning the increased enrollments under this system.

He did point out, however, that this summer's figures indicate the year-round operaion is attracting an increasing number of freshmen during the summer and that a large number of upperclassmen are returning during the summer quarter to complete their degree requirements in less than four years. He also commented that there has been a definite increase in the number of men attending New Paltz, and he attributed this increase mainly to advances in the liberal arts program and the additional areas in the curriculum for the preparation of high school teachers.

In addition to the formal courses for the summer, the College has arranged for a variety of recreational and cultural activities to round out the extensive summer programs.

George B. Shaw's 'Candida' Will Run For One Week at Woodstock Playhouse

The sparkling and human play which Alexander Woolcott described as the "best comedy written for the English stage in the last hundred years" is the current offering at the Woodstock Playhouse. It will run through Sunday, July 19.

Candida, Shaw's witty testament to love tells the story of a warm-hearted and gracious lady whose tact and intelligence have contributed greatly to the success of her husband, the Rev. Morell. When the adolescent poet, Marchbanks falls in love with her, Morrell tells Candida she must choose between them.

Candida, who looks with amused but genuine sympathy on the antics of the two men bestows her love on the one who needs her most.

Considered by many critics to be the best play that Shaw ever wrote, Candida has been successfully presented in three major revivals on Broadway within the last decade, with Katherine Cornell playing the part of the enchanting heroine in each engagement.

The human quality of Candida is responsible for its continued great appeal. In the words of the prominent critic, John Mason Brown, "It is the wisest, tenderest and most perceptive of all the realistic plays from Shaw's active pen.

Next week the Playhouse will present one of the most exciting and popular musicals ever written, The Threepenny Opera. Tickets may be reserved by calling the box office.

Ulster Business Group Will Hold Meeting Tonight

A regular monthly meeting of the Ulster Business Men's Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Belvedere Restaurant on 9W north.

Charles Turner, president, said that a news letter had been mailed to each member of the association outlining some of the problems on which the association had been actively working. One of those subjects in the congested traffic an Albany Avenue Extension, a matter which has been referred to the State Department of Public Works and to local officials. This matter will be discussed to ascertain how the matter can be remedied.

Another matter for discussion will be bus travel to and from the Town of Ulster by the Urban Transit Corporation. President Turner said transportation on a schedule basis would be to the advantage of the people of both the Town of Ulster and Kingston.

A large attendance is requested because of the discussion of important matters and the desire to come up with a solution of these problems. Refreshments will be served.

Vows of marriage were exchanged June 27 in a double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, between Miss Mary Jeanne Ferraro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Ferraro of Glasco and William O. Provost, Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, son of Mrs. Gertrude Provost of Willsboro, N. Y.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Smith of RD 5, Saugerties, the bride's sister. She wore a jade green chiffon in sheath style with a long matching stole trimmed with Venice lace. A crown in the same color trimmed with seed pearls and aurora crystals secured the circular tulle veil.

Bridesmaids included Miss Marilyn Ferraro of Kingston and Miss Elvira Huste, Glasco, cousins of the bride and Miss Theresa Jane Sasso of Glasco. Their gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor, in peach chiffon.

A reception for 155 guests was held at Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W, Saugerties. The couple planned a wedding journey to Florida on which the bride wore an orange and white coat and dress ensemble.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Albany Business College. She is currently employed as secretary in the Saugerties Central School System.

The bridegroom is a graduate of State University of New York, Plattsburgh. The couple will reside on Fairmont Avenue in Kingston.

Stevenson Talks On Civil Rights At Resnick Fete

Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, and chairman of the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation geared his remarks to the passage of the Civil Rights bill in his address to a large gathering Monday night at Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie.

The event was a dinner honoring Joseph Y. Resnick, prominent Ulster County philanthropist, who celebrated his 40th birthday.

Ambassador Stevenson warned that the passage of the Civil Rights bill " is only the beginnig." He emphasized that the citizenry must find an antidote to the ugly ingredients of life. He also observed that President Johnson said he was pleased that the nation had made the greatest historic step since Lincoln.

Ambassabor Stevenson was appointed by the late President Kennedy shortly after Eleanor Roosevelt's death to head a distinguished group of Americans to recommend an appropriate and enduring memorial for this famous Hyde Park resident, who became the 'First Lady of the World."

The foundation has undertaken the financing of construction of the new wings.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS for Catholics! Now you can protect yourself and your family with low budget hospital and life insurance as a member of the Catholic Benevolent Legion. In addition, you get full membership benefits and privileges in this unique Catholic organization.

WIDE CHOICE OF HOSPITAL PLANS. Our hospital plans help pay for hospital room and board, childbirth, physician's fees, surgery, X-rays, blood transfusions, ambulance costs and countless other medical expenses. Several of our plans provide weekly or monthly paychecks when you're disabled—money that assures you an income when you're sick or hurt!

And here's an important feature! All of these plans are Guaranteed Renewable, either for life or up to a designated age, depending on the plan you choose. This means that, for the period the Guaranteed Renewable provision is in effect, your insurance can NEVER BE CANCELLED by our Society. It means that you can always be sure of having insurance protection no matter how often you have to go to the hospital.

Further, NO CHANGES will be put into your policy when changes occur in your medical history. And, there will be no reduction in benefits due to age! Moreover, the Society cannot change your premium rate unless such change is made at the same time for all persons in your state holding the same form of certificate!

LIFE INSURANCE, TOO! Our low cost life insurance helps solve one of the serious economic problems of life—financial security for yourself or your dependents! The Catholic Benevolent Legion gives you the kind of protection, reliability and service you can trust, always.

A FINANCIALLY SOUND ORGANIZATION, THE CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT LEGION is subject to strict state regulations. We maintain our life insurance funds on a legal reserve basis. This means funds needed to pay off our outstanding life insurance benefits are safely invested in our reserves.

Ulster Business Group Will Hold Meeting Tonight

A regular monthly meeting of the Ulster Business Men's Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Belvedere Restaurant on 9W north.

Charles Turner, president, said that a news letter had been mailed to each member of the association outlining some of the problems on which the association had been actively working. One of those subjects in the congested traffic an Albany Avenue Extension, a matter which has been referred to the State Department of Public Works and to local officials. This matter will be discussed to ascertain how the matter can be remedied.

Another matter for discussion will be bus travel to and from the Town of Ulster by the Urban Transit Corporation. President Turner said transportation on a schedule basis would be to the advantage of the people of both the Town of Ulster and Kingston.

A large attendance is requested because of the discussion of important matters and the desire to come up with a solution of these problems. Refreshments will be served.

Vows of marriage were exchanged June 27 in a double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, between Miss Mary Jeanne Ferraro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Ferraro of Glasco and William O. Provost, Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, son of Mrs. Gertrude Provost of Willsboro, N. Y.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Smith of RD 5, Saugerties, the bride's sister. She wore a jade green chiffon in sheath style with a long matching stole trimmed with Venice lace. A crown in the same color trimmed with seed pearls and aurora crystals secured the circular tulle veil.

Bridesmaids included Miss Marilyn Ferraro of Kingston and Miss Elvira Huste, Glasco, cousins of the bride and Miss Theresa Jane Sasso of Glasco. Their gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor, in peach chiffon.

A reception for 155 guests was held at Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W, Saugerties. The couple planned a wedding journey to Florida on which the bride wore an orange and white coat and dress ensemble.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Albany Business College. She is currently employed as secretary in the Saugerties Central School System.

The bridegroom is a graduate of State University of New York, Plattsburgh. The couple will reside on Fairmont Avenue in Kingston.

Stevenson Talks On Civil Rights At Resnick Fete

Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, and chairman of the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation geared his remarks to the passage of the Civil Rights bill in his address to a large gathering Monday night at Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie.

The event was a dinner honoring Joseph Y. Resnick, prominent Ulster County philanthropist, who celebrated his 40th birthday.

Ambassador Stevenson warned that the passage of the Civil Rights bill " is only the beginig." He emphasized that the citizenry must find an antidote to the ugly ingredients of life. He also observed that President Johnson said he was pleased that the nation had made the greatest historic step since Lincoln.

Ambassabor Stevenson was appointed by the late President Kennedy shortly after Eleanor Roosevelt's death to head a distinguished group of Americans to recommend an appropriate and enduring memorial for this famous Hyde Park resident, who became the 'First Lady of the World."

The foundation has undertaken the financing of construction of the new wings.

CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT LEGION
Opens Membership Enrollment in New Program

HERE'S GOOD NEWS for Catholics! Now you can protect yourself and your family with low budget hospital and life insurance as a member of the Catholic Benevolent Legion. In addition, you get full membership benefits and privileges in this unique Catholic organization.

WIDE CHOICE OF HOSPITAL PLANS. Our hospital plans help pay for hospital room and board, childbirth, physician's fees, surgery, X-rays, blood transfusions, ambulance costs and countless other medical expenses. Several of our plans provide weekly or monthly paychecks when you're disabled—money that assures you an income when you're sick or hurt!

And here's an important feature! All of these plans are Guaranteed Renewable, either for life or up to a designated age, depending on the plan you choose. This means that, for the period the Guaranteed Renewable provision is in effect, your insurance can NEVER BE CANCELLED by our Society. It means that you can always be sure of having insurance protection no matter how often you have to go to the hospital. Further, NO CHANGES will be put into your policy when changes occur in your medical history. And, there will be no reduction in benefits due to age! Moreover, the Society cannot change your premium rate unless such change is made at the same time for all persons in your state holding the same form of certificate!

LIFE INSURANCE, TOO! Our low cost life insurance helps solve one of the serious economic problems of life—financial security for yourself or your dependents! The Catholic Benevolent Legion gives you the kind of protection, reliability and service you can trust, always.

A FINANCIALLY SOUND ORGANIZATION, THE CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT LEGION is subject to strict state regulations. We maintain our life insurance funds on a legal reserve basis. This means funds needed to pay off our outstanding life insurance benefits are safely invested in our reserves.

Hooray for the Red, White and Blue!

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Bright as the Fourth of July and sizzling with firecracker freshness are summer play togs for land and sea.

the gal who sails over the waves And the well-dressed skipper will be wearing a knit sweat-shirt and natty white ducks.

Tops serve as a pivot for gay summer sportswear and mix equally well with skirts, skirts and trim pants. And for the ladies they go to all lengths from brief midriffs to long shirt-tails.

Cotton knits are the answer to all vacation fashion problems. They hold their shape, don't wrinkle and are lightweight and comfortable in sunny climes.

Although firehouse red, bright blue and white are the season's hit combo, there are lots of other bright color teams around. A close second in popularity will be black, white and emerald green.

Late Start No Help to Scranton

Goldwater Spent 3½ Years Building Delegate Strength

By JAMES MARLOW
Asssociated Press News Analyst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This Republican convention has all the usual—bands, singing, too many speeches—and no fire, thanks to the man with the extinguisher, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Two things looked certain before the delegates got here: that Goldwater had the presidential nomination locked up and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton had no chance for it.

Every time Scranton tried to light a match it got squirted with silence, or near-silence, by the highly confident, well-oiled Goldwater organization.

The attitude and the strategy were obvious enough: Why get Scranton any more attention by arguing with him?

Futile From Beginning

There's no sign Scranton has been able to inflame the delegates from the time he announced his opposition to Goldwater last June 12. On the contrary, his bid for the nomination so far has looked extremely inept and futile.

This is an example:

Sunday night, the convention eve, Goldwater received a letter over Scranton's signature in contemptuous language which the governor himself now says was "too strong." Goldwater was angry. But Goldwater's aides played it cool.

They sent a copy of the letter to every delegate and alternate delegate in the belief it would backfire against Scranton. They attached a note from Goldwater's campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, who said the letter "tragically" reflected on the party and the convention.

But Monday Scranton said he didn't compose the letter, and an aide said the governor hadn't seen it before it went to Goldwater. But Scranton said he is responsible for the letter, nevertheless.

Built Up Strength

By the time Scranton had decided to get into the contest in June, after wrestling with himself, Goldwater already had enormous delegate strength. He had been building it for 3½ years. Scranton had only about six weeks before the convention to undo it.

His main argument for getting into the race, of course, had to be that Goldwater was not the man for the nomination. To be convincing he would have had to show a vast difference between him and Goldwater or a real danger in Goldwater.

Instead, he started off politely, got impolite, got polite again. It was an on-and-off performance. It seemed uncertain. In short, what he waged was anything but a fierce, all-out fight. Finally, he worked up to calling Goldwater unfit for the presidency.

Meanwhile he put great reliance—or appeared to—in the hope that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower would work the necessary magic of swinging delegates to him by coming out in his support.

This kind of impression was further built up by Henry Cabot Lodge after a talk with Eisenhower. Lodge announced he had quit his job as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam to come home to help Scranton win.

Ike Chills Situation

The former president chilled all this by insisting he was staying neutral.

So Scranton lost what might have been his best bet for influencing the delegates. What good, if any, Lodge was ever able to do for Scranton isn't clear at this writing.

Just before the convention Scranton was so obviously not making progress in winning delegates for himself or weaning them away from Goldwater that he went out to Illinois and started shaking hands with commuters in a railroad station.

But most of the Illinois delegates had already lined up with Goldwater. So what was Scranton doing shaking hands with commuters? He explained it was to convince Illinois Republicans to put the heat on the delegates to join up with Scranton. It didn't work.

If Scranton still hoped that somehow Eisenhower might help him, he got his final disillusionment Monday as the convention opened, and Eisenhower held a news conference. He said he wouldn't endorse anyone.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1853, Commodore Matthew C. Perry went ashore at Tokyo with 300 bluejackets and officers to present a letter from President Millard Fillmore to the emperor of Japan; the opening up of Japan to trade the next year was assured.

On this date:

In 1789, the Bastille was stormed and captured, beginning the French Revolution.

In 1918, the son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, Lt. Quentin Roosevelt, was killed in aerial combat and buried with military honors by the Germans.

Five years ago—Minnesota's Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Gov. Orville Freeman announced the candidacy of Sen. Hubert Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination.

One year ago—U.S. and British representatives arrived in Moscow for talks with Russia on a nuclear test-ban treaty.

Clear Woman in Death Of Estranged Husband

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—A housewife has been cleared by a grand jury of a first-degree murder charge in the shooting of her estranged husband who forced his way into her home.

The Ontario County grand jury Monday refused to indict Mrs. Josephine Eastman, 35, of Victor. She was released from the county jail here, where she had been held since the July 7 shooting.

Police said Mrs. Eastman's husband, George Eastman Jr., 37, of Mount Morris, forced his way into her home after the couple exchanged words as he stood outside.

Eastman, a construction worker, was killed with a shotgun blast in the head, police reported.

Mrs. Eastman works in a factory.

The couple had three children, 7, 8, and 10.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

Carl (Bobo) Olson has a 17-year record in the ring and an 18-year-old son who's a whiz-bang athlete in South San Francisco and outweighs the old man by 15 pounds. Bobo has both his families, eight kids all told (four live with his former wife), settled within five miles of each other in the SF area. Amazing Bobo, who ran through a million dollars and never saw more than the $100 a week ex-manager Sid Flaherty doled out, seems to have more hair than when he last showed in the East nine years ago (to get kayoed by Archie Moore). . . .

It's also amazing that 21 years ago, Bobo was a barefoot, 14-year-old bouncer in a Honolulu bottle club—he never wore shoes 'till he was 15. . . "It was a dull night," he mused, "if we didn't have three fights. So we'd go out looking for them." . . .

The back trouble that has bothered Pete Ward since last fall came just after he'd proved his iron man role as the only man to play the first 154 games on the Chicago White Sox schedule last summer. So Skipper Al Lopez decided he'd let the third baseman take it easy and play only an inning or so the last eight games. As Pete was throwing home to complete infield drill for the 155th game, his sacroiliac jumped out and he couldn't straighten up. The second day of practice this spring he reached for a grounder and wound up on his back again for three months. . . .

Manager Lopez laughs off the latest retirement rumor. First, he'd never jump to the front office because it would mean moving from the balmy breezes of Tampa to the whistling winds of Chicago. Second, he admits he thought of quitting a few years ago when he was unhappy with the front office situation—until Ed Short was elevated to general manager. . . .

A young, 21-year-old Negro ex-caddy named Jim Black was an early sensation last January at the Los Angeles Open, start of the pro tour. . . . He was broke, and a funeral director from Chicago, visiting for the Rose Bowl game, made the big gesture and said he'd finance Black. So where's Jim? Back home in Charlotte, N.C., still broke, with some local people expected to dig up a bankroll. . . .

True fealty: Jack Curtice, now the head football coach at the University of California's Santa Barbara branch, is one of the most popular banquet orators in the country. But one speech already blocked out for him in May, 1965, is something special—the 30th anniversary for a high school championship team he coached at Owensboro, Ky. . . .

Mickey Mantle getting ready to play a baseball game looks like the emergency ward at City Hospital (any city). He has six big rolls of bandages tucked by his bench, three for each leg. They're special, foam-padded elastic. He does the wrapping himself. . . .

Whitey Ford was pitching batting practice to Hector Lopez, who signaled that he wanted a curve from the Yankee lefthander. Hector pasted the first one, timing it perfectly. Whitey crossed him up and threw the second curve like a slow change-up. Hector almost broke his back and nubbed it to short. . . . "Just like Rocky Colavito," grinned Ford, ever the competitor. . . .

Between you'n'me, Jim Brosnan was in New York to discuss his soon-due baseball novel. . . . "In the 'Long Season' they wanted to cut down on the martinis," said the former pitcher. "In this one, where I have one chapter on the love life of a ball player, they want more." . . .

Hogan to Play In PGA Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The competitive desire is still there but the "feel" is gone, says Ben Hogan, making a comeback in the PGA Golf Championship at the age of 51.

"I am playing now largely on instinct," said the once-feared Texas hawk today. "It's all mechanical. If everything falls into place I might turn up with a fairly good score, but it would be lucky.

"The thing I miss most is feel for a course. You've got to have it to be a winner. You get it by practice and making a detailed study of the course. I'm not able to do it any more."

Hogan, playing in his first PGA in 11 years, will be one of 165 pros teeing off Thursday over the flat and relatively short Columbus Country Club course in the 46th professional championship.

The years seem to have taken little toll from the grim, strong-jawed onetime blacksmith's son who won four U.S. Opens, two Masters, two PGAs and the British Open to become one of the game's immortals.

There are only small flecks of gray in his hair. His face is nut brown. He is a trim 160 pounds.

He still walks the fairways with a majesty denied other men—stiff-legged from a near fatal auto accident, white cap pulled low over his eyes, his lips a firm line of determination and gripping an inevitable cigarette.

Close associates contend Hogan is hitting the ball as well as he ever did from tee to green but suffers from nerves on the putting greens.

"That's not entirely true," Hogan corrected. "Mechanically, I can still hit the ball and I still try to win, but there's a very important thing that's missing. That's the feel of the course and the inspiration. I don't have that."

Glenerie Club Bridge Results

Mrs. Harold Rakov and Mrs. Irving H. Wheatcroft of Kingston posted a 63 per cent game on the North-South side to take top honors in the regular fractional point game of the Glenerie Bridge club tournament.

On the East-West side, the team of Michael Korol, Hurley and Joseph Mautner, Kingston turned in a fine 58½ per cent game.

Other North-South results:

Allan Stauber and Irving H. Wheatcroft, Kingston 62 per cent.

Miss Dorothy Maroon, Kingston and Charles Hobbs, Poughkeepsie, 60 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pechloff, Kingston, 55 per cent.

Other East-West results:

Dr. John Olivet and Dr. Habeeb Maroon, Kingston, 56 per cent.

Ron Benkert and Dennis Bancher, Poughkeepsie, 52½ per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeFevre, Hurley, 52 per cent.

Finley's Porch Aids Kansas City In 8-6 Triumph

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Home runs were flying over American League fences at a record clip but Al Lopez wasn't concerned—until one of them got lost on Charley Finley's pennant porch.

Then the White Sox pilot blew his top.

There were 25 homers hit in the AL Monday, four more than the previous mark for one league in a five-game schedule and one more than Lopez' count.

He's convinced that Wayne Causey's homer in the second game of a doubleheader, a three-run shot that led to an 8-7 Kansas City victory over the White Sox, was nothing more than a figment of Finley's runaway green-and-gold drawing board.

Chicago had taken the first game 8-6 and was leading 6-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when Causey's drive fell where a pole separates the shortened portion of Municipal Stadium from the high wall in center field.

Loses Debate and Game

The umpires ruled the ball had cleared the porch's low fence. Lopez contended it had hit the wall in center and was playable. Lopez lost the debate and was tossed out of the game when he resumed it an inning later.

Ron Hansen of the White Sox and the Athletics' Jim Gentile then matched eighth - inning homers before Causey's bases-loaded single in the ninth broke up the eight-homer slugfest.

The split cost Chicago a chance to gain 1½ games on league - leading Baltimore, which dropped a 10-inning 4-3 decision to Detroit. The New York Yankees, however, gained a game on the Orioles with a 10-4 rout of Cleveland. Boston blanked Washington 7-0 in the other game scheduled.

The Chicago-Kansas City twin bill produced 11 home runs. First game winner Gary Peters, 10-4, poked a three-run homer to pace the White Sox' 16-hit attack. George Alusik and Dick Green connected for the A's.

Peter Ward, Don Buford, Gene Stephens and Hansen homered for the Sox; Manny Jimenez, Ed Charles, Causey and Gentile for the A's in the nightcap. Green's single, a double by Ken Harrelson and an intentional pass set the stage for Causey's game-winning hit that snapped KC's six-game losing streak.

Lumpe Wins It

Jerry Lumpes' bases - loaded single in the 10th gave the Tigers their second straight one-run victory over Baltimore, which had won 21 of 23 one-run verdicts before Sunday.

Brooks Robinson's two - run ninth - inning homer sent the game into overtime after Don Demeter's solo shot in the second and two unearned runs in the sixth had given the Tigers a 3-1 bulge. Sam Bowens' homers accounted for the Orioles' first run.

The Yankees climbed to within 1½ games of Baltimore with their seventh straight victory over the Indians. Tom Tresh hit a pair of two-run homers—one from each side of the plate—and Mickey Mantle and Clete Boyer also homered, offsetting three Cleveland circuits.

Boston's Bill Monbouquette turned in the top pitching performance—a four-hit shutout—and the Red Sox twice struck for back-to-back homers. Dick Stuart and Lee Thomas connected in the five-run fourth inning and Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliaro duplicated in the eighth.

Minnesota and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

PITCHING — Bill Monbouquette, Red Sox, pitched his first shutout and first complete game of the season, limiting Washington to four hits in 7-0 Boston victory.

BATTING—Lou Brock, Cardinals, collected seven hits in doubleheader sweep over Pittsburgh, slamming homer, double and single in 5-4, 12-inning first game triumph and blasting a homer, triple and two singles in 11-5 nightcap victory.

Nellie Fox Goes Hitless With Borrowed Bat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nellie Fox doesn't have much of an opinion on topless bathing suits, but you can tell he's not altogether crazy about two-piece bats.

Fox, the veteran Houston second baseman who drove in the winning run against National League - leading San Francisco Sunday night, went hitless as the Colts lost to the Giants 5-3 Monday night—just hours after the Great Bat-Breaking Incident of 1964 came to light.

Fox drove in the winning run for the Colts Sunday with a single in the ninth inning off Gaylord Perry, who stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the Giants' dugout. Fox' bat came apart—so he had to use a new one Monday night.

"These new bats are soft," said Fox, "and it takes a while to get them into shape. Perry's action was darn bush."

"What Perry did," said Houston Manager Harry Craft, "was like going into your home and breaking your best set of dishes."

While Fox' new bat held no hits, Lou Brock's old one collected seven as the St. Louis Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 5-4 in 12 innings and 12-5.

Good Day for Brock

Brock, acquired by St. Louis in a trade with the Chicago Cubs, slammed a homer, double and single in the first game and came back with a homer, triple and two singles in the nightcap. He has hit at a .356 clip since joining St. Louis lifting his average to .285.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia remained one game back of the Giants by eding Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs belted the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-4.

Monday night's Houston-San Francisco game was not without incident as Craft was ejected for the second night in a row.

The latest hassle revolved around Umpire Tony Venzon's ruling that Colt shortstop Eddie Kasko had not touched second base on an attempted force out in the ninth inning. That left two Giants on base and led to the decisive runs. Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly brought in the tie-breaker before Jim Hart singled in an insurance run.

The victory went to O'Dell, who this time didn't get into an argument, got an opportunity to pitch and allowed only one hit in four innings of relief work.

At Pittsburgh, the Cardinals lashed 15 hits in the first game before finally winning on Julian Javier's run-scoring single in the 12th inning. Twenty hits and six Pittsburgh errors made the nightcap easier. Bill White hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals.

Beat Spahn

The Phillies, who had lost four straight to left-handers, snapped the string by beating Spahn as Richie Allen slammed a double and triple and scored two runs. Spahn's loss left him with a 6-9 record but he went the distance for the first time in 12 games.

The Cubs beat the Dodgers and Don Drysdale, 11-8 with a five-run uprising after two were out in the sixth inning. Andre Rodgers' three-run homer was the big blow. Larry Jackson got the victory, his 12th against six losses.

Zany Incidents Take Place in Major Leagues

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox owe Washington a player. Vic Power owes the American League $250. And Gaylord Perry owes the Houston Colts $3.98.

Such was the situation today in baseball's zany world after a hectic Monday that produced these developments:

—The Senators and White Sox completed a trade one month after the trading deadline with first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron and pitcher Carl Bouldin going to Chicago in exchange for first baseman Joe Cunningham and a player to be named later.

—The American League denied a hearing to Vic Power of the Los Angeles Angels, who has been fined $250 and suspended for 10 days for allegedly spitting in an umpire's face.

—The National League acknowledged it had received a protest from the Colts because Perry, a San Francisco relief pitcher, broke one of Nellie Fox' bats. The Colts also said Perry was being billed for the cost of the bat.

Double Waiver Deal

The Senators-White Sox deal was called a double waiver transaction because they could not call it anyting else.

Under baseball law, player deals made after June 15 must be via the waiver route with a waiver price of $20,000 attached to each piece of merchandise.

Now, the White Sox will waive another player to the Senators in a week or 10 days to complete the transaction.

Power's actions in the first game of a doubleheader last Friday night against Chicago were reported to AL headquarters by Umpire Jim Honochick, who said Power "bumped me three times and spit in my face deliberately and willfully."

Power said he hadn't.

The American League, which never announces refusals to grant hearings, said through league publicist Joe McKenney: "We refused a hearing. We felt that under the league constitution we did not have to grant a hearing and so we did not do so."

The Perry-Fox development was the latest to be brought out after Sunday's game at Houston in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was thrown out for arguing even before he had made one pitch and Perry sat down on the mound to change his shoes after getting a hurry-up call to replace O'Dell.

Fox, who previously had singled in the tying run for the Colts, drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth inning. Perry, in a rage, stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the side of the Giants' dugout.

Pro Grid Camps Commence; Bears Feature Many Rookies

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears are back at work, getting ready to defend their National Football League championship. First item of business for George Halas and his staff will be sharpening up the offense.

Rookies were in the majority Monday when the Bears' early camp opened at St. Joseph's College at Rensselaer, Ind., where the club has trained for 21 years.

Never one to spare the horses, Halas planned to get right down to heavy work immediately just as he did last year. The Bears play the College All-Stars Aug. 7 at Soldier Field in Chicago.

As early as the Bears were, they were not the first to take the field. The Los Angeles Rams, New York Giants, Dallas Cowboys, Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles all beat them to the punch with their rookie camps.

By next Monday all 14 NFL teams will have their camps open and some will have the veterans on hand, too.

The American Football League also is getting ready to swing into action with the New York Jets' rookies and the Denver Broncos due to open up Wednesday. The Jets will train at Peekskill, N.Y. and the Broncos at Fort Collins, Colo.

The first pre-season game is the Bears-All Stars at Chicago Friday, Aug. 7. The rest of the NFL teams, except Pittsburgh, and the AFL will get busy the same weekend. Pittsburgh's first game is Aug. 14. The regular season opens in both leagues the weekend of Sept. 12-13.

Liston's Manager Called to Court In Track Matter

Hogan's office said Supreme Court Justice Charles Marks had issued a certification here requiring the appearance of Nilon before the grand jury July 21, also July 22, 28 and 30.

The certification was taken to Quarter Session Court in Media, Pa., where Nilon appeared. He has an office in Chester, Pa.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

Carl (Bobo) Olson has a 17-year record in the ring and an 18-year-old son who's a whiz-bang athlete in South San Francisco and outweighs the old man by 15 pounds. Bobo has both his families, eight kids all told (four live with his former wife), settled within five miles of each other in the SF area. Amazing Bobo, who ran through a million dollars and never saw more than the $100 a week ex-manager Sid Flaherty doled out, seems to have more hair than when he last showed in the East nine years ago (to get kayoed by Archie Moore). . . .

It's also amazing that 21 years ago, Bobo was a barefoot, 14-year-old bouncer in a Honolulu bottle club—he never wore shoes 'ill he was 15. . . "It was a dull night," he mused, "if we didn't have three fights. So we'd go out looking for them." . . .

The back trouble that has bothered Pete Ward since last fall came just after he'd proved his iron man role as the only man to play the first 154 games on the Chicago White Sox schedule last summer. So Skipper Al Lopez decided he'd let the third baseman take it easy and play only an inning or so the last eight games. As Pete was throwing home to complete infield drill for the 155th game, his sacroiliac jumped out and he couldn't straighten up. The second day of practice this spring he reached for a grounder and wound up on his back again for three months. . . .

Manager Lopez laughs off the latest retirement rumor. First, he'd never jump to the front office because it would mean moving from the balmy breezes of Tampa to the whistling winds of Chicago. Second, he admits he thought of quitting a few years ago when he was unhappy with the front office situation—until Ed Short was elevated to general manager. . . .

A young, 21-year-old Negro ex-caddy named Jim Black was an early sensation last January at the Los Angeles Open, start of the pro tour. . . . He was broke, and a funeral director from Chicago, visiting for the Rose Bowl game, made the big gesture and said he'd finance Black. So where's Jim? Back home in Charlotte, N.C., still broke, with some local people expected to dig up a bankroll. . . .

True fealty: Jack Curtice, now the head football coach at the University of California's Santa Barbara branch, is one of the most popular banquet orators in the country. But one speech already blocked out for him in May, 1965, is something special—the 30th anniversary for a high school championship team he coached at Owensboro, Ky. . . .

Mickey Mantle getting ready to play a baseball game looks like the emergency ward at City Hospital (any city). He has six big rolls of bandages tucked by his bench, three for each leg. They're special, foam-padded elastic. He does the wrapping himself. . . .

Whitey Ford was pitching batting practice to Hector Lopez, who signaled that he wanted a curve from the Yankee lefthander. Hector pasted the first one, timing it perfectly. Whitey crossed him up and threw the second curve like a slow change-up. Hector almost broke his back and nubbed it to short. . . . "Just like Rocky Colavito," grinned Ford, ever the competitor. . . .

Between you'n'me, Jim Brosnan was in New York to discuss his soon-due baseball novel. . . . "In the 'Long Season' they wanted to cut down on the martinis," said the former pitcher. "In this one, where I have one chapter on the love life of a ball player, they want more." . . .

Hogan to Play In PGA Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The competitive desire is still there but the "feel" is gone, says Ben Hogan, making a comeback in the PGA Golf Championship at the age of 51.

"I am playing now largely on instinct," said the once-feared Texas hawk today. "It's all mechanical. If everything falls into place I might turn up with a fairly good score, but it would be lucky.

"The thing I miss most is feel for a course. You've got to have it to be a winner. You get it by practice and making a detailed study of the course. I'm not able to do it any more."

Hogan, playing in his first PGA in 11 years, will be one of 165 pros teeing off Thursday over the flat and relatively short Columbus Country Club course in the 46th professional championship.

The years seem to have taken little toll from the grim, strong-jawed onetime blacksmith's son who won four U.S. Opens, two Masters, two PGAs and the British Open to become one of the game's immortals.

There are only small flecks of gray in his hair. His face is nut brown. He is a trim 160 pounds.

He still walks the fairways with a majesty denied other men—stiff-legged from a near fatal auto accident, white cap pulled low over his eyes, his lips a firm line of determination and gripping an inevitable cigarette.

Close associates contend Hogan is hitting the ball as well as he ever did from tee to green but suffers from nerves on the putting greens.

"That's not entirely true," Hogan corrected. "Mechanically, I can still hit the ball and I still try to win, but there's a very important thing that's missing. That's the feel of the course and the inspiration. I don't have that."

Finley's Porch Aids Kansas City In 8-6 Triumph

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Home runs were flying over American League fences at a record clip but Al Lopez wasn't concerned—until one of them got lost on Charley Finley's pennant porch.

Then the White Sox pilot blew his top.

There were 25 homers hit in the AL Monday, four more than the previous mark for one league in a five-game schedule and one more than Lopez' count.

He's convinced that Wayne Causey's homer in the second game of a doubleheader, a three-run shot that led to an 8-7 Kansas City victory over the White Sox, was nothing more than a figment of Finley's runaway green-and-gold drawing board.

Chicago had taken the first game 8-6 and was leading 6-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when Causey's drive fell where a pole separates the shortened portion of Municipal Stadium from the high wall in center field.

Loses Debate and Game

The umpires ruled the ball had cleared the porch's low fence. Lopez contended it had hit the wall in center and was playable. Lopez lost the debate and was tossed out of the game when he resumed it an inning later.

Ron Hansen of the White Sox and the Athletics' Jim Gentile then matched eighth - inning homers before Causey's bases-loaded single in the ninth broke up the eight-homer slugfest.

The split cost Chicago a chance to gain 1½ games on league - leading Baltimore, which dropped a 10-inning 4-3 decision to Detroit. The New York Yankees, however, gained a game on the Orioles with a 10-4 rout of Cleveland. Boston blanked Washington 7-0 in the other game scheduled.

The Chicago-Kansas City twin bill produced 11 home runs. First game winner Gary Peters, 10-4, poked a three-run homer to pace the White Sox' 16-hit attack. George Alusik and Dick Green connected for the A's.

Peter Ward, Don Buford, Gene Stephens and Hansen homered for the Sox; Manny Jimenez, Ed Charles, Causey and Gentile for the A's in the nightcap. Green's single, a double by Ken Harrelson and an intentional pass set the stage for Causey's game-winning hit that snapped KC's six-game losing streak.

Lumpe Wins It

Jerry Lumpes' bases - loaded single in the 10th gave the Tigers their second straight one-run victory over Baltimore, which had won 21 of 23 one-run verdicts before Sunday.

Brooks Robinson's two - run ninth - inning homer sent the game into overtime after Don Demeter's solo shot in the second and two unearned runs in the sixth had given the Tigers a 3-1 bulge. Sam Bowens' homers accounted for the Orioles' first run.

The Yankees climbed to within 1½ games of Baltimore with their seventh straight victory over the Indians. Tom Tresh hit a pair of two-run homers—one from each side of the plate—and Mickey Mantle and Clete Boyer also homered, offsetting three Cleveland circuits.

Boston's Bill Monbouquette turned in the top pitching performance—a four-hit shutout—and the Red Sox twice struck for back-to-back homers. Dick Stuart and Lee Thomas connected in the five-run fourth inning and Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliaro duplicated in the eighth.

Minnesota and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

The latest hassle revolved around Umpire Tony Venzon's ruling that Colt shortstop Eddie Kasko had not touched second base on an attempted force out in the ninth inning. That left two Giants on base and led to the decisive runs. Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly brought in the tie-breaker before Jim Hart singled in an insurance run.

The victory went to O'Dell, who this time didn't get into an argument, got an opportunity to pitch and allowed only one hit in four innings of relief work.

At Pittsburgh, the Cardinals lashed 15 hits in the first game before finally winning on Julian Javier's run-scoring single in the 12th inning. Twenty hits and six Pittsburgh errors made the nightcap easier. Bill White hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals.

Beat Spahn

The Phillies, who had lost four straight to left-handers, snapped the string by beating Spahn as Richie Allen slammed a double and triple and scored two runs. Spahn's loss left him with a 6-9 record but he went the distance for the first time in 12 games.

The Cubs beat the Dodgers and Don Drysdale, 11-8 with a five-run uprising after two were out in the sixth inning. Andre Rodgers' three-run homer was the big blow. Larry Jackson got the victory, his 12th against six losses.

Zany Incidents Take Place in Major Leagues

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox owe Washington a player. Vic Power owes the American League $250. And Gaylord Perry owes the Houston Colts $3.98.

Such was the situation today in baseball's zany world after a hectic Monday that produced these developments:

—The Senators and White Sox completed a trade one month after the trading deadline with first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron and pitcher Carl Bouldin going to Chicago in exchange for first baseman Joe Cunningham and a player to be named later.

—The American League denied a hearing to Vic Power of the Los Angeles Angels, who has been fined $250 and suspended for 10 days for allegedly spitting in an umpire's face.

—The National League acknowledged it had received a protest from the Colts because Perry, a San Francisco relief pitcher, broke one of Nellie Fox' bats. The Colts also said Perry was being billed for the cost of the bat.

Double Waiver Deal

The Senators-White Sox deal was called a double waiver transaction because they could not call it anyting else.

Under baseball law, player deals made after June 15 must be via the waiver route with a waiver price of $20,000 attached to each piece of merchandise.

Now, the White Sox will waive another player to the Senators in a week or 10 days to complete the transaction.

Power's actions in the first game of a doubleheader last Friday night against Chicago were reported to AL headquarters by Umpire Jim Honochick, who said Power "bumped me three times and spit in my face deliberately and willfully."

Power said he hadn't.

The American League, which never announces refusals to grant hearings, said through league publicist Joe McKenney: "We refused a hearing. We felt that under the league constitution we did not have to grant a hearing and so we did not do so."

The Perry-Fox development was the latest to be brought out after Sunday's game at Houston in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was thrown out for arguing even before he had made one pitch and Perry sat down on the mound to change his shoes after getting a hurry-up call to replace O'Dell.

Fox, who previously had singled in the tying run for the Colts, drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth inning. Perry, in a rage, stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the side of the Giants' dugout.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears are back at work, getting ready to defend their National Football League championship. First item of business for George Halas and his staff will be sharpening up the offense.

Rookies were in the majority Monday when the Bears' early camp opened at St. Joseph's College at Rensselaer, Ind., where the club has trained for 21 years.

Never one to spare the horses, Halas planned to get right down to heavy work immediately just as he did last year. The Bears play the College All-Stars Aug. 7 at Soldier Field in Chicago.

As early as the Bears were, they were not the first to take the field. The Los Angeles Rams, New York Giants, Dallas Cowboys, Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles all beat them to the punch with their rookie camps.

By next Monday all 14 NFL teams will have their camps open and some will have the veterans on hand, too.

The American Football League also is getting ready to swing into action with the New York Jets' rookies and the Denver Broncos due to open up Wednesday. The Jets will train at Peekskill, N.Y. and the Broncos at Fort Collins, Colo.

The first pre-season game is the Bears-All Stars at Chicago Friday, Aug. 7. The rest of the NFL teams, except Pittsburgh, and the AFL will get busy the same weekend. Pittsburgh's first game is Aug. 14. The regular season opens in both leagues the weekend of Sept. 12-13.

Liston's Manager Called to Court In Track Matter

Hogan's office said Supreme Court Justice Charles Marks had issued a certification here requiring the appearance of Nilon before the grand jury July 21, also July 22, 28 and 30.

The certification was taken to Quarter Session Court in Media, Pa., where Nilon appeared. He has an office in Chester, Pa.

White Still Leads Monticello Drivers

MONTICELLO—Frank Popfinger and Carmine Abbatiello brought home five winners each last week to move within striking distance of first place in the driver standings at Monticello Raceway.

Through Saturday night's card, Roger White still held command with two-dozen trumphs, three more than Popfinger and six above Abbatiello's total. White, however, has headed back to Canada for three weeks of stakes engagements.

Popfinger, who has the most starts of any driver at the Mighty M, 111, has been to the winner's circle 21 times, while Abatiello is 18 for 80.

Following are Eddie Cobb and Bill Popfinger, with a dozen wins apiece, Pat Iovine with 11, and the trio of Buddy Gilmour, Vince Kachel and Paige West with nine each.

The standings:

	Starts	1st	2nd	3rd
1—Roger White	83	24	16	10
2—Frank Popfinger	111	21	25	12
3—Carmine Abbatiello	80	18	12	8

Mr. Budlong Wins Yonkers Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Favored Mr. Budlong overtook Chapel Chief near the wire to capture the $10,000 invitational pace Monday night at Yonkers Raceway before 29,991 rain-spattered fans.

Time for the mile over the sloppy track was 2:05 2-5.

The 8-year-old son of Bud Mite returned $5.50, $3.30 and $2.50. Yankee Express was third.

Buffalo Raceway — Scandalous ($3) copped the $5,000 championship race for 2-year-old trotters in 2:09 3-5.

Vernon Downs — Frosty Song captured the $9,600 Thomas W. Berry Memorial Trot in 2:09 2-5.

At the opening of the two-day standardbred sale at Vernon on Monday, Cavalier Pick, a 4-year-old bay pacer, brought the top price of $3,300.

The colt, who raced a mile in 2:05 last year, was bought by Marie Turcotte of Soul, Que., from Leelyn Stable of Westfield, N.J., and Frank Beninato of Roselle, N.J.

Giants Overpower EK Yankees, 11-6

Steve Pasqua's home run, a three-hit offense by Paul Watzka and a six run rally in the fifth frame carried the Giants to an 11-6 win over the Yankees in a Glasco-East Kingston Little league game.

Watzka went the distance, allowing three hits, walking two and sending 17 batters down on strikes. Loser Bonelli was touched for 10 hits, walked half a dozen and fanned a dozen.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET—Tyson Volo (7th).
UPSET CHANCE — French Algiers (6th).

3. SLY VAMP has class, but, oh, that driver. SNAZZY HANOVER and MISS CONNIE B. are capable of winning this one.

4. FLAUNT couldn't get to the rail before the half. Is due for improvement. BONNIE DUANE a classy filly and the one to beat. BETTY SUE ADIOS is hurt by bad post and awful driver.

7. TYSON VOLO has been sharp. Looks like the best bet of the night. APRIL HAZE hasn't regained last year's form. CYBEE figures to be coming on in the stretch.

8. FORESIGHT was photoed out in last with Fontaine. Might win this even with Lawhon doing the driving. LOOK OUT PICK due to get going. FOUND FREIGHT finally draws good post.

9. MOUNTAIN PAUL packs a wallop in the stretch. GREAT VALOR is also a closer and the one to fear. ADAMS PURDUE will be closer if Cobb drives.

Ann VanDeMark registered 483 in the Ulster Gas League. Gasers have a 17-7 record to hold first place.

Rondout, Kingston In BR Finals Tonight

Rondout Valley and the Kingston Nationals will try again tonight in the finals of the 9th District Babe Ruth tournament. Last night's scheduled contest was postponed by rain and has been slated for 6 o'clock this evening at Dietz Stadium.

Rondout advanced to the finals with an 11-6 decision over Beacon. The local club stopped Catskill, 7-1, in its semi-final tilt.

The winner of tonight's tilt will advance to the bi-district tourney, slated in Rockland County.

Phil Rodgers Has Lead in French Open

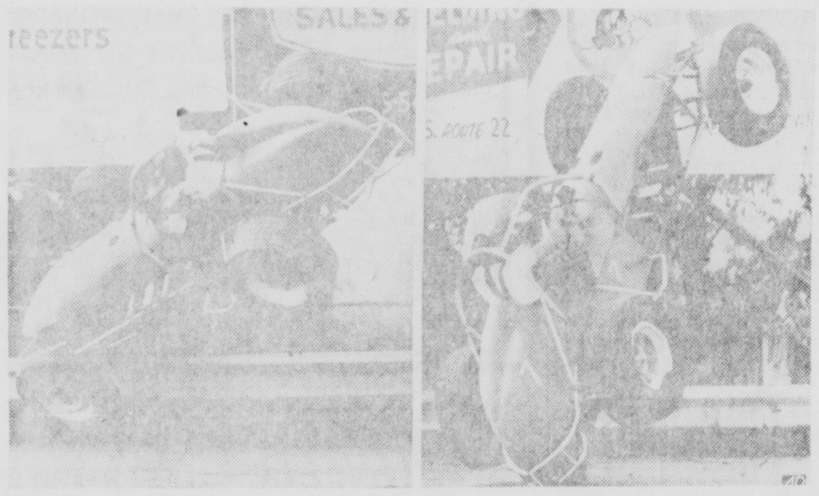

CHANTILLY, France (AP)—Phil Rodgers isn't enough of a veteran pro golfer to get into the United States PGA Championship but he looks good enough to take the French Open Tournament thwseick.

Going into the second round today, Rodgers, from La Jolla, Calif., leads the field with a course record 66—one stroke ahead of Britain's Tony Grubbb.

Although a veteran of the U.S. pro circuit, Rodgers, 26, has served only three years of the required five-year apprenticeship to be eligible for the PGA title.

American Eagle Wins 5th Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — American Eagle, a sleek, 12-meter yacht built this year for America's Cup competition, is threatening to make a one-boat show of the trials to determine the U.S. defender against Britain in September.

Eagle swept to her fifth straight — and easiest — victory of the current series of trials Monday, sailing unopposed for the last 17 miles of a 20-mile triangular course after rival Columbia withdrew from the race.

The triumph was the 12th over-all for the unbeaten Eagle in the trials, which will continue throughout the summer.

Constellation, the other 1964-built yacht in the five-boat competition, ran her current record to 4-1, defeating winless Easterner by 3 minutes, 45 seconds in Monday's other race. The fifth contender, Nefertiti, had the day off.

Fencing Trials Will Be Concluded Today

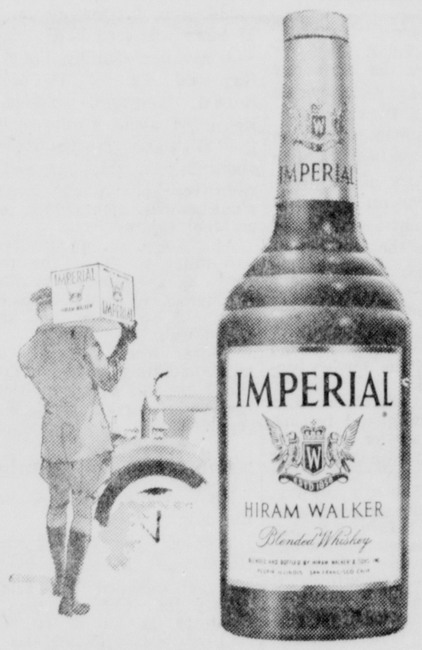

NEW YORK (AP)—The make up of the United States Olympic fencing team for the Tokyo Games in October will be announced tonight after the conclusion of the three-day Olympic trials at the World's Fair.

Expected to be named on the team is Frank Anger, of Cornell University, who won the final in the epee competition Monday. He beat Larry Anastasi of Philadelphia 5-0 in a fence-off after they had tied with 7-2 won-lost records in round-robin competition involving 10 fencers.

Anastasi, along with Paul Pesthy of Rutgers, David Michahnik of Philadelphia and Leslie Bleamaster of Long Beach, Calif., also appeared to have made the team, but because of the complicated point system, no one can be certain of being picked until the actual selections are announced.

The sabre class was held Sunday and the foils' competition winds up the activity today.

White Still Leads Monticello Drivers

MONTICELLO—Frank Popfinger and Carmine Abbatiello brought home five winners each last week to move within striking distance of first place in the driver standings at Monticello Raceway.

Through Saturday night's card, Roger White still held command with two-dozen trumphs, three more than Popfinger and six above Abbatiello's total. White, however, has headed back to Canada for three weeks of stakes engagements.

The 31-year-old Montreal reinsman went to the post 83 times, bringing home 16 seconds and 10 thirds in addition to his 24 wins.

Popfinger, who has the most starts of any driver at the Mighty M, 111, has been to the winner's circle 21 times, while Abatiello is 18 for 80.

Following are Eddie Cobb and Bill Popfinger, with a dozen wins apiece, Pat Iovine with 11, and the trio of Buddy Gilmour, Vince Kachel and Paige West with nine each.

Gilmour has made only 19 starts at Monticello, the fewest of any driver in the top ten.

The standings:

	Starts	1st	2nd	3rd
1—Roger White	83	24	16	10
2—Frank Popfinger	111	21	25	12
3—Carmine Abbatiello	80	18	12	8

Mr. Budlong Wins Yonkers Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Favored Mr. Budlong overtook Chapel Chief near the wire to capture the $10,000 invitational pace Monday night at Yonkers Raceway before 29,991 rain-spattered fans.

Time for the mile over the sloppy track was 2:05 2-5.

The 8-year-old son of Bud Mite returned $5.50, $3.30 and $2.50. Yankee Express was third.

In other New York State harness racing action:

Buffalo Raceway — Scandalous ($3) copped the $5,000 championship race for 2-year-old trotters in 2:09 3-5.

Saratoga Raceway — All Aflame ($2.20), with a 2:13 clocking, took the raceoff in the $2,000 Canfield Trot for 2-year-olds.

Vernon Downs — Frosty Song captured the $9,600 Thomas W. Berry Memorial Trot in 2:09 2-5.

At the opening of the two-day standardbred sale at Vernon on Monday, Cavalier Pick, a 4-year-old bay pacer, brought the top price of $3,300.

The colt, who raced a mile in 2:05 last year, was bought by Marie Turcotte of Soul, Que., from Leelyn Stable of Westfield, N.J., and Frank Beninato of Roselle, N.J.

Little Leaguers

Giants Overpower EK Yankees, 11-6

Steve Pasqua's home run, a three-hit offense by Paul Watzka and a six run rally in the fifth frame carried the Giants to an 11-6 win over the Yankees in a Glasco-East Kingston Little league game.

Watzka went the distance, allowing three hits, walking two and sending 17 batters down on strikes. Loser Bonelli was touched for 10 hits, walked half a dozen and fanned a dozen.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET—Tyson Volo (7th).

UPSET CHANCE — French Algiers (6th).

3. SLY VAMP has class, but, oh, that driver. SNAZZY HANOVER and MISS CONNIE B. are capable of winning this one.

4. FLAUNT couldn't get to the rail before the half. Is due for improvement. BONNIE DUANE a classy filly and the one to beat. BETTY SUE ADIOS is hurt by bad post and awful driver.

7. TYSON VOLO has been sharp. Looks like the best bet of the night. APRIL HAZE hasn't regained last year's form. CYBEE figures to be coming on in the stretch.

8. FORESIGHT was photoed out in last with Fontaine. Might win this even with Lawhon doing the driving. LOOK OUT PICK due to get going. FOUND FREIGHT finally draws good post.

9. MOUNTAIN PAUL packs a wallop in the stretch. GREAT VALOR is also a closer and the one to fear. ADAMS PURDUE will be closer if Cobb drives.

Rondout, Kingston In BR Finals Tonight

Rondout Valley and the Kingston Nationals will try again tonight in the finals of the 9th District Babe Ruth tournament. Last night's scheduled contest was postponed by rain and has been slated for 6 o'clock this evening at Dietz Stadium.

Rondout advanced to the finals with an 11-6 decision over Beacon. The local club stopped Catskill, 7-1, in its semi-final tilt.

The winner of tonight's tilt will advance to the bi-district tourney, slated in Rockland County.

Phil Rodgers Has Lead in French Open

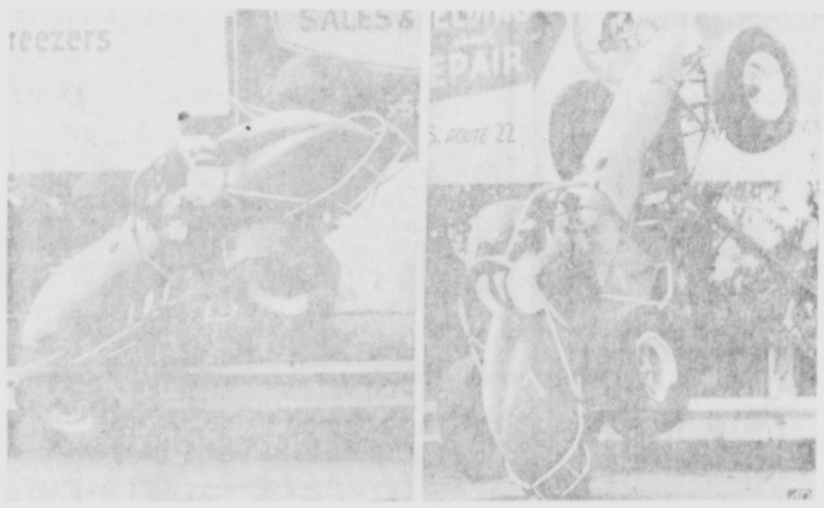

CHANTILLY, France (AP)—Phil Rodgers isn't enough of a veteran pro golfer to get into the United States PGA Championship but he looks good enough to take the French Open Tournament thwsciek.

Going into the second round today, Rodgers, from La Jolla, Calif., leads the field with a course record 66—one stroke ahead of Britain's Tony Grubbb.

Although a veteran of the U.S. pro circuit, Rodgers, 26, has served only three years of the required five-year apprenticeship to be eligible for the PGA title.

American Eagle Wins 5th Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — American Eagle, a sleek, 12-meter yacht built this year for America's Cup competition, is threatening to make a one-boat show of the trials to determine the U.S. defender against Britain in September.

Eagle swept to her fifth straight — and easiest — victory of the current series of trials Monday, sailing unopposed for the last 17 miles of a 20-mile triangular course after rival Columbia withdrew from the race.

The triumph was the 12th over-all for the unbeaten Eagle in the trials, which will continue throughout the summer.

Constellation, the other 1964-built yacht in the five-boat competition, ran her current record to 4-1, defeating winless Easterner by 3 minutes, 45 seconds in Monday's other race. The fifth contender, Nefertiti, had the day off.

Fencing Trials Will Be Concluded Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The make up of the United States Olympic fencing team for the Tokyo Games in October will be announced tonight after the conclusion of the three-day Olympic trials at the World's Fair.

Expected to be named on the team is Frank Anger, of Cornell University, who won the final in the epee competition Monday. He beat Larry Anastasi of Philadelphia 5-0 in a fence-off after they had tied with 7-2 won-lost records in round-robin competition involving 10 fencers.

Anastasi, along with Paul Pesthy of Rutgers, David Michahnik of Philadelphia and Leslie Bleamaster of Long Beach, Calif., also appeared to have made the team, but because of the complicated point system, no one can be certain of being picked until the actual selections are announced.

The sabre class was held Sunday and the foils' competition winds up the activity today.

Onteora Budget Hearing Will Be Held August 4

The Onteora Board of Education has set August 4, 1964, as the date for a public hearing on a reduced budget for 1964-65. A large audience is expected to be present in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. to hear the presentation of the reduced budget. This hearing will also provide an opportunity for voters to make further suggestions for changes in the budget before the Board makes a final decision as to the exact amount to be presented to voters for a decision on August 12th.

Responding to a sound defeat for a second time, the Board has spent many nights reviewing each item in terms of public sentiment. In the near future, the Board will release a tentative amount as a proposed reduction in the budget and its effect on the reduced amount to be raised by tax locally.

In the meantime much of the normal preparation for the coming school year has been brought to a halt. Textbooks, classroom supplies, and other essential teaching materials have not been ordered and will be late in arriving for the opening of school on September 9th.

The construction of three elementary buildings is on schedule. Kitchen equipment bids for the three schools were received at the July 7th Board Reorganization Meeting and a contract was awarded to t he Curtis Equipment Company of Hoboken, New Jersey, as low bidder. Bids for final grading and roadways will be received on July 27.

Diamond Jubilee Fair Saturday

Saturday, July 18 the Kings Daughters will hold their diamond jubilee fair at the Shady Church Hall. Opening time for the fair is 12 noon instead of 2 p. m. as in previous years. A snack bar will be a new feature for the early part of the afternoon. Flower, food, apron and rug tables will be in evidence among other attractions.

A roast beef dinner will be served in the hall beginning at 5:30 and continuing until all are served. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The public is cordially invited.

Play-Reading Group Launched Successfully

A number of exceptionally talented persons came together Monday to form the Performing Arts of Woodstock Play-Reading Group, according to word from the committee in charge.

Under the skillful direction of Bob Denning, two one-act plays were most effectively read by casts of readers drawn from the assembled group. The lively readings led to spirited discussions, and finally to a consensus that the evening was a most enjoyable one.

The group meets again Monday, July 20, 8 p. m. in the second-floor studio of the Misses Elsie and Harriet Goddard at 56 Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock. Marjorie Farber, playwright and experienced director, will conduct this second session. Anyone interested in an evening of play-reading and discussion is cordially invited to attend.

Woodstock Art Gallery Notes

Artists wishing to become active members of the Woodstock Artists Association may bring three samples of their work to the Woodstock Art Gallery July 18. The jury meets July 19.

On July 24 a lecture on color with slides will be given at the Gallery by Kay Wagenfohr, who formerly lived in Woodstock.

The art colony has increased in population by two young ladies born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Angeloch and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chavez.

Manuel Bromberg of Woodstock and New Paltz, Roy Gussow and George Segal of New York, all well known in the fields of art, will conduct round-table discussion at the Gallery July 31 at 8:30 p. m.

Jewish Fast On Sunday Marks Day of Sadness

Sunday, July 19, the Jewish Calendar marks a day of sadness and fasting. It is the ninth day of the month of Av, known in Hebrew as Tisha B'Av.

This day commemorates the two great disasters which have scarred the history of the Jewish people. It was on the ninth of Av, 586 BC, that the Babylonians broke into the Temple of Solomon, destroyed it and carried the Jews into captivity. It was also on the ninth of Av in 70 AD that the Romans burned the Second Temple, which precipitated the long exile of the Jewish people from its land.

The ninth of Av is observed as a day of mourning and fasting. This year the date actually falls on Saturday, but as no mourning is permitted to mar the joy and sanctity of the Sabbath, the fast is postponed to the following day.

At the meal before the fast, the last dish eaten is an egg sprinkled with ashes the symbol of grief. The congregation assembles after sundown in the darkened synagogue. After evening prayers, the congregants sit on low stools or on the floor and read the Book of Lamentations to a mournful melody.

How doth the city sit solitary,
That was full of people!
How is she become as a widow!

The Sabbath following Tish B'Av is called the Sabbath of Consolation and the weekly reading from the Prophets brings back hope in the beautiful words of Isaiah:

Comfort ye, comfort ye My People,
Saith Your God,
Bid Jerusalem take heart!

Identify Partial Bodies As Miss. Men

TALLULAH, La. (AP)—Two partial bodies pulled from a river near Tallulah, La., have been identified tentatively as two Negroes missing from Meadville, Miss., since mid-May.

The disclosure by police sources in Jackson, Miss., where both remains were taken, discredited earlier speculation that the first mutilated body found Sunday night be one of three civil rights workers who vanished in Mississippi June 21.

The sources said there were indications that the second body may be that of Henry Dees of Meadville who disappeared about two months ago. They said the mutilated condition of the bodies—only the lower halves were found—made it virtually impossible to identify them and that identification would be based almost solely on articles found on the bodies.

Drain small sardines and mash with cream cheese and lemon juice; fill the cavities of drained canned mushroom crowns with the mixture and sprinkle copiously with minced parsley. Serve cold with a cold drink as a before-dinner appetizer.

Minor Mishaps Blamed On Wet Pavements

Highland state police reported several minor accidents due to skidding on wet pavements. None of them was serious.

A car operated by Robert L. Raymond, 29, of 11 Melissa Road, Kingston, skidded on Route 9W about a mile south of the Highland Traffic Circle about 2 p. m. Monday and the right rear of the car struck a stone embankment. The driver was not injured.

At 2:20 p. m. on Route 9W two miles south of the traffic circle a car operated by Robert J. Cavano, 18, of 128 Broadway, went out of control and struck guard rails.

There were several other minor skidding accidents due to the rain and oily condition of the road, Sergeant E. E. Wynky reported.

SENIOR HISTORIAN

New Shotwell Portrait Is in Current Exhibit

Featured in a current exhibition of paintings and pictorial photographs by Helen Harvey Shotwell is a new portrait of her father, Dr. James T. Shotwell, world renowned scholar and historian.

The exhibit at the main gallery of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen opened July 9 and will continue through July 21.

This interest was sparked by a teaching stint for the past two years. Miss Shotwell has been teaching painting and allied arts to a group of senior citizens at the 60 Plus Club of Goddard-Riverside Community Center, New York City and at their summer camp at Rifton. She was also commissioned to make a pictorial record of a new slum clearance and rehabilitation project undertaken by the Goddard-Riverside Center.

In the exhibition are portraits and compositions of the 60 Plus Club Members in various activities. In addition to the portrait of her father which she calls the Senior Historian, are portraits of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Leonard Bernstein, Renato Bonacini and others.

This portrait of Dr. Shotwell and another in a different pose will go to Columbia University and the Academy of Arts and Letters of Puerto Rico.

Miss Shotwell has shown at the Carnegie International, the Montclair Art Museum, the Corcoran Washington, Pennsylvania Academy and has had one man shows at the Fitchburg Art Museum, Argent Galleries, Poughkeepsie Three Arts and recently at the Carnegie Hall Gallery.

In 1962 she was elected life fellow of the International Arts and Letters, Switzerland. She is a life member of the Woodstock Artists Association and paintings in permament collections of China Institute, Fitchburg Art Museum, IBM Collection, Watson Collection, Arthur Fenante, Maverick Concert Hall.

Dr. Shotwell, a long time resident of Woodstock, is president emeritus of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which he directed for over 25 years and is professor emeritus of Columbia University where he taught for 50 years.

No Knowledge of Plot

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The Greek government says it has no knowledge of a plot to assassinate Premier George Papandreou, reported by Athens newspapers.

The reports Monday said the would-be assassin was arrested recently in Salonika, in northern Greece, as he was trying to import a rifle.

Dirksen Reads Address

Hoover Proposes Short Platform, Accorded Ovation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Herbert Hoover had shown up at every Republican National Convention since the one that nominated him for president in 1928.

Four years ago, he arose and told delegates he never would show up again. 'No, no," they cried.

Watches on Television

The former president sent a message to the delegates and, ill Monday night in his Waldorf-Astoria suite in New York, watched television to see the speech read for him.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, with all the flourishes and mellow tones at his command, read the speech to the delegates and prefaced it with a tribute to "the grand old man of the Grand Old Party."

Dirksen said Hoover had been unfairly criticized, for it was his fate to be in the White House when the depression began in 1929.

"No public official in our times has been so castigated because of economic forces generated outside the country, over which he had no control," Dirksen said.

Then Dirksen told the convention:

"The grand old man of the Grand Old Party is listening to this program. What better way to exhilarate his spirit than to give him an ovation to lengthen his span of years. Let him hear you."

Long, Noisy Outburst

Hoover then heard a long, noisy outburst from the convention. The delegates cheered, waved state banners. The band played "Stanford Red," the song of the university Hoover attended.

In his message to the delegates, Hoover said that Republicans need something briefer than a platform that "requires eight or nine columns of newspaper type to explain itself."

"The people need to know your conclusions on public questions," Hoover said, "but their presentation does not require more than two columns. Even the Bill of Rights requires not more than one column."

Hoover then proposed a short platform, including these sample planks.

1. "The major world issue today is whether government shall be the servant or the master of men."

2. "The protection of our freedom requires that budgets be balanced, waste in government be eliminated, and taxes be reduced."

3. "Human values transcend all others."

Beatles No. 1 Again

LONDON (AP)—The Beatles are back on top of the British hit parade for the first time since April.

"A Hard Day 'Snite," the title song of the rock 'n' roll quartet's new movie, was listed at No. 1 today by record retailers.

"We weren't really sure this one would make it," said Beatle John Lennon. "It was the first time we had written a song to an agreed title and it was done in rather a hurry."

A story being told on the capital's cocktail circuit has Soviet Premier Khrushchev pausing during an inspection of Russian troops to ask a private how he likes life in the Red Army.

Private—Oh, I can't complain.

Khrushchev—You bet you can't.

My grandson's pet black cat, which had 7 toes on each paw, gave birth to a kitten which had 9 toes on each foot.

—A. F. Bunge, Flint, Mich.

Three Boy Scouts were at a meeting and told the scoutmaster they had done their "good deed" that day.

Scoutmaster — Well, boys, what did you do?

Boys (In Unison)—We helped an old lady across the street a little while ago.

Scoutmaster—And did it take all three of you to do that?

Boys—Oh, yes, it did!

Then the smallest added,

Smallest Boy—She didn't want to go.

Waiter—What does it taste like?

Diner—It taste like glue.

Waiter—Well, then it must be apple pie, 'cause our peach pie tastes like putty.

* * *

Even If You're on the Right Track, You'll Get Run Over If You Just Sit There.

BARBS

BY HAL COCHRAN

The more friends you have the more remedies there are for your ailments.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Hope Drifting Away For Drought Relief

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Hope of real relief from drought conditions in eastern New York and the Southern Tier today appeared to be drifting away with a pair of low pressure centers that had promised to bring extended rainfall to the state.

Unstable Air Forecast

Somewhat unstable air was forecast over much of New York State today and Wednesday, with variable cloudiness and a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers mostly today.

Temperatures were expected to climb into the 70s and lower 80s, the weatherman said, after mid-60 degree readings over much of the state Monday.

The slackening rainfall and increased temperatures were brought on by the weakening of two low pressure areas, which had been expected to bring several days' rainfall to parched farmlands.

The Weather Bureau said the low that formed over Lake Erie Monday moved northwest to upper Lake Michigan, and the center over Western Maryland moved east to New Jersey and up the Atlantic Coast.

Trend Continues

Early - morning totals, prepared by the Weather Bureau, indicated that precipitation has been heaviest in western and central New York and lightest in the eastern portion of the state. This has been the trend for several months.

Buffalo, 1.88; Rochester, .75; Olean, .81; Syracuse, .98; Watertown, .77; Binghamton, .79; Plattsburgh, .11; Glens Falls, .20; and Albany, .17.

Agricultural agents in the disaster-area counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Schenectady, Saratoga and Washington agreed that recent shower activity has not been sufficient to stem the drought.

A total of fourteen counties in eastern New York and the Southern Tier have been designated as drought-disaster areas by Gov. Rockefeller.

Cambridge Votes For First Since Race Flareup

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Cambridge elects a mayor and three city commissioners today in the first election since a Negro drive toward integration and the white reaction to it flared into open conflict.

The election provides an opportunity for the voters to decide what the official attitudes toward segregation will be, though the choices are limited.

The two candidates for mayor are Osvrey C. Pritchett, 62, a plumbing contractor, and S. Charles Walls Jr., 49, a salesman for a paper company.

Pritchett, is a member of the Dorchester Business and Citizens Association, the group which led a successful fight last year against a public accommodations amendment to the City Charter.

Pritchett blames the city's interracial troubles on "outside agitators." He says if he were mayor he would press for an ordinance to keep them beyond the city limits.

The Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee, which has led the integration drive in the city of 12,600 said it passed out handbills today which read: "Vote July 14. S. Charles Walls Jr. for mayor."

Parley Collapses

GENEVA (AP)—An 85-nation education conference called to combat illiteracy collapsed Monday in a dispute over Portugal's colonial policy.

Delegations from Africa, Asia and the Soviet bloc voted to expel Portugal from the meeting. All Latin-American and Western nations except Sweden and Finland walked out before the vote.

After the vote the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the International Bureau of Education, joint organizers of the meeting, declared the conference over.

Reds Plan 'Little Summit'

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A "little summit" conference is shaping up for the celebration next week of the 20th anniversary of Poland's Communist regime.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Monday night that Soviet Premier Khrushchev would attend. Warsaw newspapers announced today that President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Walter Ulbricht, Communist party chief of East Germany, also would come to Warsaw.

DeGaulle Leads Bastille Day

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, erect and looking fit, today led off the start of Bastille Day celebrations with a military review before thousands lining the Champs Elysees.

Celebrations commemorating the 175th anniversary of the storming of the Bastille—the Gallic version of America's Fourth of July—will continue into the night, with special theater presentations, fireworks and street dancing.

TWO HURT IN ESOPUS CRASH—Late model convertible in crash Sunday night came to rest part way up a tree at Esopus. Two young men were injured, one critically when the car went out of control as the driver was turning into a driveway. Troopers identified the injured as William Burger Jr., 20 of Park Lane, West Park, the operator, who is in fair condition at Kingston Hospital, and a passenger, Leonard Stevens, 23, also of West Park, who was listed in critical condition at the hospital. Trooper Robert Whalen of Highland sub-station investigated. Burger faces a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, troopers said.

Drive of Terror Starts on Reds In Mekong Delta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese government squads, generally operating in stealth at night, have begun a campaign of terror against Viet Cong officials in the Mekong River Delta.

Small teams of commandos, armed with exact intelligence and daggers, are moving into Viet Cong hamelts in critical provinces near Saigon, assassinating key Viet Cong leaders, and slipping away.

Officials say the idea is to fight the Viet Cong with Viet Cong tactics.

For years the Communists have terrorized rural government officials, often torturing and slaying their wives and children as well as the officials.

Depends on Information

"Everything depends on exact and rapid intelligence in penetrating the Viet Cong secret infrastructure," a U.S. adviser said.

"We're using a lot of new tactics, and some are paying off. One is the use of census teams in provinces we're trying to pacify. After the names of each family in a hamlet have been listed, the census team requires that one member of the family come around to answer a questionnaire once every 15 days.

"The man or woman is asked: Do you have any complaints about local government administrators? Do you need anything in particular? And do you know anything about Viet Cong activity?"

Another American said he felt the campaign of terror against Communist officials was beginning to pay off.

He observed: "Some of the death squads have been finding a lot of empty beds. The Viet Cong leaders know that squads may come for them on any given night, and they never know when they may get a black eye pinned on themselves. So they're starting to sleep in different places every night and doing all the things our people have been forced to do for years. I don't think it's going to help enemy morale."

Burns Are Fatal

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Burns suffered in a home explosion Thursday claimed the life today of August Scalise, 59. His daughter Rosemarie, 10, who was burned in the same explosion, died Friday.

Scalise was using gasoline to spray the wooden floor of a basement playroom in his home in Mount Vernon in an attempt to kill some insects. The fumes ignited.

Training for Air Police

Robert W. Trathen Jr.

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Robert W. Trathen Jr., son of Mrs. Blondina L. Trathen of 5 Main Street, Kerhonkson has been selected for technical training as an air policeman at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Trathen, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training at Lackland. Schools at Lackland are part of the vast Air Training Command system which trains airmen and officers in the diverse skills required by the nation's aerospace force.

Can't Vote Barry, Mallary Sees LBJ Vermont Winner

FAIRLEE, Vt. (AP)—A leading Republican member of the Vermont House said Tuesday that if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the GOP presidential nomination, "I don't think that in good conscience I could vote for him."

Rep. Richard W. Mallary of Fairlee, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said his basic objection to Goldwater is that "his attitude on foreign affairs is somewhat dangerous." He added that he also disagrees with Goldwater on domestic issues.

Mallary said that with the Arizona senator heading the GOP ticket he "wouldn't be surprised" if President Johnson carried Vermont this year.

Alderman Charges Parks Short on Play Equipment

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward replying to a letter by Andrew J. Murphy, recreation superintendent, published in The Freeman Saturday, and dealing with conditions in local parks, says he has no direct criticism of Murphy, and offers several questions to be answered:

The letter:

I received your letter of July 9, 1964 and was very hesitant about answering it since it was not signed by you. However, since you have not objected to it being made public, I must assume it did come from you and deserves to be answered. While I do not intend to carry a debate as to Webster's definition of any words you or I may choose to use, I do feel your letter was uncalled for.

I would like to point out that no criticism was made of you as superintendent of recreation. In fact, it was clearly stated that none was intended and you are held in high regard, as far as your recreation programs are concerned. I would further point out that the Republican aldermen you referred to as touring the parks and being enlightened to the many problems you have did in fact vote in favor of condeming the conditions that exist.

It was interesting to note that of all the conditions I pointed out you only objected to Lawton Park. The obvious conclusion is that you agree that the conditions in Forsythe Park, Hasbrouck Park, Kingston Point etc. do exist.

Since you were willing to state your objections publicly, I wonder if you would answer the following questions publicly?

1. Is it not a fact that there is a shortage of park equipment in the city? (swings, teeter totters, slides etc.)

2. Is it not a fact that the tour you took with the three Republican aldermen was taken several days before I made the conditions known. (By the way, why weren't the Democratic aldemen invited on this tour?)

3. Is it not a fact that the Mayor cut your budget for 1964 by $13,000 and if you had this money you would be able to purchase the necessary equipment.

4. Where was your criticism of the mayor?

While you inferred that my action was ungentlemanly, I would like to point out that there is a difference between the responsibilities of an elected official and appointive official. Yours being appointive is to provide recreation programs and facilities to the residents of the residents of the city of Kingston within the budget allocated to you. My responsibility is to represent the people of my ward in such a manner that they are aware of how their tax dollars are being spent. This means taking the Administration to task when I feel they are being derelect in their duties. This I have done and will continue to do.

I look forward to reading your answers in the newspapers and hope that the end result of this will be that the mayor realizes he has short-changed the children of this city and will take immediate steps to rectify the condition.

If he does not, you can expect to continue to hear criticism. I hope you will take it in the manner in which it is intended and not personal.

Eye Eventual Union

CAIRO (AP)—The United Arab Republic and Yemen will set up a committee to coordinate political and economic policy as a step toward eventual union.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. and President Abdullah Al-Sallal of Yemen signed the agreement Monday night. Egypt has reached a similar accord with Iraq and is negotiating for one with Algeria, Nasser said in a radio address.

Nizer Will Meet County Dems Wednesday Night

Democratic County Chairman Aaron E. Klein today announced that Louis Nizer, nationally known attorney and author and currently a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from New York, will appear before a meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster County Democratic organization July 15 at 8 p. m., at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W in the Town of Saugerties.

Judge Klein has announced that the appearance of Nizer is in keeping with the county policy to invite all declared candidates to visit the county and discuss their candidacy with the Ulster County organization and delegates to the state convention. An invitation also has been extended to Attorney Akers, President Kennedy's former Ambassador to New Zealand and to Paul O'Dwyer, Councilman At Large of the City of New York, the other two declared candidates.

Nizer has been a practicing trial lawyer for the past 40 years and is a member of the firm of Phillips, Nizer, Benjamin, Krim and Ballon of New York City. He is an authority on international law and has written widely on the subject. In addition to his legal career, he is well known as an author having written many articles and books, probably the most famous of which is the current best seller My Life In Court.

Nine Locals Vote Haulers Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — East Coast Teamsters continued voting today on an agreement reached Saturday between representatives of the striking locals and haulers of new automobiles.

Nine of the 18 locals that struck three weeks ago gave approval to the three - year agreement by a slight margin in balloting Monday, a Teamster spokesman said.

The strike, which began on June 22, has resulted in a pileup of new cars and trucks at auto assembly plants and rail yards in the east.

Hope Drifting Away For Drought Relief

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Hope of real relief from drought conditions in eastern New York and the Southern Tier today appeared to be drifting away with a pair of low pressure centers that had promised to bring extended rainfall to the state.

Unstable Air Forecast

Somewhat unstable air was forecast over much of New York State today and Wednesday, with variable cloudiness and a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers mostly today.

Temperatures were expected to climb into the 70s and lower 80s, the weatherman said, after mid-60 degree readings over much of the state Monday.

The slackening rainfall and increased temperatures were brought on by the weakening of two low pressure areas, which had been expected to bring several days' rainfall to parched farmlands.

The Weather Bureau said the low that formed over Lake Erie Monday moved northwest to upper Lake Michigan, and the center over Western Maryland moved east to New Jersey and up the Atlantic Coast.

Trend Continues

Early - morning totals, prepared by the Weather Bureau, indicated that precipitation has been heaviest in western and central New York and lightest in the eastern portion of the state. This has been the trend for several months.

The totals included:

Buffalo, 1.88; Rochester, .75; Olean, .81; Syracuse, .98; Watertown, .77; Binghamton, .79; Plattsburgh, .11; Glens Falls, .20; and Albany, .17.

Agricultural agents in the disaster-area counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Schenectady, Saratoga and Washington agreed that recent shower activity has not been sufficient to stem the drought.

A total of fourteen counties in eastern New York and the Southern Tier have been designated as drought-disaster areas by Gov. Rockefeller.

Cambridge Votes For First Since Race Flareup

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Cambridge elects a mayor and three city commissioners today in the first election since a Negro drive toward integration and the white reaction to it flared into open conflict.

The election provides an opportunity for the voters to decide what the official attitudes toward segregation will be, though the choices are limited.

The two candidates for mayor are Osvrey C. Pritchett, 62, a plumbing contractor, and S. Charles Walls Jr., 49, a salesman for a paper company.

Pritchett, is a member of the Dorchester Business and Citizens Association, the group which led a successful fight last year against a public accommodations amendment to the City Charter.

Pritchett blames the city's interracial troubles on "outside agitators." He says if he were mayor he would press for an ordinance to keep them beyond the city limits.

The Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee, which has led the integration drive in the city of 12,600 said it passed out handbills today which read: "Vote July 14. S. Charles Walls Jr. for mayor."

Parley Collapses

GENEVA (AP)—An 85-nation education conference called to combat illiteracy collapsed Monday in a dispute over Portugal's colonial policy.

Delegations from Africa, Asia and the Soviet bloc voted to expel Portugal from the meeting. All Latin-American and Western nations except Sweden and Finland walked out before the vote.

After the vote the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the International Bureau of Education, joint organizers of the meeting, declared the conference over.

Reds Plan 'Little Summit'

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A "little summit" conference is shaping up for the celebration next week of the 20th anniversary of Poland's Communist regime.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Monday night that Soviet Premier Khrushchev would attend. Warsaw newspapers announced today that President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Walter Ulbricht, Communist party chief of East Germany, also would come to Warsaw.

DeGaulle Leads Bastille Day

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, erect and looking fit, today led off the start of Bastille Day celebrations with a military review before thousands lining the Champs Elysees.

Celebrations commemorating the 175th anniversary of the storming of the Bastille—the Gallic version of America's Fourth of July—will continue into the night, with special theater presentations, fireworks and street dancing.

TWO HURT IN ESOPUS CRASH—Late model convertible in crash Sunday night came to rest part way up a tree at Esopus. Two young men were injured, one critically when the car went out of control as the driver was turning into a driveway. Troopers identified the injured as William Burger Jr., 20 of Park Lane, West Park, the operator, who is in fair condition at Kingston Hospital, and a passenger, Leonard Stevens, 23, also of West Park, who was listed in critical condition at the hospital. Trooper Robert Whalen of Highland sub-station investigated. Burger faces a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, troopers said.

Drive of Terror Starts on Reds In Mekong Delta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese government squads, generally operating in stealth at night, have begun a campaign of terror against Viet Cong officials in the Mekong River Delta.

Small teams of commandos, armed with exact intelligence and daggers, are moving into Viet Cong hamelts in critical provinces near Saigon, assassinating key Viet Cong leaders, and slipping away.

Officials say the idea is to fight the Viet Cong with Viet Cong tactics.

For years the Communists have terrorized rural government officials, often torturing and slaying their wives and children as well as the officials.

Depends on Information

"Everything depends on exact and rapid intelligence in penetrating the Viet Cong secret infrastructure," a U.S. adviser said.

"We're using a lot of new tactics, and some are paying off. One is the use of census teams in provinces we're trying to pacify.
